URGING THE PURCHASE OF AMERICAN-MADE GOODS

Mr. ROAN offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1933.

Whereas, Depreciated currencies and low wages in many foreign countries are permitting the flooding of this Commonwealth with foreign goods; and

Whereas, The importation of these goods in excessive quantities is extremely harmful to Pennsylvania industries, and seriously increases the difficulties of our citizens in finding remunerative labor therein; and

Whereas, The American Patriotic League has been organized as a non-sectarian, non-partisan, non-profit-seeking and patriotic corporation under the laws of this Commonwealth for the purpose of encouraging the purchase of goods in our own country, employing the services of citizens of our own country, and for other good and patriotic purposes; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives endorse this corporation, commend its purposes, and recommend the participation of the citizens of this Commonwealth in its activities and membership.

INFORMATION ON SALARIES REQUESTED FROM DEPARTMENT OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS

Mr. SURFACE offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1933.

Whereas, It will be most helpful to the members of the House in order to assist them in aiding the different municipalities within the State to effect the economies in their government that are now necessary, to have a comparative statement of the salaries paid to the officers and employees of such municipalities during the last decade; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs shall as soon as possible furnish to this House a Statement showing the salaries paid to officers and officials and employees of the various, counties, cities, boroughs, townships and school districts within the Commonwealth during the year, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, and the compensation received by the same officers, officials and employees during the year, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be furnished to the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs by the Chief Clerk of this House.

RESOLUTION No. 12

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time, Resolution No. 12, Printer's No. 18.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 23, 1933.

Whereas, Most of the persons receiving food vouchers in Pennsylvania are involuntarily unemployed and

Whereas, The food voucher system greatly restricts the freedom of purchase by

1. Compelling the receiver to buy all supplies from the same merchant even though some articles can be bought more cheaply elsewhere.

2. Preventing the purchase of fresh vegetables, fruits, eggs and dairy products directly from farmers.

3. Denying the unemployed the right to buy many incidentals and services which in particular cases are almost as necessary as food, and

Whereas, It is socially desirable to maintain the morale and self-respect of the unemployed by preserving their freedom, now therefore

Be it resolved (if the Senate concur), by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania that the Emergency Relief Board shall distribute unemployment relief in cash instead of food vouchers.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this resolution has been introduced at the request of the Taxpayers' Protective League of Berks County. They have written me a letter, which reads as follows:

TAXPAYERS PROTECTIVE LEAGUE,
628 Walnut St., Reading, Pa.

Reading, Pa., January 20, 1933.

Darlington Hoopes,
Representative in the General Assembly,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:

At a meeting of the Taxpayers Protective League the following motion was adopted:

"That the unemployed relief that is now paid for by Vouchers, shall be paid in cash for the following reasons:

1. Cash will enable more economical purchasing of food-stuffs.

2. It will be possible to purchase produce such as potatoes and other fresh vegetables in larger quantities.

3. It will somewhat help the farmer who is now excluded from this overgrowing market where he could dispose of his products.

4. There are many incidentals in which cash is required where the voucher system cannot be used.
5. The need is becoming so urgent that a change be made in the payment of this relief, that we request the Pennsylvania Legislature to take immediate action on this question until such time that a plan can be put in operation for more adequate relief."

Yours respectfully,
ARTHUR BUCKWALTER,
628 Walnut St.,
Reading, Pa.

This resolution largely speaks for itself

MOTION TO REFER RESOLUTION

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Unemployment Relief.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the motion is out of order at the present time. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, has the floor.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if I may be permitted to go ahead, despite the Chairman of the Rules Committee, who seems to object to my saying anything on this floor.

I wish to say that this resolution has been introduced at the request of an unemployment organization. They feel that the method of giving relief at the present time is unfair to them, and they are the ones that are experiencing it, and are certainly in the best position to know what it means.

As pointed out in this resolution, at the present time the unemployed receive a voucher and take that voucher to a merchant, and then are compelled to buy all the produce they get on that voucher from that particular merchant. Of course, the vouchers are not sufficiently large to permit them to lay aside the whole voucher until the next week, in order to get something somewhere else.

In many cities, such as Reading, the farmers bring in a lot of produce and sell it from door to door, but the unemployed cannot buy anything from those farmers, because they cannot get sugar and bread and various other commodities which they must have from them, and they have to buy all of their produce, groceries and supplies, from the merchant to whom they delivered their voucher. They feel that in many instances, in fact, they have cited to me on many occasions instances where other merchants or farmers were selling produce at a lower price than the particular merchant with whom they placed their voucher. They have to buy it at one place or another with the result that they cannot buy in the cheapest market, what was cheaper at one place might be higher at another, so that it was impossible for them to buy at the cheaper price under this voucher system. Also it denies them the right to buy various services, such as medical and doctor's services, medicines, and things of that sort, which on occasions may be fully as necessary as food. The voucher does not provide for those things.

I wish to call attention to a fact that is frequently ignored, that the unemployed are unemployed not through any fault of their own. They are out of work because society, as at present organized, cannot find a job for them. I say you should not penalize those who through no fault of their own are unable to find work, but are forced to take the relief which they are given in a form which denies them the freedom of purchase, denies them the right to buy many things which they find absolutely necessary. We should not put them in the same class with criminals or inmates of institutions, and restrict their freedom, because they have not done anything that justifies such a restriction being placed upon them. Their only crime is their inability to find work. They are willing and anxious to work in most cases, but they cannot get a job, and it is our contention that if society or the employees cannot find jobs for them, they should at least provide for them in a decent and adequate manner, without placing a lot of restrictions upon them which destroy their self respect, lower their moral, and make them feel that they are step-children, and that they are not wanted.

We want to put the unemployed on a self-respecting basis, the same as other citizens, and I feel that this resolution, which will give them their relief in cash may to a large measure help to do that, and that it will do away with the evils of the present system. Of course, they have a more fundamental protest against the proposal which is now being made for the commissary system, which would even be worse than the voucher system by restricting their freedom entirely.

I, therefore, ask this House to vote favorably upon this resolution, thereby show to the unemployed of Pennsylvania that we are concerned about their welfare, that we want to maintain their self-respect and their morale and that we do not want to put them in the class of unwanted citizens. I thank you.

RESOLUTION COMMITTED

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Unemployed Relief.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I raise the point of order that Resolution No. 12 contains matter that is properly legislation and that it cannot properly be included in a resolution and that therefore the resolution is out of order. It provides that the Relief Board shall distribute relief in cash. It commands the Emergency Relief Board, whose functions are covered by the law creating it to do certain things that cannot be commanded by means of a resolution, and which only can be covered by means of a bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the point of order is not well taken in that the resolution does not border on legislation, but rather suggests to the Emergency Relief Board a method of distribution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the Resolution?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to oppose this motion for the reason that we have been up here for five weeks—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is debating the question as to whether this resolution shall be sent to committee after the motion has been put.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I thought I was asking for the floor, and I was merely hesitating for the Speaker to give me a chance. I did it at the very first opportunity.

The SPEAKER: The point of order is not well taken in this case. The Chair did see the gentleman from Berks standing, but did not hear him address the Chair.

Mr. HOOPES. I did not ask the floor because the Speaker was talking and I did not think it was polite to interrupt him.

The SPEAKER. The Chair again recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I ask you to vote against this motion. We have been here for five weeks. We have not yet passed upon any questions—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKINS. Mr. Speaker, a motion to recommit is not debateable.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, it is not a motion to recommit, it is a motion to refer.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is not well taken, because a motion to recommit is debateable. The gentleman from Berks will proceed.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, it would seem that several members of this House are very anxious not to discuss the question of unemployment relief.

Now, members of the House, I ask you to vote against this motion. We have been up here five weeks—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, must confine his remarks to the motion that is before the House.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the members of this House to vote against this motion. I hope that on that question I may state my reasons for the request.

Those reasons are, first, we have been up here for five weeks, and this is the first measure we have had before us on the question of Unemployment Relief, which has come to a vote, and I think it is time that we should show our hand, and where we stand upon this question. I hope you will vote down this motion, and then put the question on the resolution itself, because after all the question of unemployment relief is one of the most important ones coming before this House at this time, and our constituents are entitled to know where we stand.

Second, we should not refer every resolution and bill that comes before us to a committee to consider the thing entirely, and thereby transfer our responsibility to that committee or at least try to do so. We won't be able to do it always, we shall have to face it sooner or later, and the sooner we do it the better,

I therefore ask the members of this House to vote against the motion to refer. I ask for a roll call.

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the request for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Hoopes and Mrs. Wilson and were as follows:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege for the purpose of making an announcement in behalf of the Committee on Education.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say to the members of the House, that the Committee on Education will have a meeting in the House Caucus Room this afternoon after the session, at five o'clock.

We have asked Dr. Rule and Mr. Rhoads, one of the Deputy Attorneys General, who have been giving attention to the school program, to appear there and go over, with the members of the Committee, the proposition which we have before us at this session, and we invite the members of the House who are interested in this proposition to meet with us.

This is one of the most serious problems that faces this Legislature. Whether the members of the House are interested or not their people at home are very vitally interested in the educational problem as it will be before this session. Dr. Rule and Mr. Rhoads are prepared to suggest to the Committee what changes and amendments are to be made in the School Code.

We invite, of course, the members of the Committee and we also invited the members of the House and Senate who are sufficiently interested in this question to meet with us and hear what is to be offered.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

130th of the General Assembly

Vol. 15

HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1933.

No. 14

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1933

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this beautiful world in which we live. We pray Thee in these times we may all see the value of the things which are not material, that even this depression may be a blessing to us in bringing us to a realization of how great the invisible and spiritual and eternal things are. Help us to see and to know by personal experience that all the things in our lives that are worth while are the things which are spiritual and eternal. Abide with the members of this Senate today. Grant that they may, as they go to their homes, go to homes in which invisible things dominate everything, that love and affection and kindness and goodness and mercy and truth may be in value far above all things which they have. We ask it with a blessing upon all of us, in Christ's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SONES, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BUCKMAN, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, the following resolution:

In the Senate, January 31, 1933.

Whereas, Senate Bill No. 60 of the present session of the General Assembly provides for a reduction in the salary of all judges learned in the law; and

Whereas, Said bill has passed the Senate, and has been transmitted to the House of Representatives for concurrence; and

Whereas, There is doubt whether the reductions in salaries carried in said bill can legally be made applicable to any judge now in commission; and

Whereas, The conditions of unemployment and financial distress make it extremely difficult to raise sufficient revenue without new taxation to conduct the business of the Commonwealth during the next fiscal biennium, and economy becomes absolutely necessary in all branches of government; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That it is the sense of the General Assembly that if Senate Bill No. 60 becomes a law, all judges now in commission should voluntarily agree to accept a reduction in their present salaries, equal to the reductions provided in Senate Bill No. 60, and that those so agreeing cause requisitions to be drawn on the Auditor General for salaries carrying such reductions;

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be directed, upon the final enactment of Senate Bill No. 60, to mail a certified copy thereof, together with a copy of this resolution, to all judges learned in the law in this Commonwealth, and that said judges be respectfully requested to reply to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, stating whether such reduction will or will not be voluntarily accepted in order that the Legislature may ascertain the amount of money which can be saved during the present and the next fiscal biennium.

Which was laid on the table.

Also from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, the following resolution:

In the Senate, January 31, 1933.

Whereas, Prevailing conditions of unemployment and economic distress have reduced the current revenues of the Commonwealth, and at the same time have made unprecedented demands upon the resources of the Commonwealth for the support of the unfortunate; and

Whereas, The strictest economy in every branch of the State Government is imperative; and

Whereas, It is doubtful whether the salaries of those Members of the General Assembly now in office can be legally reduced; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the present session of the General Assembly be urged to voluntarily accept a reduction of fifteen per centum (15%) in their salaries for the present session, and in order that the General Assembly may ascertain the amount of money which can be saved by such reduction, the Senators agreeing to such reduction be requested to notify in writing the Secretary of the Senate, and Members of the House of Representatives, be requested to notify in writing the Chief Clerk of the House, and in said communication authorize all future requisition on account of salaries for the present session to be drawn at the reduced rates as provided in this resolution.

Which was laid on the table.

The Chaplain, Rev. George F. Conner, offered the following prayer:

O Thou Eternal God, Ruler of the universe and Father of mankind, we beheld Thy glory in the heavens this morning, may we feel Thy presence in our hearts throughout this day. Thou didst safeguard us through the night, guide us through the day. Give us grace sufficient for all our trials, and wisdom for all our taxing problems. Hold us steady, to lofty ideals and high motives, under the pressure and urgency of tremendous issues. Help us to think clearly, and work enthusiastically and fearlessly for the welfare of others.

Dear Lord, give to our Speaker and his coadjutors a fine sense of justice, may they ever be conscious of their responsibility to Thee, and the common weal. Help them ever to be true representatives of our great Commonwealth in theory and in practice.

We seek Divine guidance, that the reforms and laws here enacted may adapt our government to modern civilization, and our laws to conformity with the present needs of our people, as the bark of a growing tree expands with the swelling trunk. So may it be. Amen.

REPORT FROM DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS ON TOLL BRIDGES

The SPEAKER laid before the House the report of the Department of Highways pursuant to concurrent resolution adopted at the session of 1931 directing survey on toll bridges, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Department of Highways, Harrisburg, January 30, 1933.

To the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I transmit herewith a report pursuant to your concurrent resolution adopted at the Session of 1931 directing the Department of Highways to make a survey of the various toll bridges on State highways, including those wholly and partially within the limits of cities on the natural route of a State highway entering a city, and ascertain the approximate cost of the public acquisition of the same.

S. S. LEWIS,
Secretary of Highways.

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS

Report of Survey
Covering Existing Toll Bridges on State Highways, etc.,
and

Approximate Cost of Their Public Acquisition

The survey made by the Department of Highways covering toll bridges on State highways, including those wholly and partially within the limits of cities on the natural route of a State highway entering a city, indicates there are nine (9) toll bridges which can properly be included as being on or between State highways or partially within the limits of cities on the natural route of a State highway entering a city.

The names and addresses of the companies owning and operating the structures as well as the names and addresses of the officers of the companies have been taken from the last reports filed with the Public Service Commission.

The figures relating to the cost of public acquisition represent replacement values or the cost of building an entirely separate structure where acquisition of the existing structure is impracticable or impossible. Familiarity with the work of the State Bridge Commission has led to the conclusion that the logical method to acquire public ownership of privately owned toll bridges is by condemnation proceedings, and inasmuch as the amount of the award which might be made in condemnation proceedings is problematical, it is felt that the values given represent the only values which could be estimated by the Department of Highways.

Each of the nine (9) toll bridges covered by this report will be dealt with separately herein.

CLARKS FERRY TOLL BRIDGE

This structure is owned and operated by the Clarks Ferry Bridge Company, Duncannon, Pennsylvania. The names and addresses of the officers of the company are as follows:

President—C. W. Lynch, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Secretary—John Wills, Duncannon, Pennsylvania.

Treasurer—P. F. Duncan, Duncannon, Pennsylvania.

Location of structure: Over Susquehanna River, between Route 1, Clarks Ferry Station, Dauphin County, and Route 195, Dauphin County.

The bridge is a modern all-reinforced concrete arch structure, erected in 1924, with a roadway 20 feet wide between curbs and a sidewalk 3 feet 9 inches wide on the upstream side. It has an overall length of approximately 2,460 feet including in addition to the approaches 3 spans, 141 feet center to center of piers, 5 spans 136 feet 6 inches center to center of piers, and a span at each end, 132 feet from the face of the abutment to the center of the pier.

Auxiliary structures: Combination administration building and toll collection shelter on one side of the roadway at the north approach to the structure. Both buildings are stucco with tile roof.

In the complaint of Herring, et al v. Clarks Ferry Bridge Company, 8 P. S. C. 61, the Public Service Commission on June 9, 1926, issued its report and order fixing the fair value of the company's property at $767,800. The order required that toll rates of 25 cents for ordinary automobiles be reduced to produce a gross revenue not exceeding $85,905 a year.

On April 22, 1929, the Commercial and Industrial League of Harrisburg, Incorporated, filed a complaint alleging that the rates established were exorbitant and unnecessarily burdensome and in violation of the finding and order of the Commission made in 1926. Two successive tariffs were then filed by the company making reduction in tolls, but the Commission found that notwithstanding them the record showed a gross revenue of approximately $137,000 for 1931.

Considering the evidence submitted by the Commercial and Industrial League of Harrisburg, Incorporated, as wholly insufficient as a basis to determine a reasonable rate, the Commission instituted an investigation on its own motion. (P. S. C. v. Clarks Ferry Bridge Company, Complaint Docket No. 8219).

The report of the Commission in the last case, filed under date of February 2, 1933, found that the fair value of the property of Clarks Ferry Bridge Company was still $767,800. The order filed the same date directed the company to file a new tariff calculated to produce an annual gross revenue of not more than $84,125.

PRESENT DAY APPROXIMATE REPLACEMENT COSTS

SUNBURY-SHAMOKIN DAM BRIDGE

This structure is owned and operated by The Sunbury Bridge Company, Newberry Building, Sunbury, Pennsylvania. The names and addresses of the officers of the company are as follows:

President—J. Harris Lenker, Sunbury, Pennsylvania.

Secretary-Treasurer—William H. Greenough, Sunbury, Pennsylvania.

Location of Structure: Over Susquehanna River, between Sunbury, Northumberland County, and Shamokin Dam, Snyder County, on State Highway Route 25.

The bridge consists of 28 steel plate girder spans, each 87 feet 3 inches long with a clear roadway of 20 feet between curbs, a 5½-foot sidewalk supported on brackets on the outside of the down-stream girders and a trolley track supported on brackets on the outside of the upstream girders.

The abutments and 13 piers are stone masonry, and the remaining 14 piers are concrete. The present superstructure and the concrete piers were erected in 1928-1929. The stone masonry abutments and piers were in place under the previous truss spans and only slight changes were made as required to receive the new superstructure. Physically the entire structure is in good condition.

The contract awarded in 1928 included the removal of the iron superstructure, and one of the masonry piers, the erection of 14 new piers of concrete and the placing of an all new steel plate girder superstructure. Afterwards it was found necessary to underpin the old masonry piers which were to remain and be utilized in the new structure. The original contract did not provide for a toll house nor for work on the approaches and these items were taken care of as extras.

The estimated value of the structure in 1930 forms a good basis for fixing present day replacement value. Inasmuch as this figure was more easily obtained on account of the recent contract for the widening and strengthening of the structure, it is given instead of the replacement value.

ESTIMATED COST VALUE OF STRUCTURE IN 1930

Bridge (George Rockwell contract)	$414,600.00
Extra work on approaches	2,000.00
Toll house	2,585.00
Underpinning old piers	6,500.00
Miscellaneous work	2,500.00
Engineering	21,284.00
Interest during construction	13,484.00
Financing	9,259.00
Value of portion of old bridge substructure retained as part of new structure	101,800.00
Land and real estate	2,850.00
Easement agreements with Manor Realty Company	450.00
Promotion, organization, administration, incorporation and legal expenses	14,188.00
Total	$591,500.00

The Department of Highways estimates the present day replacement cost to be approximately $523,000.00.

POINT MARION TOLL BRIDGE

This structure is owned and operated by the Point Marion Bridge Company, Point Marion, Pennsylvania. The name and addresses of the officers of the company are as follows:

President—Frank L. Bowers, Point Marion, Pennsylvania.

Secretary—M. Lee Titus, Point Marion, Pennsylvania.

Treasurer—Frank M. Gans, Point Marion, Pennsylvania.

Location of structure: Over the Monongahela River, between Point Marion, Fayette County, on State Highway Route 116, and the intersection of Routes 451 and 30043, Greene County.

This structure consists of a 464-foot cantilever span with 138-foot anchor arms and one 35-foot "I" beam span at each end. The overall length including approaches is 1,539½ feet and the width of roadway is 20 feet between curbs with a 4-foot sidewalk on each side.

Auxiliary structure: Small frame toll house located in center of each approach.

The cost of erecting this structure in 1930 was approximately $286,558.00, made up as follows. The figures form a good basis for determining present day replacement values:

ESTIMATED COST VALUE OF STRUCTURE IN 1930

Superstructure	$147,365.00
Approaches	38,120.00
Lighting system, complete	1,675.00
Toll house, complete	300.00
Incorporation, organization, administration and legal expenses	5,000.00

Engineering	12,448.00
Cost of financing	4,980.00
Interest during construction	7,470.00
Miscellaneous expenses	2,500.00
Land and real estate	5,000.00
Connection to gas mains	200.00
	$286,558.00

FOXBURG TOLL BRIDGE

This toll bridge is a portion of a long viaduct owned by the Pittsburgh and Western Railroad Company, a subsidiary of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. The portion of the viaduct crossing the river consists of three (3) double-deck steel truss spans, each 173 feet 6 inches center to center of end piers. The upper deck of these truss spans carries a single railroad track over which the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad operates, and the lower deck carries a plank roadway 14 feet in width for vehicular traffic.

The company owning the structure is the Bridge Company of Foxburg, Baltimore and Ohio Building, Baltimore, Maryland. The names and addresses of the officers of this company are as follows:

President—Daniel Willard, Baltimore, Maryland.

Secretary—G. F. May, Baltimore, Maryland.

Treasurer—E. M. Devereaux, Baltimore, Maryland.

Location of structure: Over the Allegheny River between Hovey Township, Armstrong County, and Borough of Foxburg, Clarion County, on State Highway Route 251.

Under date of July 10, 1925, the counties of Armstrong and Clarion entered into agreement with The Bridge Company of Foxburg, leasing the first deck of this bridge for a term of ten (10) years. By supplemental agreement, dated July 10, 1925, the starting of the ten (10) year term was fixed as April 1, 1926. The rental for the ten (10) year term was fixed at $25,000 payable in equal semi-annual installments of $1,250 each.

The counties do not charge toll at this time, but it is respectfully submitted that The Bridge Company of Foxburg may again institute the collection of tolls upon termination of the agreement. It is further submitted that public funds are being expended to keep the bridge free from the collection of toll charges from the traveling public. These funds are going to a private enterprise and the structure is, in effect, a toll bridge.

The public acquisition of this structure is impracticable, if not impossible. It is highly improbable the railroad company would relinquish ownership of the lower deck as long as railroad traffic uses the upper deck. The very narrow roadway on the lower deck makes the bridge further undesirable, and if the public is to have a structure at this point, the logical method to accomplish it would be by constructing a new bridge in the approximate vicinity. A slight relocation of the highway would permit such action.

The Department of Highways estimates that the cost of a new highway bridge would be approximately as follows:

Bridge	$373,025.00
Approaches	18,000.00
Toll House and Miscellaneous items	8,000.00
Engineering	19,975.00
Interest during construction	11,985.00
Financing	8,600.00
Organization, administration and legal expenses.....	5,000.00
Land and real estate	8,441.00
Lighting	4,500.00
Total	$458,000.00

Since a new bridge would provide an overhead crossing over the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the present crossing of the tracks at grade would be eliminated, it is reasonable to expect that the railroad company would contribute toward the cost of a new bridge or be assessed by the Public Service Commission an amount equal to the cost of that portion of the structure spanning its tracks which would be in the neighborhood of $38,000.00.

WEST HICKORY TOLL BRIDGE

This toll bridge is owned and operated by The Hickory Bridge Company, Endeavor, Pennsylvania. The names of the officers of the company and their addresses are as follows:

President—N. P. Wheeler, Jr., Endeavor, Pennsylvania.

Secretary—W. O. Fullhart, Endeavor, Pennsylvania.

Treasurer—G. H. Warden, Endeavor, Pennsylvania.

Location of Structure: Over Allegheny River, between Townships of Harmony and Hickory, near Village of West Hickory, in Forest County, on State Highway Route 598.

The Department of Highways is informed that the Hickory Bridge Company is a subsidiary of the Hickory Valley Railroad Company, which is owned by the Wheeler and Dusenberry Lumber Company.

This structure consists of four (4) through, pin connected, steel Pratt truss spans, each 157 feet 8 inches center to center of bearings, and all-timber trestle of 29 spans, averaging about 16 feet center to center of bents. The Hickory Valley Railroad operates a single track over the steel spans and 12 of the trestle spans.

The Hickory Bridge Company will not enter into negotiations for the public acquisition of the bridge as long as the lumber company operates or will at least insist on retention of railroad rights on the structure. This makes the bridge undesirable from a standpoint of public acquisition. It is further undesirable from this standpoint because of the narrow roadway and the high maintenance expense for the 450 feet of timber trestle. For these reasons the Department of Highways is of the opinion that a new and separate highway bridge should be constructed and has not attempted to place any value on the structure of the Hickory Bridge Company.

A new highway bridge consisting of eight (8) 45-foot reinforced concrete spans, two (2) 168-foot steel truss spans, and one (1) 314-foot steel truss span, with earth fill approaches paved with bituminous macadam, will cost approximately $182,185.00, divided as follows:

Bridge	$148,990.00
Approaches	2,937.00
Toll house and miscellaneous items	5,000.00
Engineering	7,850.00
Interest during construction	4,708.00
Financing	5,200.00
Organization, administration and legal expenses ..	3,500.00
Land and real estate	2,000.00

COLUMBIA-WRIGHTSVILLE TOLL BRIDGE

This bridge is owned and operated by the counties of Lancaster and York under the provisions of the Act of May 9, 1929, (P. L. 1653).

Location of Structure: Crossing Susquehanna River between Wrightsville, York County, and Columbia, Lancaster County, on Route 128 (Lincoln Highway).

The structure was erected in 1929-1930. The total overall length, including approaches is approximately 7,100 feet, with a clear roadway width of 38 feet between curbs providing four (4) 9½-foot traffic lanes, and one (1) 6-foot sidewalk. At the Columbia end are thirteen (13) reinforced concrete girder spans; 8 of these spans each have a clear length of 47 feet 9 inches between piers and the remaining five (5) are each 45 feet 6 inches clear between piers. Between these two groups is a 75-foot clear span steel plate girder over the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The main river crossing consists of twenty-eight (28) reinforced concrete arch spans of 185 feet clear span each. At the Wrightsville end are five (5) reinforced concrete girder spans each 45 feet 6 inches clear between piers. Between these flat concrete spans and the tracks over the river is an 80-foot clear span steel plate girder over the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Section 5 of the Act of 1929, under the provisions of which the bridge was constructed and is being operated, reads as follows:

Said powers and duties of said commission, acting as a joint commission, shall continue until the redemption of the last of said bonds to be redeemed by such tolls, whereupon said bridge shall be turned over as a free bridge to the Commonwealth if such bridge crosses a river and is located on a State Highway Route, or connects two State Highway Routes; thereafter such bridge shall be maintained by the Highway Department at the expense of the Commonwealth.

It is respectfully submitted that the Commonwealth could not acquire this bridge until the Act of 1929 was amended to make provisions for redemption of the bonds issued by York and Lancaster Counties for construction of the bridge. It is further submitted that the structure is now a publicly owned bridge and upon payment of the bonds issued for its construction, the collection of tolls will cease. The self liquidation to be accomplished by the collection of tolls provides a feasible plan for the acquisition of this structure by the Commonwealth as provided in the Act. It is self-evident, therefore, that the inclusion of cost figures would be superfluous.

MARKET STREET BRIDGE (Harrisburg)

The structure is owned and operated by the Harrisburg Bridge Company, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. The names and addresses of the officers of the company are as follows:

President—R. C. Haldeman, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Secretary-Treasurer—J. D. Spong, Payne-Shoemaker Building, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Location of Structure: Over the Susquehanna River between Routes 30, 34, 123 and 250 Cumberland County, and Front and Market Streets, Harrisburg, Dauphin County.

This structure has a total over all length of about 4,000 feet including approaches. A large island approximately in the center of the river divides the structure into two parts.

The east channel crossing consists of 16 reinforced concrete arch spans of the filled spandrel type, each 88 feet 6 inches center to center of piers, faced with sandstones and providing a clear roadway width of 40 feet between curbs, with a sidewalk 5 feet 9 inches wide on each side. This channel crossing was erected in 1926-1928 at which time the piers under the west channel spans were extended 23 feet on the down stream end and the old plate girder spans then crossing the east channel were moved to the west channel and placed on the pier extension alongside the then existing west channel plate girder spans. The arches were designed for two lines of 50-ton trolley cars in the center of the roadway and a single line of 20-ton trucks on either side next the curbs, and with the sidewalks fully loaded. These spans are in very good condition.

The west channel crossing consists of two parallel lines of steel plate girder spans each providing a clear roadway 18 feet in width and each carrying a 7-foot sidewalk supported on brackets on the outside of the outer girders. There are 16 spans each 89 feet 2 inches center to center of piers. They were originally erected in 1902, the steel being fabricated by the Pennsylvania Steel Company.

Auxiliary Structures: Three (3) concrete or stucco shelters for toll collectors are located on the Island between the two channel crossings. They are so located that toll can be collected from two lines of traffic coming in each direction. At or near the toll house ramps have been constructed to take care of traffic which is going to or coming from the Island.

The Department of Highways is of the opinion that any value placed on this structure would have to take into consideration the depreciated value of the plate girder superstructures over the west channel. The value of this portion of the structure would be low because of its low carrying capacity, the narrow roadway and the high annual maintenance expense.

The value of the crossing over the west channel when considered in connection with the value of the entire bridge structure is out of proportion with the value of the crossing over the east channel, which is of modern construction and in very good condition.

If the entire structure were replaced at this time, undoubtedly the crossing over the west channel would be of a more modern and adequate type of construction.

In view of the foregoing, the fixing of any replacement value on this structure, including both the portion over the east and west channels would involve matters of intricate detail which could not be secured by the Department of Highways without extensive and costly investigation. However, it is felt that the replacement of the structure as it now exists would cost approximately $2,000,000 and this figure is estimated by the Department of Highways without prejudice to its right to re-estimate the value at such time as it will be in a position to make its estimate on information which is not now available.

WALNUT STREET BRIDGE (Harrisburg)

This structure is owned and operated by the Peoples Bridge Company, 117 Liberty Street, New York, New York. The names and addresses of the officers of the company are as follows:

President—Theo. W. Stemmler, 52 William Street, New York, New York.

Treasurer-General-Manager—Percy Ingalls, 117 Liberty Street, New York, New York.

Secretary—C. B. Sparger, 117 Liberty Street, New York, New York.

Location of Structure: Over the Susquehanna River between Routes 30, 34, 123 and 250 Cumberland County, and Front and Walnut Streets, Harrisburg, Dauphin County.

This bridge consists of two groups of through truss spans separated by an island. The east channel is bridged by 3 spans of 236 feet by 11½ inches each, and 4 spans of 172 feet 8½ inches each. The west channel is bridged by 8 spans of 172 feet 8½ inches each. The total length, including the bridges and the island crossing is about 3,880 feet, of which about 2,800 feet is bridge proper.

The structure provides a clear roadway of 18 feet with a single trolley track on the north or upstream side. The Valley Railway Company, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, operates interurban trolley cars over this track. There is a 5-foot sidewalk on each side of the bridge carried on brackets on the outside of the trusses.

Excepting the two steel "I" beam stringers immediately under the trolley rails, the metal of this structure is wrought iron. It was erected in 1889-90 and at the present time is not modern from the standpoint of type not materials. The Department of Highways is of the opinion that the superstructure has no value except as scrap metal.

The structure is now posted for a load limit of 9 tons and to make it safe for the legal load of 13 tons on four wheels, expensive repairs should be made.

Any valuation fixed for this structure would have to take into consideration these repairs which the Department of Highways deems necessary because the structure in addition to carrying trolley cars also carries the bulk of heavy truck traffic between Harrisburg and the West Shore.

Auxiliary Structures: A brick toll collector's shelter is located on the island between the structures over the east and the west channel, and a frame shelter is located at the Harrisburg end of the structure.

The replacement cost today of this structure as it now exists would be approximately as follows:

Bridge Superstructure	$99,500.00
Bridge Substructure	88,100.00
Approaches and Island Road	80,400.00
Toll Houses	4,000.00
Engineering, etc.	27,000.00
Interest during construction	18,000.00
Legal Expenses and Organization	12,000.00
Land	20,000.00
Lighting	5,000.00
Total	$354,000.00

Your attention is respectfully called to Ordinance No. 1071 of the City of Harrisburg, adopted by the Common Council on March 16, 1889, of which Section 4 reads as follows: "And be it further provided, That if at any time the stockholders of said Bridge Company wish to sell the franchise of said company, then the said management of the Bridge Company shall so notify the Council of Councils of the City of Harrisburg that they, the City of Harrisburg, may have the preference to purchase the said franchise at a fair valuation. Said valuation to be made by appraisalment and the appraiser to be appointed by the Court of Dauphin County."

EIGHTH STREET BRIDGE (Allentown)

This structure is owned and operated by the Allentown Bridge Company, Fourteenth and Gordon streets, Allentown, Pennsylvania. The names and addresses of the officers of the company are as follows:

President—P. B. Sawyer, New York, New York.

Secretary-Treasurer—Charles N. Wagner, Allentown, Pennsylvania.

Location of structure: Over the Little Lehigh River and the tracks of the Lehigh Valley and Reading Railroads in the City of Allentown, between Union and Lehigh streets on the natural route of State Highway Routes 153-158, entering the City of Allentown.

The Lehigh Valley Transit Company controls the bridge through ownership of all capital stock. This company has two tracks on the structure over which they operate highspeed interurban electric cars.

Auxiliary structures: A frame toll house with stucco exterior is located about 260 feet from the north end of the structure. It is supported on cantilever construction at the east end of one of the bridge piers.

The entire structure is approximately 2,595 feet long and consists of nine 120-foot concrete arch spans, eight 52½-foot reinforced concrete "T" beam spans with the bottoms of the beams curved to resemble arches, about 645 feet of earth fill approach on the south end and about 120 feet of earth fill approach confined within stone masonry retaining walls on the north end.

The structure was erected in 1912 and is in fairly good physical condition, but necessary repairs are estimated to cost approximately $50,000.

From the north end to the toll house the roadway is 28 feet clear width between curbs and there is a 6-foot sidewalk on the east side only. From the toll house to the south end there is a 6-foot sidewalk on each side and the roadway is 32 feet clear width between curbs.

The City of Allentown granted the bridge company the right to occupy Eighth Street by an ordinance, passed on November 28, 1911. One paragraph of this ordinance reads as follows: "The Bridge Company agrees that when the total gross receipts from operation of the bridge equal the cost of the bridge plus maintenance and interest on the investment, the Bridge Company will turn the bridge over to the City of Allentown free of any expense to the City, and the bridge company agrees to allow full inspection of its books by the city controller." On December 1, 1911, the Mayor in approving this ordinance stipulated that he did so upon three conditions which were (1) that the rates of toll should not exceed certain amounts; (2) that the bridge overall should be at least 38 feet wide, and (3) that the City of Allentown be allowed to lay and maintain such water mains not exceeding 12 inches in diameter as it may deem necessary on and across the structure free of rental, provided that the mains be laid at the time of erection of the bridge. The city, however, did not avail itself of the right to lay water mains and there are no water lines on the structure excepting on the south approach where mains were laid at a later date and under another agreement.

Part of the land occupied by this structure was purchased outright, part was secured by obtaining releases from the owners, part was obtained by franchise and part was secured through condemnation proceedings. While the land occupied by the south approach was secured by condemnation, there is an agreement whereby the adjoining property holders are allowed ingress and egress without the payment of tolls. These property holders, however, are obliged to pay for the installing of water and gas mains and house connections, and to build and maintain the sidewalk in front of their properties as well as the roadway paving up to the near rail of the first trolley track.

The present cost of replacing this bridge would be approximately as follows:

SENATE

MONDAY, February 6, 1933.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Our Gracious Heavenly Father, we confess that we have strayed far from the path of our fathers and from our Father's house. Like prodigals we have strayed from the pathway of the noble men and women who came into this unbroken wilderness of forests and mountains to build homes, and we have forsaken their ideals and their institutions. We pray Thee that Thou wouldst let us come back to the good old creeds, the good old faith, for life's various needs, to the simpler dream, to the simpler plan. The plain friend makes the happy man. And may we realize that if we are to have prosperity come back it must come back on the foundation of personal faith and trust in Thee and in each other. Bless this Senate tonight and guide it in all of its deliberations. We ask in Thy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO COMMUNITY MARKETS

Mr. GRAFF offered the following resolution, which was twice read, and referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

In the Senate, February 6, 1933.

Whereas, The State Emergency Relief Board is about to establish community markets throughout the State of Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, Grave and serious objections are being made very generally to that form of relief, for the following reasons:

1. That a community market will cause all those, who by reason of conditions over which they have no control, to go to the community market for their relief and to thus be known as receiving relief, to the grave injury of their feelings and to their great humiliation.

2. That it has never been, nor is it now, the sense of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that those upon whom the great misfortune of having to seek public relief has fallen, shall be put upon exhibition in any manner or form.

3. That at the present it is a very doubtful and dangerous experiment at a time when neither doubtful nor dangerous experiments should be made, there being no proof sufficient to convince the general public that the establishment of said community markets would be otherwise than harmful.

4. That it is very generally believed that community markets will injuriously affect all business by taking the purchase of relief goods from merchants.

5. That the businessmen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have, during the present depression, extended great amounts of credit and are still extending great amounts of credit, to persons who are in need, and should not be deprived of the funds paid out by the State or Nation for the purchase of relief goods.

6. That there is no sufficient proof that any substantial sums of money could be saved by community markets, nor that they will prove less costly, nor that they can be operated satisfactorily.

7. That great volunteer organizations have been and are now and will continue to furnish every type of aid, not only that which the State furnishes, but that which they gather up locally in the way of food, clothing, medical services and many other things. They have established systems throughout the entire Commonwealth for so doing and are entirely familiar with local conditions in their communities, and are successfully distributing aid.

8. That the relief organizations now in existence, knowing the individuals to whom aid is given, are the best judges that can be had of what should be furnished, and can, therefore, provide for the individual needs to greater advantage than can any plan if based upon a standard package.

That there are many additional reasons not to make any change in the present system, which reasons are apparent, and;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby call upon His Excellency Honorable Gifford Pinchot, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the Members of the State Emergency Relief Board, to cease establishing community markets, and close those already established, and furnish the necessary aid through the already established organizations.

RESOLUTION

Mr. REED offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

In the Senate, February 6, 1933.

Whereas, His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, not content with maintaining for his own political aggrandizement at public expense a costly "Publicity Bureau" in the Governor's office will further tax his unusual physical strength and multiple mental endowments by making himself into a legislative correspondent, and

Whereas, "The Public Ledger" of Philadelphia has added the Governor to its official staff of legislative correspondents, by stating on Wednesday, January 25th, when printing the first instalment of His Excellency, the Governor, that it was "the first of a series of articles written by Governor Pinchot" and that "They will appear each Wednesday during the present session of the Legislature," and

Whereas, In his first article as a legislative correspondent, the Governor says: "Back in the time of Rehoboam, the Israelite King, the people killed a tax collector. Nowadays they don't go quite so far, although they'd probably like to," and

Whereas, The Governor further said: "The angry citizens who killed Rehoboam's tax collector finally got rid of Rehoboam too. He had threatened to scourge them with scorpions. He figured he could do that just because he was king." "After that he did not last so very long," and

Whereas, Governor Pinchot indicates a distressing lack of knowledge of "Holy Writ" in failing to recognize that King Rehoboam was an absolute monarch, with the constitutional right to impose grievous taxes, and that it was the centralization of power in King Rehoboam which resulted in the killing of the tax collector, whereas a tax collector in Pennsylvania is in no danger of a "killing" when acting under warrant of law, but the Governor of Pennsylvania stands in danger of a political "killing" if he insists upon a further centralization of authority in the Chief Executive, making his power equal to that of King Rehoboam, and

Whereas, To understand the "Bible Story" fully, the Governor should read the twelfth chapter of the "First Book of Kings," wherein it is stated that "Jeroboam and all the congregation of Israel came, and spake unto Rehoboam saying 'Thy father made our yoke grievous: now therefore make thou the grievous service of thy father, and his heavy yoke which he put upon us, lighter, and we will serve thee.' And the young men that were grown up with him spake unto him saying, 'Thus shalt thou speak unto this people that spake unto thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it lighter unto us; thus shall thou say unto them, My little finger shall be thicker than my father's loins. And now whereas my father did lade you with a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke: my father hath chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.'" (verses 10 and 11), and

Whereas, In presenting a Budget, reckless and extravagant the Governor has forsaken "the old men's counsel that they give him" (verse 13) and he has spoken "to them after the counsel of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to your yoke; my father also chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions" (verse 14), and

Whereas, Governor Pinchot, like King Rehoboam, "has hearkened not unto the people," in that he attempts to destroy local self government and raise the autocratic power of the Chief Executive to the zenith of monarchical splendor (verse 15).

Resolved First, That the present crisis in Pennsylvania demands that the Senate of Pennsylvania edit, amend, rewrite and republish the immortal words of Patrick Henry, as delivered in the Virginia House of Burgesses to read as follows: "Rehoboam had his Jeroboam; Caesar, [had] his Brutus; Charles the First, his Cromwell; [and] George the Third, his George Washington; Jefferson Davis, his Abraham Lincoln; and Governor Pinchot may profit by their example. If this be treason, make the most of it."

Resolved Second, That Governor Pinchot be advised out of the $371,000.00 appropriation which he requests for the Governor's Office, to purchase at least one copy of "The Holy Bible," for his future guidance as a legislative correspondent to the "Philadelphia Public Ledger."

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Canals and Inland Navigation.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, we seem to be passing bills here 49 to 1, with about four or five people voting. I desire to call the attention of the Senate to this particular bill now under consideration, in order that they cannot say they did not know what was in it.

This bill creates almost any number of new jobs. If we understand the atmosphere here at Harrisburg, and in the State generally, we came here to do away with jobs and not create new ones. I will just read one clause of this bill: "The Executive Board shall elect a secretary who shall receive a salary of six thousand dollars per annum. The Board shall also appoint such clerks, statisticians and other assistants as may be deemed necessary and fix their compensation."

Mr. President, I am not going to discuss the merits and demerits of this bill except to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that instead of it being an economy measure it is anything but that, and I hope that the Senators will, at least, when their names are called, take the trouble to answer one way or the other. I think that these bills are all important now, and that the Senators should answer to their names when the roll is called, and if they are for it vote for it, and if against it vote "no."

And I want to call your attention, as I did last week, to the fact that we should not create any new jobs at this session of the Legislature.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I feel that an explanation is needed, in view of the statement from the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman. The design of this bill is not to create new jobs. It creates one new position—that of secretary to the Executive Board. I think that after reflection any Senator, every Senator, will agree that this is a position of the highest importance. The duties and the functions of the Executive Board are fixed by the Administrative Code, and this bill does not change in any way the functions or duties of that Board. Those functions are, briefly speaking, to fix the salaries of employees of the State Government, to fix the number of employees in various departments of government, and to classify, under the provisions of the Code, the work of the various departments.

The purpose of this bill is to decrease jobs. There are entirely too many unnecessary jobs on Capitol Hill, and there is no one in the Senate of Pennsylvania who is more firmly convinced that what we imperatively need is to reduce salaries and do away with unnecessary jobs than is the Senator from Dauphin.

We have created one new position, because that Board should have a man of vast experience in State government, a man who is acquainted with the various departments of government. He should be a man of the highest ability and calibre; and to fix a low salary would simply be to secure a man not adequate for this important position.

This bill is introduced with the thought that the Republican party, the party which has been placed in power by the people of Pennsylvania, should govern Pennsylvania. It is with that intention, and in order that the Republican party, committed as it is to economy in government and efficiency in government, may properly function; and I predict that the result of this bill, if it becomes law, will be exactly contrary to the prophecy of the Senator from Bucks. It will be to secure efficiency and economy in government in Pennsylvania.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally? .

HON. C. J. GOODNOUGH INTRODUCED TO HOUSE

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Goodnough, a former Speaker of this House, and invites him to the rostrum.

ADDRESS OF HON. C. J. GOODNOUGH

MR. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, and my very dear friends of the House, I am flabbergasted at this courtesy of your Speaker in every sense of the word, that is assuming that the word has any sense; if not, then I am overwhelmed at the courtesy shown me. I know that few men who are not members of this House have been permitted to speak in this forum and from this platform, and so I am very sensible of your courtesy.

I have spent many anxious and tense moments right here, I have also spent many happy moments here, so that taken by and large the time spent here has been large in the calendar of the events of my life.

It is a great responsibility and a great privilege to be a member of this session of the General Assembly. Questions graver, of more serious import, face you than have faced any session in a generation, perhaps in all the history of the Commonwealth. These are parlous days that we have passed through and are now passing through, days that to many of us seem like Pandora's box: All is lost save hope, but Pope tells us that "Hope springs eternal in the human breast," and because that is so we are looking forward to a brighter and better day, a day when all things that are mean and sordid and vile shall have passed away, and it is your great privilege to build a new structure, fashioned in the beauty of service and resting on the sure foundations of justice and righteousness.

I want to thank you for the privilege of standing for a few minutes at this old desk, and in the liquid melody of old Dimitri may I say "Adios"?

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 7, 1933

The Senate met at 11.00 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the light and promise of this day, and we pray Thee that we may learn the lesson Thou wouldst teach us by the snow and the storms and the cold of this winter time,—that we may see in it all the promise of springtime and of summer. May we learn the same lesson with regard to our own lives; in our hardships and the suffering and pain and sorrow may we always go on as good soldiers, looking for the springtime of life that will come to us again even as it does to this world. And so may this great land of ours today, in this time of trying out, look forward to the day when the victory will come for everything which is right and honest and true.

Bless the Senate and all of the officers today. Be with us always, help us always to go forward with our faces to the light. We ask in Christ's name. Amen.

RESOLUTION

PROTESTING ESTABLISHMENT OF COMMISSARIES

Mr. MARCKS offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1933.

Whereas, The establishment of State commissaries throughout the Commonwealth for the furnishing of relief to the unemployed has met with the protest of the citizens of those communities in which they have been established; and

Whereas, The State Emergency Relief Board proposes to establish a commissary in the Lehigh County district in opposition to the wishes of a vast majority of the residents of such district; and

Whereas, The establishment of such a commissary would mean bankruptcy and ruin to a large number of the merchants thereof because of the withdrawal of the profits due to them by reason of their extension of credits to those in need; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives protests against the establishment of such commissary or any other commissaries against the wishes of those who to this time have carried the burden of furnishing relief to the unemployed and respectfully requests the State Emergency Relief Board to abandon their intention to establish such commissaries and allow the small profit due the merchants of those communities to be theirs in order to insure their continuance in business; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the State Emergency Relief Board.

ANNOUNCING DEATH OF WIFE OF HON. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement at this time.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the gentleman will proceed. The Chair hears none.

Mr. WILSON. A telegram has been received by a member of this House announcing the death of the wife of the gentleman from Tioga County, Hon. George W. Williams.

I arise to announce this fact to the House and to say that a resolution will be prepared expressing the feeling of the House and the sympathy of the House to our colleague.

This is a particularly distressing occurrence to Mr. Williams. He has been for a longer time than any other member, except the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Conner, a member of this House. He has the respect, admiration and affection of all the members. Mr. Williams and his wife would have completed next month fifty years of ideal family life. For twenty years he has been a member of this House, and has earned our admiration and respect. A resolution is being prepared which will be presented to the House expressing our sympathy to him in this trouble.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the Journal.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF ADDRESS BY HON. WILLIAM D. BELKNAP

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I ask at this time for the unanimous consent of the House to make a statement.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections on the part of the House the gentleman will proceed. The Chair hears none.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, most of you doubtless are familiar with the organization known as the American Legislative Association. Many of you are familiar with the work of that organization and particularly the work it is trying to do today in the assembling of members of the Legislature delegated by the several Legislatures of the Commonwealths, to attend an assembly in Washington and to consider there the conflict between state and federal taxation. The Speaker of the House, the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Hutton, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, and myself attended that assembly.

You will later hear a full report concerning its objects. We were doubly fortunate on that occasion to make the acquaintance of a member of the Board of Managers of the American Legislative Association, Mr. William D. Belknap, a member of the Assembly from the State of Kentucky, who has been invited to address the members of this House and so many of the Senators as may find it convenient to come into the Hall of the House, today at 2.00 o'clock.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the Journal.

GRANTING USE OF HALL OF HOUSE

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Mr. Sterling, I move that the use of the Hall of the House be granted between 2.00 and 2.30 o'clock P. M. today for the purpose of listening to an address by the Hon. William D. Belknap, member of the General Assembly of Kentucky and one of the Board of Managers of the American Legislative Association.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that this is a bill of sufficient importance to justify us in pausing and considering it. It might, in a sense, be said to be an attempt to repeal one of the Ten Commandments. Perhaps it is not. If it be so, it might also be well to consider the authority of those Commandments and what their purpose was, but for the present I have proposed to limit my remarks to the bill that is now before the House.

If you have any conscientious scruples in this matter at all, it seems to me that in order to be fair to the people of this Commonwealth this bill ought not to be passed.

In the first place, I call your attention to the fact that it provides that five per cent. of the electors of this Commonwealth can demand an election, but ninety-five per cent. of the electors of the Commonwealth or the municipal sub-divisions perhaps better can do nothing at all but sit by and look on. They have no power to compel municipal authorities to enact an ordinance. They have no power to call for an election to pass upon this measure. We are now proposing that this law, this act of 1794, which has existed for so long, shall be repealed and that five per cent. have greater rights than ninety-five per cent.

In addition, I call your attention to the fact that this bill provides, among other things, that the municipal authorities can pass ordinances prohibiting outdoor sports between certain hours on Sunday. I also call your attention to the fact that it purports to convey or to empower supervisors of townships of the second class to pass appropriate ordinances. Now it is at least very doubtful whether under the Constitution we can pass a law relating to outdoor sports, and at the same time impose upon a body of men selected for an entirely separate and distinct purpose with no reference either to morals or religion, the Sabbath Day or outdoor sports, to impose upon them the power to enact ordinances relating to outdoor sports. They were elected for the purpose of building roads and for that purpose alone. And now, when you come to impose upon them these additional duties, certainly that is a separate and distinct subject from the matter of outdoor sports, and cannot constitutionally be included within the bill. But if I should be wrong about that, and I might be of course, I further call your attention to the fact that these township supervisors are elected one every six years, and that inasmuch as ninety-five per cent. of the people of the second class townships have no rights under this bill, except as they may express them at the polls, by the election of their municipal officers, the township supervisors, it would take at least four years to put in office a majority of township supervisors who would be in sympathy with the expressed will of the ninety-five per cent., assuming that they were not in favor of Sunday sports, so that we would have a delay of four years before we could get an expression of the people who vote the election of township supervisors. I consider that entirely unfair to the townships of the second class of this Commonwealth.

Again, I call your attention to the fact that there are no provisions made in this bill as to how these ordinances and so forth would be passed. What provision is made for the publication of the ordinances, where are they to be recorded, and so on? In boroughs we know that that is provided by law, and you cannot pass a criminal ordinance or a penal ordinance in a borough without giving due notice to the public. But this bill has no such provision in it. Most of the country clubs that I know about, and I will agree there are a great many country clubs that I do not know about, but the most I know about are located in second class townships, the most of the swimming pools that I know about are located in second class townships, and in fact, most of the ball fields that I know about, outside of the big cities, are located in second class townships. Under this bill there is nothing at all to prevent township supervisors from meeting on Sunday night and passing an ordinance taking effect forthwith and on the next day the constable will show up and put under arrest the people who are out there playing golf, playing tennis, swimming, or engaging in other outdoor sports, and they would be liable to a fine of whatever amount fixed by these township supervisors, who were elected by the people not to pass ordinances but to build roads. They might be subjected to a fine which might equal one hundred dollars. I cannot see how this bill is fair to anybody, and therefore, I propose to vote against it.

Mr. DeFREHN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DeFREHN. Mr. Speaker, I find on my desk a publication entitled: "Summary of States and Population Affected by Blue Laws." This data furnished with the compliments of Louis Schwartz." You are the author of this publication?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, no sir.

Mr. DeFREHN. It has your name attached to it.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I furnished this copy with my compliments.

Mr. DeFREHN. Do you consider the information contained therein absolutely correct?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I am not the author of it, but I am pretty sure, with a very slight error, it is almost correct.

Mr. DeFREHN. And you admit that there may be mistakes in it?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. There might be a mistake, some minor mistake. If you find one, I would be only too glad to answer it.

Mr. DeFREHN. Mr. Speaker, in defense of the city of Johnstown, I want to say that the moving pictures—

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. De-Frehn through interrogating the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz?

Mr. DeFREHN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will then proceed.

Mr. DeFREHN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. I want to say in defense of the city of Johnstown, that the moving picture shows are not open to the public on Sunday. There may be other areas that I do not know of.

If we are to be judged by the number of this bill and the speed with which it is being put through, our hungry unemployed and worried tax-paying constituencies would naturally conclude that their representatives are more interested in play than they are in the misery, wretchedness and worries of their fellow-man.

However, this same old biennial subject is before us again.

We know a continuous dropping will wear away the hardest flint. The opponents of the Christian Sabbath seem to take encouragement from this fact and are again making their attack upon it.

Many a child by continual worrying and coaxing, has gained its point, to its own disadvantage and undoing.

There is recorded in the Bible an instance where even the Almighty God lost his patience and yielded to the demand of his people who were dissatisfied and found fault with the food which he fed them from day to day. He knew what was good for them and no doubt it contained all the nourishment necessary for their bodies, but they demanded flesh, flesh, and flesh He gave them.

He said He would give it in such abundance that they would eat it not one day, nor two days nor five days, neither ten days nor twenty days, but even a whole month until it came out of their nostrils.

He sent quails in great flocks and the people greedily gathered them, two days and a night. They surfeited themselves with them, they sickened and died.

In connection with this thought, I am reminded that the proponents of the open Sunday of the past, made their plea upon the ground that those who work six days a week, need time for recreation and pleasure, and they proposed to take the one day which our Father God has set aside for a vastly more important purpose than recreation and pleasure, such as has been proposed by those who are trying to make Jehovah see that he has made a great mistake.

At this time we hear nothing about the poor overworked man needing time for recreation.

What has become of this excuse to open the Christian Sabbath to commercialism?

May it not be possible that God who yielded to the demand of Israel for food, other than that which He knew was best for them, and with which many were destroyed, has in this day become impatient with the demand for more time for recreation and pleasure, even demanding that He give up His day and has decided to give this poor erring people all the spare time they want and more? And may it not be possible that He will continue this recreational time until they are willing to let His day alone?

Ladies and gentlemen of this House, you who favor this bill, what is your present reason for wanting to scrap the Lord's day?

Is there no further need to rest body and mind and build up our waning spiritual being? It appears to me, that if ever there was a time in which the mind should be divided from what you call recreation, to the recreation of the soul, and to get in tune with the Infinite, bowing to His will, that time is now.

Dare you now, by our vote, say, "Oh! Lord God of the Universe, you have made a great mistake in appointing one-seventh of my valuable time to waste in rest, meditation and spiritual upbuilding of my soul"?

If you dare, the privilege as well as the responsibility is yours.

Mr. QUINN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House.

Today, you are to vote on one of the most controversial bills that will come before you this session and it is most fitting and proper that I, an humble representative of nearly three hundred thousand people, living in the workshop of the world, the greatest industrial area on earth, the Tenth Legislative District of Allegheny County, should raise my feeble voice and express the sentiment of the vast majority of men and women of that district, to explain their ideas and ideals with reference to this bill.

We earn our bread truly by the "sweat of our brow." In mine and mill, furnace and factory, we toil night and day.

Socially and religiously we are a typical cross-section of American life. The gilded steeples and golden crosses of our churches pierce the clouds high above the smoke of our industries and we worship our God, as we see the light in friendliness and tolerance.

We are church people, if that means going to church regularly on Sunday and obeying the Ten Commandments. We believe in the sanctity of Sunday and the sacredness of keeping it holy. We oppose with all our strength a commercial Sunday. We, above all others in this great State, appreciate its evils, because the natures of our industries make continuous work, seven days and seven nights a week necessary. But we believe in a liberal Sunday, knowing that all work and no play is not good for any man.

It is a difference of opinion that makes the world go around, it prevents it from going to the dogs. Independence of thought, the spirit of inquiry, the desire to improve are the mighty levers that have lifted man so far above the brute level, so high indeed that today he claims kinship with the Creator, yet we say to our neighbor, "Thou Fool" if he differs honestly with our conviction of trying to improve conditions.

The government of man and the government of God are separate and distinct, the one compulsory, the other entirely a matter of conscience, yet here in this great State of ours, in the very keystone of our boasted land of liberty, the government of man and the government of God are affinities, one as closely related as the other. Under the laws of this State, we deny that "the government of God is entirely a matter of conscience" and we are foolish in our boasts of "religious liberty," "freedom of conscience," and so forth.

Our Legislatures have been fully persuaded that they are in duty bound to guard both the spiritual and temporal welfare of the citizen—they believe in too many instances that they have been duly ordained to administer spiritual and temporal government. We have much to say anent personal liberty and local self-government and resent sumptuary laws; yet our laws make it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine, which the offender must lay out in prison if he cannot pay, to play an innocent game of baseball, indulge in any sport or fish by the side of a quiet brook or witness a picture show in any section of the State, regardless of the religious views of the people. Here we have a conservation of the spirit of the Spanish Inquisition, showing itself as boldly as it dares. Early New England fanaticism and tongue-boring cropping out, where a great many people are howling for personal liberty.

Think of throwing an American citizen into jail in this advanced age for fishing or playing a game of ball with his youngsters out in the meadow, among the birds and flowers, for an offense not against his fellowman, but against that great God, who created the heavens and the earth. It is a flagrant infringement on man's Divine rights and his constitutional prerogatives. "But the old order changeth, yielding place to new." Nineteen centuries ago, Christ informed the Pharisees that "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath," but there are those who refuse to believe that. They declare it criminal to do on Sunday what is eminently proper on other days and want to maintain an ancient law compelling all to conform to their belief. And what excuse have they to offer for this insolent interference with individual liberty, the abrogation of the "freedom of conscience," guaranteed us by the Conscript Fathers? They say, "The citizen has no right to do wrong." True, my dear sirs, but who authorized you to decide for the people of this State, what is right or wrong, theologically considered?

Others have told us that "the majority has a right to say how the Sabbath shall be observed." Indeed! Then it also has a right to say what day shall be accepted as the Sabbath by the entire people. Good souls, who made thee thy brother's keeper? Where in the constitution of your country or the teachings of your Saviour, do you learn it to be your duty to lay violent hands upon a worldling and drag him to the Throne of Grace? What is it to you if I till my field, witness healthy sport or listen to some soul inspiring grand opera on Sunday? Does it compel you to do likewise? Does it interfere with your freedom or abridge your prerogatives, endanger your health or cost you a single penny? Will the Saviour compel you to answer for my sins and send you to perdition?

Our friends who would keep alive this antique law have altogether mistaken the spirit and ignored the letter of that message which Christ brought to mankind. It was a message of Love and Liberty, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest," saith the Lord. "Do our bidding or go to jail," says the State. Religious belief which must rely upon secular law is inherently wrong. Religious belief which appeals to brute force to secure respect for God is not of God.

Those opposing the modification of the Blue Laws say, "If the law is right stand by it"; we answer, the law is basically wrong and should be eliminated. They claim it will give us a "Continental Sunday with its inherent crime." They have failed to observe that crime in the United States per capita, is greater than any three combined nations in Europe. They say, modification will put the Church in competition with sport. My dear sirs, Church, since its birth has been in competition with far greater forces than sports, and we answer—keep the church doors open seven days a week, not just one day, and make religion attractive not repellant. Don't whine at imaginary competition and run bawling to the law. Meet it and beat it or it will beat you!

The Reverend Dr. Albert Beaven, President of the Federal Council of Churches, speaking at Rochester, New York, Saturday, said: "In working for ideals, the Federal Council of Churches, with a membership of 22,000,000, will have to be careful not to make the mistake of relying so greatly upon law, as they have been in the case of prohibition." The churches' main hope in obtaining any permanent adoption of their ideals, depends upon their ability to create a moral conscience in public opinion. He continued: "There is a proper place for emphasis upon legislation to secure proper protection for an ideal when it once represents public opinion, but to depend on law instead of continuing education is a false hope." Every great newspaper in this State advocates the repeal of the Blue Laws and all fair-minded men and women, know that law breaking creates contempt for law.

We are far from the truth when we say we are a Christian nation. Nearly sixty per cent. of our people have no church affiliations and Dr. Beaven has found the cause for this sad plight. Too much dependence upon legislature instead of the Divine Law. We try to enforce morality and religion with a policeman's club. Let us Christians learn from our Jewish friends, a people who for nearly 6,000 years have had no laws passed, yet have kept their traditions and religion unchanged and undefiled. A people who are lowest in percentage of inmates in our penal institutes.

All laws are the result of customs made popular by the people; the Blue Laws are not popular. All laws are made to punish people. Let us take the punishment out of this law and go back to those great human principles, love, life and laughter. Let us make our State a better place in which to live, and work, and play. Let us not desecrate the Sabbath, but let us make Sunday a holy day!

Mr. RUBY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have on my desk, as I suppose is on the desk of every member of this House, a mimeograph of some statistics relating to Sunday observance. On page 21 I find listed the City of McKeesport, as a city in which Sunday movies are premitted. Simply as a matter of fairness to the members of this House and to the citizens of that city, which I represent, I want to say that Sunday movies are not permitted, with the possible exception of a benefit movie occasionally.

Mr. JOHN L. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to correct a statement which has been placed upon the desk of each member of the House, in which it states that movies are held at State College. I want to say frankly that I have lived there all my life, and never did I know of them having a moving picture on Sunday. We will acknowledge that sometimes in one of our neighboring towns at 12.00 o'clock on Sunday night they do have movies. However, there seems to be some error in placing State College on the list as operating moving pictures on the Sabbath Day.

My friends, I do believe that this subject that is before us, and which will have such far-reaching effect, is of such importance that we should consider this bill without prejudice and without bitterness. I think that every member of this House will acknowledge, whether he be a Jew or Gentile, Catholic or Protestant, that the Sabbath Day is of Divine origin. I do not care whether he observes the seventh day, of the week or the first day of the week, whether he observes the day in commemoration of the completion of the work of the Creator or in commemoration of the resurrection of our Savior. We should be very slow to criticize that splendid group of men who passed these Blue Laws so long ago.

I have lately taken a book, the American edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, and read over the history of this subject very carefully, and I want to say frankly that nowhere in that history does it prove the statement which was made here the other day, that they were guilty of cutting men's ears off and their tongues out because of their violation of the Sabbath Day.

We do not want to be vindictive, we do not want to be narrow, we do not want to be benighted. We don't care how much you kiss your wife or sweetheart on the Sabbath Day, or any other day, just so long as it is your own wife or your own sweetheart. Let me say also if those outstanding Godly men held spiritual values and moral values above that of material things and commercial things, let us be slow to criticize these men, because I regard them as great and good men, and they lived in the city of Philadelphia. It was necessary to have these laws passed on account of the vice and gambling and desecration of the Sabbath in the city of Philadelphia at the time this law was passed in the State of Pennsylvania.

It is pointed out to us that this law is violated. We acknowledge it is violated but is that any reason why a law should be repealed, because it is violated? Nearly every law on the Statute Books of the State of Pennsylvania has been violated. I just want to corroborate what I said, that we have possibly some laws which to us today seem rather narrow, but do we know what the people will think another hundred years hence and what they will say about laws we now pass in this House.

I want to give a little example of some of the errors made by medical men and lawmakers in other States in the past, and which to us at the present time seem to be very amusing. About ninety years ago the first bath tub in the United States was displayed in the city of Cincinnati, and immediately the newspapers of the whole country, not only in Ohio, but in every other state, all came out to denounce the thing in no uncertain terms as a reckless and non-democratic institution. Then came along the medical men and similarly pronounced it to be a menace to health.

The city of Boston made it unlawful to use a bath-tub except as prescribed by a physician, and the State of Virginia was so wrought up that they immediately passed a law placing a tax on every bath-tub in the State in the sum of thirty dollars. It was very amusing. These are some of the laws that were made years ago.

Now, we acknowledge that every man in this House is honest. They all say that this repeal would not interfere with the Sabbath Day. I do not know anything about technicrats, but I do know that if it is true, what is claimed, that we are going to come to a five-day week, when this repeal goes through it will give the working man more time than he knows what to do with, and if that is true, is there any reason at the present time why we should repeal the Sabbath Laws and let the commercial activities enter into competition with the institutions which are doing their work on that day. How are we going to tell whether it is going to affect the State of Pennsylvania?

I took up the history of the American Sabbath School Association, and I was very anxious to compare the attendance of Sunday Schools, and so forth, in the State of Pennsylvania with that of other states, and I just want to give you a few figures in comparison with our sister state of New York that has, as we all know, a population of nearly two million more than we have in Pennsylvania. In the State of New York they have in their Sunday Schools, they have less than one million who have enrolled in the Sunday Schools of New York with that big population. In the State of Pennsylvania with a less population we have enrolled members of over two million. To show a further comparison, in the State of New York the average attendance is forty-five percent, while in the State of Pennsylvania it is eighty-four per cent.

During the last quarter of a century more than twenty laws were passed in the State of New York liberalizing the Sabbath Day, while in the State of Pennsylvania we have turned back all of these bills.

I have here a statement of Calvin Coolidge which is quoted quite frequently. Many of the members of this House were present when he spoke these words in the city of Philadelphia. He said, "We do not need more national development, we need more spiritual development. We do not need more intellectual power, we need more spiritual power. We do not need more knowledge, we need more character. We do not need more law, we need more religion. We do not need more of the things that are seen, we need more of the things that are unseen." These are the exact words spoken before many of you in that meeting in the city of Philadelphia.

In voting upon this bill presented here this morning, I hope you will vote as everyone's conscience dictates.

Two young boys went to hear Bob Ingersoll speak, and coming down the aisleway the one said to the other, "Bill, there is nothing to it," but the other boy replied and said, "Yes, John, but what are we going to do with Mother." I challenge every member here today to answer that question, "What are you going to do with Mother?" It is an important question, and whatever nationality you may belong to, you must remember the splendid woman who went down to the very shadows of the Valley of Death to bring you forth, and that further taught you in your early life as you leaned upon her breast those eternal truths that were to last and should last throughout all time. To you, my friends, I am honest when I say that this is a bad bill, and I hope you will find your way clear to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I would like to ask your indulgence for just a few moments. I am not going to make a lengthy speech, but I do want to stand up and raise my voice in protest against any change in these so-called Sunday Laws. I don't care to go into detail.

It has been gone over time and again, and it is not a question of detail to my mind; it is a question of principle. These Sunday Laws have been maligned and vilified for years, they have been called old fashioned, out of date, antiquated, obsolete, fanatical, and every other objective almost in the English language. But the sponsors, evidently, of this repeal, have either forgotten, or have never known that the primary features of these old Blue Laws were fundamental; they are the fundamental part of the laws of this Commonwealth, and they have stood for one hundred and forty years as the steel rods in a concrete wall to hold it upright in times of stress. And now we are asked to repeal them.

Gentlemen, who made these laws; who framed them into the the Constitution and put them into the very structure of this Commonwealth? It was our ancestors of whom we are proud to claim to be the descendants. This State has thousands of residents that point with pride to the ancestors who came over on the Mayflower; hundreds more who point to their ancestors and are proud to call themselves the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution, and if there is any distinction in that name, I too am entitled to a share of it.

There are thousands more who point with pride to the ancestors who signed the Declaration of Independence and also framed our Constitution; and they are the kind of men who made these old Blue, Sunday Laws.

Why did they do it? What inspired them to make this kind of law, to build this kind of a State and this kind of a Nation, of which we are proud to be a part? I will tell you why; because back behind our ancestors thousands of years ago, other ancestors of those ancestors framed the Constitution that antedates the Constitution of America by thousands of years. This Constitution which I hold in my hand contains only ten articles, but not one of them has even been repealed or amended. This Constitution was not written in the halls of Congress, but on Mt. Sinai; it was not written on parchment, but was written on tablets of stone; it was not written by the hand of man, but by the hand of the Creator of this great Universe, and this constitution was handed down as a covenant and law and as a guide for all the children of men. I say to you that the people of the Nations that accepted that law ratified and obeyed that Constitution today are the outstanding, dominating nations of this earth, and this Constitution with its ten articles never repealed or never amended, is the answer.

Now, this House of Representatives is called upon to repeal the fourth article in this Constitution, Gentlemen, almost every day your capitol guide stands in the back part of this room and points to the picture on the left hand side of the House and says, "That is the picture of William Penn standing under that old elm tree concluding the Treaty of Peace with the Indians," and for a hundred years that treaty was held sacred. Though never signed, yet it was never broken.

Now, gentlemen of the House, is this House of Representatives going to admit that there is less honor among them than among those naked savages; are you going to vote today to repeal the fourth section of the treaty that was handed down to you from Mt. Sinai? I hope not. This is not a question of a law that for one hundred and forty years stood unsullied, unrepealed on the statute books of this great Commonwealth of ours. One hundred years from now when your descendants stand at the outer bar of this room, do you want the guide to say, "Here in this blue and gold room in 1933 the Representatives of this House voted to repeal the fourth commandment." I say now, gentlemen, I don't want to be counted that way.

Another thing, more than twice since I came to these Halls, I have heard the Reading Clerk read resolutions on the death of members that met here with you only the last session. They have gone on to answer whether they voted to repeal laws or whether they didn't, and maybe before this session adjourns the Reading Clerk will read your resolution or mine; your body or mine will be laid away in the earth and returned to the elements from which it came, and your spirit will go out to stand before the Judge who handed down this Constitution to you and to me, these ten commandments, and you will be glad if you can say, "I have voted to retain the Constitution unamended and unrepealed."

Gentlemen, I suppose it is out of order, but I would like to make a motion that it is the sense of this House that these Sunday Laws are considered fundamental in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and not debatable in this House now or ever again.

The SPEAKER. The motion of the gentleman from Erie is out of order.

Mr. WILLIAM L. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in fairness to this body and to all concerned, I wish to state that Tarentum, my home town, is listed here on this pamphlet which has been laid on my desk, as having Sunday movies. Such is not the case.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I would like to correct a statement in this sheet which has been furnished to the members of the House. The statement is made here that Donora and Washington, both cities in Washington County, have Sunday movies. This is a mistake.

Mr. DUNMIRE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to say that this sheet lists Greensburg, Westmoreland County, as having moving pictures on Sunday. That is not true. We have had two under the name of sweet charity for the purpose of this sheet only.

Mr. WILLIAM A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I notice that upon this sheet placed on my desk they give the borough of Etna as having Sunday movies. The title is very broad, "Sunday Movies in Pennsylvania." I wish to inform the House that I believe that is an error. I wish to say furthermore, ladies and gentlemen, that in times of great calamities when our judgment is being tested in every sense of the word, when we are on the horns of a dilemma, whether to go this way or to go that way, we are now faced with a proposition to abandon our Sabbath Laws in some degree.

To me it is a sincere mockery to open this body with an invocation to Almighty God to preserve us in our integrity of purpose, and in the same voice raised in that invocation, urging with that same voice to do away with the full observance of that day dedicated to our Creator.

I am opposed to the bill and my people are opposed to the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 3 This act shall take effect on the first day of September one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three and shall not apply to mortgages or obligations executed prior to that date

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as I understand this bill the purpose is to protect mortgagees, and in order to do that the bill provides that any person who after the first of next September shall pay the principle of any such mortgage or of any such obligation so secured, or any parts thereof, to anyone other than the one from whom the money was borrowed, or someone authorized to receipt for the same in writing, as I understand it, that payment will not count, that they will be able to collect it over again.

In other words, in many cases this money is borrowed on a mortgage, the person goes to the office of the lawyer or real estate man, a banker or someone else who has money to loan, and he does not even see the mortgagor, or the person from whom he is getting the money. Perhaps there is a check there for him signed by that person, delivered by the agent he never sees the mortgagor himself, only sees the agent. Under the provisions of this bill, they having gotten the money under such circumstances, two or three years later he goes back to the same person to pay off the mortgage, he is unable to turn it over, and does not turn it over to the mortgagor himself. Unless there was written authority in the hands of that person to collect the money, the person, whoever the mortgagee may be, may be called upon to pay it over again.

As I understand the law today, the burden is on the mortgagee, that is the borrower to prove the agency of the person to whom he pays off the mortgage but at the present time he may do that by oral testimony. This bill provides that in order to prove it he must have written authority, and we all know that that particular clause was inserted in the mortgage for the protection of the mortgagor. The title of the bill says that this particular section shall be called to the attention of the mortgagee at the time that the acknowledgement is taken before a notary public, that particular clause of the bill has been removed, although the title seems to still include it, so there will be no particular notice inserted in the mortgage.

We all of us who are experienced in such matters, know that the average mortgagee, whether he ought or ought not is beside the question, does not read the mortgage, and to put this particular clause in the bill puts an additional burden upon the person who is borrowing the money, and it is done under the guise of protecting the mortgagor.

I say that the mortgagor who puts it into the power of an agent to loan money for him, and act as his agent in the collection of his interest, and then that person does collect the principle, and then goes back to collect again from the mortgagee is not entitled to protection, on the principle that he who makes possible a fraud of that sort should be compelled to bear the burden of it. I don't feel that we should put an additional burden upon the people who are borrowing on mortgages. I think that mortgagors are amply protected by the law as it is today, and I, therefore, ask you to vote against this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to protect both the mortgagee and the mortgagor. In my particularly limited experience in practicing at the bar, I have had a great the principle of a mortgage has been paid to an alleged agent, the principle of a mortgage has been paid to an alleged agent, and the money has been lost. Sometimes I have been on one side of the case and sometimes on the other, and I can frankly say that no matter how the thing resulted somebody suffered a great wrong.

It was the common law, if I remember it rightly, that if one be authorized to act on a paper under seal, you had to have your authority under seal. We don't go so far as that in this Commonwealth at the present time, but we do provide that an agency to collect the principal of a mortgage may be established by word of mouth. I have a case in mind that I tried where the word of mouth was supposed to have been given on the street. The alleged agent testified that he met the mortgagor on the street, and the mortgagor told him there on the street to collect this money, and the court was required under the law to submit to the jury the question of whether or not that established an agency. That is not right, and in our county we have had so much trouble of this kind that you can hardly get mortgage money at any price. They would rather buy the worst kind of stocks, because they say, "We know then what we have," but under the existing law you can have a mortgage, and you can put it in a safe deposit box, and when you come to issue a sciera facias on it, you find that the money has been paid to somebody else, and while the loan is perfectly good, it cannot be satisfied of record without a letter of attorney. The money has already gone. What is the use of having a good loan if it don't represent any money. No doubt some of you men have seen the effect of white ants on furniture. We have a nicely polished piece of furniture, it looks all right, but when you take hold of it it has no substance. That is the condition of the law today on mortgages. I will agree that we ought not to pass a law that provides that the power to collect the principal of a mortgage would have to be in writing and nothing more, because that is a well established rule in the country, but this bill provides that you can require the agency to be established by the proper writing, that you shall put in the mortgage itself, which the mortgagee sees, the words that it shall be paid to no person other than the person himself, or somebody by him authorized in writing. That is to say, if you are going to pay off a mortgage with those words in it, you must pay it to the mortgagee or to the owner or to somebody that he has authorized to collect it in writing. This is, in my opinion, a just bill, a protection for both the mortgagor and the mortgagee.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I dislike very much to disagree with the gentleman who has just spoken on this floor. I have great regard and respect for his opinion and for his legal attainments, but I am unwilling to let this bill pass this House without raising my voice and warning the House that you are now putting upon mortgagees an additional burden, and that the affairs of the State of Pennsylvania are in such shape that if mortgagors begin to be scared of their security, that we will have one sweet time in Pennsylvania.

I think the members of the Committee on Judiciary General will bear me out when I say that ever since I have been a member of this House I have consistently opposed and have fought with every power that I have had, any change in the mortgage structure of Pennsylvania. We have a great many mortgages in Pennsylvania, we have a great many loans in Pennsylvania that are carried on year after year and year after year without being renewed, and the people who have given those mortgages are not now in shape to pay them off overnight. If you get to the place where the mortgages, and the parties that loan money begin to become alarmed for their security, they will call upon the makers of the mortgages to pay those mortgages, and then you will have a situation in Pennsylvania that cannot be met. I agree with the gentleman who has spoken and who has drawn this bill, that a great many frauds and impositions do take place, but this is an effort to meet certain particular deficiencies in the law. Certainly you give us that opening by passing a general bill which affects the whole mortgage structure.

I am unwilling, as I say, to let this pass without raising my voice and warning this House that you are undermining the mortgage structure of Pennsylvania; you are undermining loans; you are alarming the people who make the loans upon mortgages, and if you do that at this time, when there are not facilities for those people to borrow money, you will bring upon yourself a situation that the communities will not be able to meet. My community is a community that borrows money on large mortgages on long terms, and as permanent investments. I am unwilling that the mortgage structure shall be in any way affected, and therefore, I say with all respect to the sponsor of this bill, for whom I have high regard, respect and affection, that this is a very dangerous bill, and that this is a very poor time to start fooling and monkeying and undermining the mortgage structure of Pennsylvania, and I urge the members of this House to vote this bill down.

HON. WM. A. BELKNAP INTRODUCED

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the Chair will change the order of business. On the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, the use of the Hall of this House was granted from two o'clock to two thirty o'clock to honor a distinguished American and hear from him. Train schedules have been changed, and we have now a former member of the Kentucky Legislature and the present president of the American Legislators Association. I have the honor to present to you the Honorable William B. Belknap.

ADDRESS OF HON. WM. A. BELKNAP

Mr. BELKNAP. Ladies and gentlemen of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania it gives me great pleasure to promptly return the call which your members made in Washington to the Association of American Legislators—the American Legislative Association is the proper name. This is an organization made up of all the legislators of the United States who feel, as I think almost all of them do, that it is necessary to come together and better the state legislation. We feel that this should be done not by reformers from the outside who wish to come in and tell us what to do, but by legislators themselves who know what the problems are, what the needs of the country are and how best to reach them.

It was a great pleasure to have not only two delegates but a good, big delegation from Pennsylvania, and I want to say that they left an impression that the Pennsylvania Legislature was composed of high type and fine men.

It might be that I should apologize for representing another organization. We sometimes think that we are over-organized in this country. I do not so apologize. I know that some people have the same feeling as the old ——— down in our district. The boss was talking to him one morning when he was eating his breakfast. He was waiting on the table and the boss was reading the paper, and he said, "Jim, what do you think about limiting immigration?" This was a number of years back. Jim says, "What, Boss?" He says, "What do you think of this problem of limiting immigration?" "What do you mean, Boss?" and he says, "We are letting in all these people from Europe, and I don't know whether we ought to stop them or not. What do you think?" He said, "Boss, don't you think there is about all the white folks in this country that us ——— can support now?" I think we often feel that way about organizations, that we have all the organizations in this country that we white folks can support now. But there is a very real need for legislators working together.

I am in the habit of saying that it is easier for the State of Kentucky to reach diplomatically China than it is with Indiana or Tennessee, our two neighbors. We can go to the State Department if we want to talk to the Government of China, but we have no means of approaching Indiana or Tennessee officially.

We have just held in Washington the first Interstate Legislative Conference. I believe it is a mark in history that will stay there. It was opened by the President of the United States and had in it men close to the incoming President who assured us of his cooperation. We took up at that time only the question of taxation, however, as the months go by you will hear more of our activities, that is not the only subject we are interested in.

I want to call your attention to the fact that we, as your organization, are trying to serve you in the following ways. First we have a reference bureau that is a clearing house for the various bureaus of all the states. I think you have your own reference bureau here, but we keep all those reference bureaus in touch with each other so that they are enabled to get information from all the states without the difficulty of writing to each of the forty-eight states. One of our main objects is the betterment of law making machinery, and we have had various discussions, which we hope at some time will bear fruit, for better legislative arrangements throughout the country.

We issue a magazine called "State Government." Most of you have been receiving "State Government" and I hope that more and more you will find it worthy of your time to read. I know that most legislators do not have the time to read everything that comes to their desks. If they even tried it, they would be subject to some sort of test of their sanity.

There was a case down home of a ——— and a learned judge I know. He was a ——— barber and the judge was getting his hair cut, and he said, "What do they mean by this insanity plea?" He says, "What do you mean?" He said; "There was a ——— took some money out of my trunk and they let him off by an insanity plea." "What do they mean by that?" "Well," he said "they mean he was crazy." "Do you mean to tell me, boss, they let that ——— boy off because he was crazy?" "Yes."

"Now," he said "if he would put money in my trunk, he would be crazy, but when he was taking money out of my trunk, he would be just like anybody else." Now, you would be just like anybody else if you threw everything into the waste basket. That is about the way we run. I hope you will find, however, by looking at some copies of "State Government" that it is worthy of keeping on your desk, and look through it occasionally to see what the other legislatures are doing.

A few short words about some of our other activities. In the first place, we are encouraging in every state the pre-legislative meetings, getting all the legislators that we can to come together for two or three days a month or so in advance of the meeting of the Legislature, in order that we might meet each other and talk over important problems that come up, and that there will be as little time wasted as possible and as much achieved as possible when the session opens.

Further than that we have been having what we call the regional meetings, at least we have started them, I should say. We had in Asheville, North Carolina, last fall a meeting of five states, where the legislatures were going to convene in that region. The results were very satisfactory, and already those five states are planning a further meeting to discuss the question of labor laws in the cotton mills.

The present project of trying to iron out some of the conflict in state and federal taxation, as you know, is very necessary. There is not a state in the Union but what is having its troubles with taxation. There is not a state in the Union but what is having difficulties with the federal government coming in and taxing its sources of revenue regardless of the total amount taken.

You will remember that some time back the inheritance tax situation was very bad. It was so bad that a certain lawyer down home had a German client who came in from out where they have market gardens around Louisville.

Finally, in desperation he turned to my friend who was trying to settle this estate for him, with all the various taxes that were piling up, and he said, "Mr. O'Neill, you know this is the worst thing I ever got into. Mr. O'Neill, this is so much trouble that sometimes I almost wish papa had not died." You will find that the inheritance tax laws have been ironed out due to the work of your noted citizen, Senator Edmonds, and a number of other men working together. It is our idea that a committee appointed by the American Legislators Association and responsible to the delegates from all of these states will carry with it weight enough to make a real worthwhile study of the tax problems as fast as they can get to them, and that going on with this authority we can treat with Congress and try to bring some order out of the chaos.

I want to say I thank you again for the interest that you have taken in this, your association, and yet there is a certain lack of dignity in my thanking you. This is your own association. We have been carrying on the work. Some have asked where the funds have come from. We have no hesitancy in laying all the cards on the table and we already have published all these figures when asked for them.

This association was started eight years ago by Senator Henry H. Toll of Denver, Colorado. For four or five years it struggled along with very little support and only with a slow growth. Finally the Spellman fund in New York and the Rosenwald Fund in Chicago and one of your best citizens, Senator George Woodward and other people joined in and gave enough funds to get the thing under way. It is not our desire that this organization should be financed by outside funds. It is and must be an organization of State legislators and as such should be supported by contributions from the State. It is worth, many, many times to the State what it costs, and if the work of the reference bureau alone was all we did it would still be worth more than the amount of its cost.

I give you this history that you may know that as time goes on we will look to the other states to be as generous as Pennsylvania has been in contributing to the support of this association. Several of the other states have also donated money, or chipped in money I should say, to this organization, but it is not as general as it should be.

We have got ahead of us a real opportunity in organizing every year this inter-state legislative conference, and carrying through the year the permanent committees of this conference, which shall try to work out some sort of decency and order between the states in such things as divorce laws, and this fifty-fifty proposition with the Federal government, and a lot of very difficult problems that no one state can solve alone, and no one state can treat with the Federal government separately from the other states.

It has been a great pleasure to me to meet you gentlemen and to be accorded this honor you have given me.

I want to thank you for your kind attention.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Belknap, I speak for the members of this House when I say to you that we thank you for your enlightening remarks and express our appreciation of your coming here.

It was concurred in.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, under the question of personal privilege, I move you, sir, that all of the gentleman's address from Kentucky concerning, "darkies," and "niggers," be expunged from the record.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I cannot believe that anyone with a sense of humor can possibly see any offense in the statements made by the distinguished visitor from Kentucky. I am tired, and I believe many members of this Assembly are tired of the individuals who make a profession of taking offense where no offense is intended. I think that this House will be very thoughtless and very recreant in its duty if it passes this motion. I for one, am most emphatically opposed to such ill-considered action.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if he will agree to substitute in lieu of those words, "colored persons"?

Mr. HART. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Then I move to amend the motion, Mr. Speaker, by striking out "niggers" and "darkies" and substituting therefor "colored persons."

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Kentucky did not use the words, "colored persons," and we cannot substitute in the gentleman's address words he did not use. We are facing a question of principle here, Mr. Speaker. We have seen these issues presented here time after time, and the gentleman—

The SPEAKER. The point raised by the gentleman from Cambria is well taken, and the amendment is out of order.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, I insist upon my original motion, and furthermore, I want it distinctly understood that as a representative of my group here, sent here as well as every other member of this House to represent his constituency, that I resent also that implication from the gentleman in the rear, and I shall stick by my original motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appear to have it. Whereupon a division was called for, and one hundred and twenty-seven members, or more than a majority of the whole House, having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the Chair will declare a recess until 4.30 P. M. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and (at 1.43 P. M.) declares a recess until 4.30 P. M.

AFTER RECESS

The House reconvened at 4.30 P. M.

The SPEAKER (Grover C. Talbot) in the Chair.

EXTENDING SYMPATHY TO HON. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS

Mr. WILSON offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1933.

A sincere sorrow came to the Members of this House today with the announcement of the death of the wife of the Honorable George W. Williams.

In about a month they would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary and completed a half century of happy, loving and contented companionship.

Both natives of Tioga County, they dwelt there during all their married life and became an inspiration to right living among their neighborhood.

The constant sharer of his triumphs, his reverses and his ambitions, she became so close a part of him that now her loss means empty loneliness; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House sorrowfully extends to its bereft Member, and the sons who mourn her loss with him, its deep and heartfelt sympathy.

No act or word of ours can in any manner assuage their grief but from the memory of all she meant and brought to them should come their deep and lasting consolation; and be it further

Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that a copy thereof be forwarded to our fellow Member, the Honorable George W. Williams.

RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE TO DRAFT BILL TO COMPLY WITH MODIFIED VOLSTEAD LAW

Messrs. SOWERS and CONNER offered a resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1933.

Whereas, The Snyder-Armstrong Prohibition Law accepts the definition of intoxicating liquors contained in the Federal Prohibition (Volstead) Law, and consequently any modification of the Federal Law legalizing certain beverages becomes immediately effective in Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, If Congress should modify the Federal Law or if the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed at a time when the Legislature of Pennsylvania is not in session, the State would be without adequate laws to regulate the manufacture, sale and traffic in alcoholic liquors; and

Whereas, It is necessary that legislation be framed in anticipation of any action which may be taken by the Federal Government and it is important and proper that such legislation be framed in the Legislative Halls for the greatest benefit of the State and not by groups representing particular interests; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a special committee consisting of eleven Members of the House of Representatives, which committee is hereby instructed to draft, with the aid of the Legislative Reference Bureau, a bill to be offered in the House of Representatives for the purpose of enabling the State to regulate the manufacture, sale and traffic in alcoholic liquors in case the Federal Law or the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is modified or repealed, and to enable the State to collect revenue from any business which may be thus established as a result of any change in the Federal Laws;

Resolved, That said committee, upon the completion of said draft, caused said bill to be introduced for the consideration of the House of Representatives.

RESOLUTION

ADJOURNMENT IN MEMORY OF HON. DANIEL L. HART

Mr. LENAHAAN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1933.

Daniel L. Hart, the genial, popular and able Mayor of Wilkes-Barre, is dead.

He served the people of his native city as their chief executive for a period of thirteen years. They loved him well, and only his death prevented the indefinite continuation of that service.

His sixty-six years of intense living held not only the busy career of a politician, but brought to him an enviable reputation as an author, playwright and orator.

There is now a void in the City of Wilkes-Barre that will remain unfilled, and in the hearts of those who loved him, there is a deep sorrow that will long abide; therefore be it

Resolved, That the passing from this life of the popular Mayor of Wilkes-Barre removes from the official life of the Commonwealth one whose services were particularly needed at this time and whose loss will be felt not only in the City which knew him so well but throughout the Commonwealth where his work and his success were even an inspiration to others holding public office; and be it further

Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House, and then when this House adjourns today, it adjourns out of respect to the memory of the former Mayor of Wilkes-Barre.

RESOLUTION No. 21.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 21, Printer's No. 43.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1933.

Resolved, That G. C. McKissick of Popular Avenue, Hummelstown, Pennsylvania, be declared a Page of the House of Representatives, Session of 1933, vice Webster Fox, resigned.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

PRINTING OF ADDITIONAL COPIES OF HOUSE BILL No. 690

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1933.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 354, entitled:

An Act to amend section five of article seventeen of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 581), entitled "An act for the better government of cities of the first class of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania"; increasing the emergency borrowing power.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Is it not a fact that the present emergency borrowing power of the city of Philadelphia is limited to two million dollars?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. Insofar as council is concerned, that is correct.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Is it not a fact that since the enactment of the Philadelphia charter bill the emergency borrowing power of the city of Philadelphia is limited to two million dollars?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. I believe that is correct.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Is not it also a fact that the present charter act provides that any such borrowings must either be returned out of current receipts of such year as the loan is made in, or such borrowing become a charge against receipts of the next year?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. That is the law as now constituted. Mr. Speaker, but this bill is the desire to amend the law as it is now constituted.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Is it not a fact that if this bill is enacted into law that the Council of Philadelphia will be able to borrow five million dollars for a period of three years?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. That is the intention of this bill.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. And by the very terms of the bill does not this original emergency loan become one that is permanent in the end?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. If it becomes permanent in the end, it does so after a period of three years, and the city of Philadelphia could not borrow above that amount, through Councils, unless part of that amount were discharged.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia tell this House the amount of the floating loan now burdening the taxpayers of the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, as far as that is concerned, I have no doubt that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, possibly has more accurate information and might answer better than I, but my answer to it is this, that it has nothing at all to do with the nature or the purpose of this bill. What the gentleman from Philadelphia is inquiring about has to do with the capital indebtedness of the city of Philadelphia, and has nothing to do with the temporary emergency borrowing power which this act gives.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia advise this House what immediate emergency requires the enactment of this law?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, this emergency exists. The city of Philadelphia at the present time owes current liabilities of about three million dollars. The city of Philadelphia, through Councils, is unable to raise that money and discharge those liabilities unless they tax the citizens of Philadelphia. The city of Philadelphia, through its Councils, does not wish to impose further taxes on its citizens if it can be avoided. These current liabilities must be discharged. One million of the three million dollars consists of liabilities growing out of the Child Welfare program that the city of Philadelphia conducts. Another million dollars consists of charges for the lighting of the streets of Philadelphia which obligation must be discharged, else the city of Philadelphia will be plunged into darkness. The other million dollars consists of general liabilities that accrued since 1931.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia want to tell this House that the burden of paying for Child Welfare institutions is an emergency?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. I mean that the city of Philadelphia is unable to continue this Child Welfare program unless it discharges the moneys which it now owes on that program.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia desire to tell this House that the expenses for lighting the streets of Philadelphia is an emergency charge?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. I mean to say, Mr. Speaker, that the three million dollars which the city of Philadelphia owes and which I have itemized must be discharged by the city of Philadelphia sometime in some way, either by taxation of the citizens of Philadelphia or in some such manner as this.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia inform this House to what extent the taxpayers of Philadelphia are already burdened by service debts by way of interest on loans already made?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, that is a question that would require a tremendously long answer, and I would suggest that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, who is making these interrogations, make the explanation himself, that he probably would have made when he introduced measures of a similar character in the session of 1931 on behalf of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Is it not a fact that in 1931 the gentleman to whom you refer introduced like legislation which was ear-marked specifically for unemployment relief?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. Yes, that legislation was ear-marked for unemployment relief and was also ear-marked for the discharge of moneys due to the policemen and firemen of the city.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Does the gentleman say to this House that the burden of lighting the streets of Philadelphia is an emergency comparable to unemployment relief which were introduced in 1931?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, it strikes me that these interrogations are made rather protected. Whether the emergency exists or not, or whether it should be compared with an emergency which Mr. Sterling described I don't think is of much interest to the members of this House. Comparisons are ordinarily odious and I don't think we should indulge in comparisons as to the purposes of this bill which are to discharge moneys due on account of welfare, or money due on account of unemployment relief.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is very important legislation for the citizens of the city of Philadelphia. It is most important to the citizens of the city of Philadelphia that this bill does not pass today, and your considerations should be confined to impersonal considerations, and considerations that are not in any wise colored by political considerations.

The city of Philadelphia today aside from its funded indebtedness for capital expenditures faces liabilities of upwards of eleven million for floating indebtedness. If this bill becomes a law, it will simply mean that the Councils of Philadelphia will continue to do in the ensuing years what that council has done in the past. When the revenues of the city are not sufficient to meet the normal, ordinary, usual expenses in running the municipality, Council turns its eyes to its emergency borrowing power. This results in a logical and natural under-appropriation, the result of which very greatly and seriously burdens the citizens of the city of Philadelphia.

The measure is put forward for two very definite reasons. In the first place, it increases the emergency borrowing power far beyond reasonable limits. The charter of 1919 gave the city of Philadelphia an emergency borrowing power of two million dollars. For upwards of fourteen years that emergency borrowing power has remained at two million dollars. The charter act provided further, and very properly so, that for emergency purposes when such loans were made the revenues of the ensuing year become as charges until the return of that money borrowed before any ordinary appropriation can be made. That is good financing; that is good municipal financing.

The bill is put in in the second place, because it will permit the Councils of the city of Philadelphia to allow a loan made up to five million dollars or a series of loans made up to five million dollars to remain unpaid over a period of three years.

I submit to this House, that it is not an attempt to increase the emergency borrowing power of the city, but on the contrary it is an attempt to increase the permanent borrowing power of the city, and the charter act never so intended and this legislature should not permit the city which is already so deeply embarrassed by its financial condition to continue that condition. It is a matter of common knowledge that there are today many authorized temporary loans of the city of Philadelphia which can find no purchasers. I dare say that if this bill becomes a law, the city fathers will have equal difficulty in finding purchasers for the certificates or the bonds that may be issued under its authorization.

The time has come in my opinion when the City of Philadelphia should be stopped from short-changing its budget. The time has come in my opinion when the City of Philadelphia should be stopped from under-appropriating money in the years that go on, expecting that that under-appropriation may well be made up by its emergency borrowing power.

The solution to Philadelphia's dilemma is plain. If the truth were known and the question properly made, it would clearly appear that the borrowing power of the City of Philadelphia has long since been exhausted. It has no borrowing power. Its taxable values have shrunk to the extent that by its present rate it has not the borrowing power that it should have, but that condition cannot be answered by an emergency loan such as here is presented to you for your consideration.

The answer to the question is a plain one. This bill should be defeated, and the pending constitutional amendment by which the City of Philadelphia's taxables will be separated from personalty and realty should be approved by the people at the election when it will be submitted. By that segregation of personal property from real-estate the tax rate—rather the borrowing rate will automatically be increased and automatically following that the borrowing capacity of the City of Philadelphia will be increased probably to the extent of seventy million dollars. That kind of financing is a permanent financing, that kind of financing relieves the taxpayers of the City of Philadelphia of burdensome service debts, and I submit that you consider this question not as a personal one and not as a political one, but that you consider it on its merits and defeat the bill as it deserves to be defeated.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, no more important bill could come before this House as affecting my particular district. In my district hundreds of men and women are out of work. A great many of them own their own little homes. They are not in a position today to pay their taxes, and they are under an intense worryment as to how soon the sheriff will put them out.

If you will take this bill and read the first line of section five and the next line you will see "where cash shall be needed for the immediate requirements of the city in any year in advance of the receipt of income" change that word "income" to its true meaning "taxes" and you will have at once the true intent and meaning of this act.

This act is for the relief of that poor home-owner who is worried today through no fault of his own and unable to pay his taxes at once, and this act gives to the City of Philadelphia the power to borrow money on the faith that the honest worker will get work tomorrow, earn some money and pay up his taxes.

Now, what course shall we pursue? The course advocated by my friend, causing the city authorities to come down on that poor home-owner, sell him out, and collect the taxes from him or shall we follow the humane purpose in this bill by giving to that home owner credit and an extension of time to pay by borrowing money on the faith and credit of Philadelphia?

Members of this House, I ask you in all fairness to stand by that little home-owner and pass this bill for his relief.

Mr. GREENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is not the creature of my own brain. It come to me from City Councils of Philadelphia as part of its legislative program. City Councils of Philadelphia, insofar as I am aware, are unanimously in favor of this bill. I have heard no criticism of it anywhere. I have read no criticism of it anywhere. I have read no criticism of it anywhere in the press of Philadelphia. To the contrary what comments I have read have favored the passage of this bill.

Councils, I dare say, are as well aware of what they have to face in discharging the obligations of the City of Philadelphia as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling. I am satisfied that Mr. Cox, the president of Councils, who for years has sat in consultation with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, is still the expert on city taxes and city finances today as he was then. Mr. Cox is the sponsor of this measure in effect, he and the Councils of which he is president.

I have explained the purpose of this bill. The necessity of the City of Philadelphia to discharge some three million dollars of current liabilities now hanging over the city; I need not go over it again, but I may say to the House that it is the intention of Councils to budget this increased liability of three million dollars, if this act passes, over a period of three years discharging the excess in installments of one million dollars instead of discharging that entire liability by increasing the taxes to do it.

The banking interests of Philadelphia are very much in favor of this bill. They are anxious to loan money to the City of Philadelphia, to help it over its present difficulties, but with the law as now constituted those banking interests, ready and willing and anxious for the opportunity to assist, are hamstrung, they are unable to do it. If you pass this bill you will make it possible for the banking interests of the City of Philadelphia to work in cooperation with Councils.

I cannot help but comment upon the fact, and I say this with due consideration for my friend, Mr. Sterling, that it is an amazing thing to me that for years I have sat in the chamber and I have heard Mr. Sterling sponsor measures of this kind with great force, learning, keenness and certainty. I cannot understand why this present method of meeting this situation by a constitutional change did not occur to Mr. Sterling during that long period when he was sponsoring measures of a similar character in order to assist the City of Philadelphia. Whether it requires an explanation or not or whether Mr. Sterling will make it depends entirely upon him, but it strikes me that we cannot wait at this time, the City of Philadelphia cannot wait for any constitutional change in order to meet its present obligations, in order to pay the money that it owes for child welfare, in order to pay the money that it owes for lighting the streets of the City.

It has been said here very frequently that when these measures affect one particular county, then the other members are willing to go along as long as the members from that particular county affected are for it. I would not venture with any accuracy to say what the feeling of all my colleagues of Philadelphia is about this bill, but I think I can venture to say with absolute safety that of our delegation but very few are not in sympathy with the measures of this bill. City Councils are unanimously for it. By far the greater portion of the delegation of Philadelphia are for it. Why should any other member of this House for any reason, on the other hand, politically be opposed to this measure? The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, made the plea that this bill be considered without any political implications. I join with him most heartily in that request. I ask that all of the members of this House give heed to this debate and not be influenced by any political motive. Are you or are you not going to help the city of Philadelphia discharge its honorable obligations? Are you or are you not going to help the City of Philadelphia to discharge its Child Welfare Program and to light its streets?

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, made an argument upon the financial structure of the City of Philadelphia. Members of the House, do not confuse that with the terms of this bill. This bill has nothing to do with the capital structure. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, saw fit to express upon the floor of this House his apprehensions about the solvency of Philadelphia. I have no such apprehension and I do not think that most of my colleagues from Philadelphia join in that comment made by Mr. Sterling. Philadelphia, in so far as its intrinsic worth is concerned, is worth time and time and time again the total of its present capital indebtedness.

No one need be concerned that the bankers of Philadelphia will not help Philadelphia if we pass this bill. I differ with the gentleman from Philadelphia in that respect. As I have said to you the bankers of Philadelphia are most willing to cooperate if you will only pass this bill; if you will give them an opportunity so to do.

Let me in conclusion say to the members of the House that I too join with the gentleman from Philadelphia that this is one of the most important bills that Philadelphia has offered to the Legislature this year. We either walk away from this Legislature without the ability to discharge its current liabilities or we get the power so to do. If we do not then the effect will be serious, and if the City of Philadelphia is affected, if the largest city in this Commonwealth is affected, will it not have an effect upon the balance of the State of Pennsylvania. Can you members of the House sit back and say "Well, this is something for Philadelphia only?" I don't agree with that proposition. I say to you that the financial condition of the City of Philadelphia does react upon the financial structure of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I think I have said as much as I possibly can say upon the subject.

I trust that the members will go with Philadelphia and give Philadelphia that relief that it needs.

Mr. ANDREWS. Under ordinary circumstances, Mr. Speaker, my vote would be cast in conformity with the wishes of members of Philadelphia, but we are doing more than coming to the relief of Philadelphia when we consider this measure; we are defining a policy, a policy that we will be asked to extend not only to the city of Philadelphia, but to all of the municipalities of this State. The emergency debt of the city of Philadelphia and the range of it has been carefully guarded by law. It is now proposed that we cast aside the safeguard, and they say that it applies only to the city of Philadelphia. I know that if this bill passes that all of the rural members, and all the members from the second and third class cities will immediately be asked in some manner or other to extend the powers to municipalities already overburdened with debt, to extend their powers also to rescue themselves by means of emergency loans. We know that today in our part of the State emergency loans and indebtedness have already risen to the danger point, and I say to you that the only way to save ourselves is through economy in administration, and I would counsel the same plan to the people of Philadelphia.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I disagree with my colleague who has just spoken, that this House is now asked to establish a policy with reference to emergency borrowing. The situation in Philadelphia is unlike that of any other portion of the State.

Those of you who were here at the last session will recall that it was stated on this floor that at that time our delinquent taxes amounted to twenty-six million dollars. Today that delinquent tax has risen to thirty-nine million dollars. The difficulty in Philadelphia is not one of administration nor one of gross extravagances, but merely the natural result of the depression through which we are passing. The small, as well as the large property owners of Philadelphia, have been unable to pay their taxes. The budget of Philadelphia, predicated, as it must be, on the income, could not be made to meet with thirty million dollars in arrears, and so Philadelphia set about to do the very thing that Mr. Andrews has just told you, economize in its government.

Those of you who have been watching the newspapers know that for the last year and a half, and particularly the early part of this year, it has been the sole problem of city Council to reduce its budget as far as administration expenses are concerned, to the very bottom. Two thousand men were put out of employment on account of this policy.

As Mr. Greenstein has told you, the city of Philadelphia has been unable to care for its children, those children who are wards of the city. What are we going to do about a situation of this kind? We have fixed expenditures. They have reduced the expense of running the city to the very minimum. How are they going to get along if their income will not permit the discharge of their debts. What does any firm or corporation do? It asks its bankers for a larger credit. It goes to its banker and says, "Here is the situation, here is our balance sheet, we need temporarily this help, will you give it to us?" and Philadelphia is exactly in that situation so far as the Legislature is concerned.

At this time the emergency borrowing capacity of the city is two million dollars. The City Council, which is the legislative body of the city of Philadelphia, comes to this parent body, this General Assembly, and says, "We need the further credit of three million dollars." That is all this bill asks, an increase of three million dollars; to be paid how? Within three years. That is an emergency borrowing, and not as Mr. Sterling said, an increase in the permanent borrowing capacity of the city of Philadelphia.

If any of you gentlemen have read this bill, you will find that there can be no question as to the intent and purpose of it. It says, "Where cash shall be needed for the immediate requirements of the city in any year in advance of the receipt of income, the Mayor, the city controller and the city solicitor, or any two of them shall have power to negotiate on behalf of the city temporary loans * * * in aggregate amount not to exceed ten per cent of the estimated receipts for such current year * * * and the same must be paid out of the same year's income in which they are negotiated. The intention of this section being that the negotiation of said loan shall be solely for the purpose of anticipating the receipt of income." Then there is the provision raising the sum from two million dollars to five million dollars, which unless paid within three years shall be included by the city controller in his estimate of liabilities which must be met out of receipts of the ensuing year before ordinary appropriations may be made therefrom. So you will see that in no event can this three million dollars of increased borrowing capacity go beyond the fourth year.

Gentleman, this is a Philadelphia bill. It doesn't say that Dauphin County, or Allegheny County or any other counties or cities shall have a like power. It is an appeal to you on behalf of the ordinary people of Philadelphia, endorsed almost entirely by the Philadelphia members of this House, that you send to Philadelphia the relief it needs.

I don't know whether any particular person has an axe to grind, but the situation is clear to you, that as almost a united delegation we ask you to vote favorably for this bill.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I very much dislike to speak any longer on this measure, but several references have been made, both by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Greenstein, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, that he who has talked against this measure, may have a purpose ulterior to the best interests of the city of Philadelphia.

The insinuation was very directly made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Greenstein, and was later made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, when he used the expression, "I don't know whether anyone has an axe to grind."

I prefaced my original talk to the members of this House by a sincere, honest statement that this bill should not be considered from either a personal or a political point of view. I repeat that.

Many times, during the past sixteen years, have I taken the floor of this House, and on no occasion, as far as I recall, have my motives ever been questioned. Nothing has occurred, so far as I am concerned personally, which justifies the implication that I have any less interest or sincere purpose in taking the position that I have on the floor of this House in respect to this measure. The arguments that have been made by both of the gentlemen from Philadelphia, it seems to me, are the very best arguments that this House could accept in determining the measure, and we might sum it up in this one question. The City of Philadelphia has not so far balanced its budget that its revenue accurately meets its expenditures. Until the City of Philadelphia does that, it is not good budgeting. If this bill is passed, the City of Philadelphia will be permitted to continue its bad budgeting policy.

Reference has been made by both gentlemen from Philadelphia concerning the immediate necessity for payment of money, and the necessity for the maintenance of children. A remarkable consciousness has come over the city fathers with respect to this item, as I tell you, and it is an accurate statement, that the city fathers of Philadelphia for months and months and months have directed their attention to far less important items in their appropriations than the maintenance of children. They have given preferential treatment to items of less importance than the maintenance of children, and if it be true that part of this emergency loan is intended for that purpose, then I say to this House that the city fathers of Philadelphia should long since have had the social consciousness that there were items in the budget of much less importance than the maintenance of children, who are taken into institutions on court order. That is no argument why this bill should be passed. Nor is it an argument that the city does not have sufficient money to pay the street lighting bills or street cleaning bills, or to pay the firemen or the city police. These are all duties of the city fathers who have not done them because they thought there would be a chance when this Legislature would convene, for them to come here, and under the guise of the extension of the emergency borrowing power enlarge their ordinary borrowing power.

Gentlemen, if you pass this bill you make a serious mistake for the citizens of Philadelphia. I ask you to defeat it.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I stand in accord with the two gentlemen from Philadelphia who have referred to the probability of an "axe to grind," and I say very frankly and fairly to the members of this House that when the gentleman from Philadelphia talks of the consciousness of the fathers of Philadelphia and uses the expression, "long since they should have done," then I say to you, gentlemen of Philadelphia, that it strikes me as rather peculiar, that down to and including the session of 1932 the gentlemen from Philadelphia talked with all the vitality, with all the ingeniousness and all of the ability that he had for the program of the fathers of the City of Philadelphia. And you men in this House, those of you who are new and those of you who are old, have a right to attack in their own mind the sincerity of the gentleman who until this very moment has been one of the strongest adherents of these measures.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will confine his remarks to the subject matter before the House and avoid personal reflections.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the question involved represents the sincerity of one who attacks a particular measure, and the question as to whether that attack is a proper or improper attack seems to me to revolve itself about whether or not the person who is attacking has on prior occasions upheld the actions of the fathers of Philadelphia, as he put it, and therefore, if prior to this legislative session, and if up until the session of 1932, the gentleman who now attacks this program has been an advocate of it then I say in my humble judgment it involves the present situation.

We had a situation in Philadelphia not so very long ago when the Talbot relief moneys were exhausted. They had to use money of the city of Philadelphia in order temporarily to provide this money. This emergency bill that you have before you, can be used for such unemployment relief and would be used for such unemployment relief. It doesn't say they shall borrow it, unless they need it, and members of this House, it won't be borrowed unless they need it. I say to you, members of this House, that the Child Welfare Work in Philadelphia has always been one of the most important councilmanic actions that were taken, and the insinuation that we have spent in Philadelphia time upon matters of less importance is an improper insinuation. The Child Welfare Department of Philadelphia is second to none in the State of Pennsylvania. They spend large sums of money, millions, if you please, to take care of our child welfare institutions, and every member of City Councils and the mayor of Philadelphia have exerted their utmost to maintain the high standards of the child Welfare work and the Child Welfare institutions have served notice upon Councils and have served notice upon the Mayor that unless this money is provided, as much as they want to, the Child Welfare institutions cannot go on. Is that an emergency, or is it not? I say this and the gentleman from Philadelphia has always said it was.

Members of this House, Philadelphia asks you to pass this bill, and I know you will.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, without voicing any undue criticism, I think that the discussion was wholly personal or entirely unnecessary.

I hold no brief for the county that I come from. I would to God that I were talented with gifts and graces superlative to such degree that she might find herself hiring and handing to me a commission or brief. Philadelphia needs no brief, or commission or advocate on this floor.

Down there in that neck of the woods where two millions of us live, we measure ourselves without faint glory as being about as good a two millions of people in a congested area anywhere on the face of the world, bar none. God-fearing, God-loving, church-going and self-respecting people.

I say to the members of this House that when the Councils of that two millions of people, which by the way is the best customer of the State of Pennsylvania, for all that this grand and glorious Keystone State produces, from the top of her fertile fields of Lancaster, from the bowels of the earth in the coal regions, where my friend Williams comes from, the lumber of Williamsport, her iron, her timber, her coal, her vegetables, her fruit of the farm, her mills, her foundries and her factories—Philadelphia from the very beginning, where liberty was cradled and where the nation had its being, we take pride, historic pride, an honest vanity and pride, in stating that the City of Philadelphia at all times is the best customer of the State of Pennsylvania in everything it produces. We are the nearest, the biggest and the greatest congested area in consuming what she produces.

Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of this House, the gentleman from Philadelphia, who gave parentage to this bill and stands as its sponsor, makes the honest, open, explanatory and clear statement that he did not father the bill, but stood sponsor for it, and that it is the child of necessity of the Councils of Philadelphia. I need not mention to any of the men that grace this floor, and many of them sat here with me in 1919, that Edwin R. Cox, who holds the reins as president of Councils, needs no apology from any man and no defense from any hand or from any mind or from any tongue.

Councils of Philadelphia are responsible in this crying situation which we are all going through, from the National government down, and God knows, and I say it reverently, this should not be a time for division, nor a time for criticism but a time for cohesion and conformity and brotherly affection and cooperation from the United States Congress down to this chamber.

I say to you my friends, that this bill comes from the Councils of Philadelphia. The man who sits at the head of Councils, Edwin R. Cox, is a genius in leadership, and was on the floor of this House for many years. He is responsible for the financial affairs of Philadelphia. He has love for every man, woman and child in the City of Philadelphia.

We have in Philadelphia a galaxy of papers that are second to none in brilliance, in perspective and in incisive and constructive criticism. I have yet to read, nor has any man in this State yet read, an adverse criticism that was printed in any one of these papers. He holds the admiration of every editor and writer in Philadelphia.

This bill has come into this House in the custody of Mr. Greenstein, my colleague from Philadelphia. I ask you, my friends, to give an honest, fair and proper consideration to this conclusion, that Council of the City of Philadelphia is responsible for its creation, responsible for making the bill and responsible for the just and deserved criticism that comes if they don't meet their obligations.

I ask you as a gesture of courtesy to Councils of Philadelphia to give this your vote. Philadelphia is a part of your great State, a great part of your great State; Philadelphia is no mean city and she has always met her obligation, and I do hope that those here that know Edwin R. Cox as a private citizen, as a public servant, as a man who stood and acted on the floor of this Legislature, that you will not vote adversely, and that you will forget the discussion. It is a bill of necessity. I ask you, inadequately, haltingly and vaguely perhaps, for your consideration of this measure, and I ask you to support it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for another day, for the opportunity of service, for the joy of our fellowship with each other as man to man. We pray Thee that Thou wouldst give unto us a realization of the priceless value of our friendship as men. Help us to realize that we can lose everything and it will amount to little if in life's darkest hours we keep our friends.

May Thy blessing be with these men as they go to their homes this week. May they find their loved ones in health and in strength. And after the rest at home bring them back again in health and strength to give themselves to the ser-

Bless us all here today, we ask in Thy Name, and for Christ's sake. Amen.

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1933.

Whereas, The amendment by Congress of the Volstead Act changing the definition of intoxicating liquor would allow the indiscriminate sale in this Commonwealth of brewed liquors of a higher alcoholic content than those sold; and

Whereas, Such sale of brewed liquor could result in the return of the salon unless proper legislation is passed to regulate and control the same; and

Whereas, The repeal of the eighteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States before the next regular session of this Legislature is possible; and

Whereas, Such repeal would find the Commonwealth unprepared to handle and regulate the resumption of the liquor traffic which would follow such repeal; and

Whereas, A careful study should immediately be made of the conditions that would most probably result and of the legislation that will be needed to most carefully guard the interests of the public and at the same time produce revenue for the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, If Congress should direct that the question of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment should be submitted to State Conventions legislation would be necessary in order to arrange for the election of delegates thereto and the holding thereof; therefore be it

Resolved, By the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (if the Senate concur), That a Liquor Law Revision Commission is hereby created consisting of seven members three of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House two by the President pro tempore of the Senate and two by the Governor of the Commonwealth whose duty shall be to make a careful study of (a) present and former liquor laws and their relation to present conditions and of the effect any modification of the Volstead Act or the repeal of the eighteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States would have upon them (b) the matter of revenue in connection with any change in the law regulating the manufacture sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages and (c) the manner of submitting amendments to the Constitution of the United States to constitutional conventions within the states and the election of delegates to such convention; and be it

Resolved, That said Commission shall as soon as possible report to this Legislature the result of its study and its recommendations together with drafts of bills intended to regulate the liquor traffic in case of the repeal of said eighteenth amendment to license and control the sale of brewed liquors in case of the modification of the Volstead Act to obtain from such regulation licensing and control the greatest possible amount of revenue for the Commonwealth and to provide for the holding of a constitutional convention if necessary for the consideration of proposed amendments to the Constitution of the United States submitted thereto by the Congress of the United States and for the election of delegates to such convention; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission shall report to the Legislature from time to time as it has completed its study of any of the matters referred to it by this resolution the results thereof so as to assist in the early passage of such legislation as may be deemed necessary

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 5, Printer's No. 55.

The Resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1933.

Whereas, The amendment by Congress of the Volstead Act changing the definition of intoxicating liquor would allow the indiscriminate sale in this Commonwealth of brewed liquors of a higher alcoholic content than those sold; and

Whereas, Such sale of brewed liquor could result in the return of the saloon unless proper legislation is passed to regulate and control the same; and

Whereas, The repeal of the eighteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States before the next regular session of this Legislature is possible; and

Whereas, Such repeal would find the Commonwealth unprepared to handle and regulate the resumption of the liquor traffic which would follow such repeal; and

Whereas, A careful study should immediately be made of the conditions that would most probably result, and of the legislation that will be needed to most carefully guard the interests of the public, and at the same time produce revenue for the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, If Congress should direct that the question of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment should be submitted to State Conventions, legislation would be necessary in order to arrange for the election of delegates thereto and the holding thereof; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (if the Senate concur), That a Liquor Law Revision Commission is hereby created consisting of seven members, three of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House, two by the President pro tempore of the Senate, and two by the Governor of the Commonwealth, whose duty shall be to make a careful study of (a) present and former liquor laws and their relation to present conditions, and of the effect any modification of the Volstead Act, or the repeal of the eighteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States would have upon them, (b) the matter of revenue in connection with any change in the law regulating the manufacture, sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages, and (c) the manner of submitting amendments to the Constitution of the United States to constitutional conventions within the states, and the election of delegates to such conventions; and be it

Resolved, That said Commission shall, as soon as possible, report to this Legislature the result of its study and its recommendations, together with drafts of bills intended to regulate the liquor traffic in case of the repeal of the said eighteenth amendment, to license and control the sale of brewed liquors in case of the modification of the Volstead Act, to obtain from such regulation, licensing and control, the greatest possible amount of revenue for the Commonwealth, and to provide for the holding of a constitutional convention if necessary for the consideration of proposed amendments to the Constitution of the United States and for the election of delegates to such conventions; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission shall report to the Legislature, from time to time, as it has completed its study of any of the matters referred to it by this resolution, the results thereof, so as to assist in the early passage of such legislation as may be deemed necessary.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the Resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RHODES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman if he will explain this Resolution to the House.

Mr. RHODES. I shall be very glad to give the explanation, Mr. Speaker. The resolution, in my opinion, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, is very specific in what it proposes to accomplish and I feel that anybody who has read it can certainly comprehend it.

Unquestionably the Volstead Act will be amended, either in this Congress or in the next. There is likewise a possibility that in the immediate future the 18th Amendment will be repealed. The purpose of my Resolution is to anticipate these actions. Likewise, it will probably be necessary to repeal the Snyder-Armstrong Act of this State at the proper time, and it is with the thought in mind of not finding ourselves in an embarrassing position when Congress may act on this liquor question that this resolution has been prepared and introduced, with the idea that a commission might be appointed to study the situation in the event that the Volstead Act is repealed. Second, to prepare and suggest the necessary legislation in the event of the repeal of the 18th Amendment. Third, prepare the necessary legislation in the event that the submission of the 18th Amendment shall be taken up at Conventions of the various states.

Furthermore, this is not a wet and dry proposition. It seems to me that this is a constructive move, it is not a negative move. It seems to me further that if they do repeal these various acts that we are only taking a negative attitude. As a matter of fact this move is only precautionary, non-political and certainly has no relation to the controversial question of wet or dry.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, if you will turn to page 2 of the Resolution you will find that the Resolution provides for the appointment of a commission; three members to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, two members to be appointed by the President Pro Tem of the Senate and two by the Governor.

Now, I don't know what my former instruction in the schools was worth but I always taught that our form of government includes three branches, the Legislative, Executive and Judiciary. Really the principal effect of this Resolution appears to be right, but I cannot for the life of me see why the Governor should be permitted to appoint somebody to prepare legislation for this House and the Senate. It seems to me that the prerogative of preparing and passing legislation is with this House and the Senate and not with the Governor and the thought in my mind is that we should hold on to our prerogatives.

Why should the Governor be consulted in the preparation of legislation? My friend says that it is not a wet and dry issue. I cannot see anything else to it. You are either wet or dry, and if you are a wet do you want the Governor to prepare your bills? I ask you to vote "No" on this proposition.

Mr. PHILIP STERLING. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, the remarks of my friend from Philadelphia make necessary a further statement on the question.

His reference as to whether or not the Executive of this Commonwealth, or any other Commonwealth, should have the appointing power of members to a commission to study legislation raises immediately that old, time-worn question of the separation of powers, by which I mean the separation as between the Executive and the Legislative branches of the government. There is no question but that the Legislature must at all times adhere to its constitutional rights; there is no question but that the Legislature must at all times within the bounds of reasonableness and practicability maintain its independent position on the law making processes of the Commonwealth. But the fact remains that no Legislature ever passes a bill but which, before it becomes a law, must not be approved or disapproved by the Executive branch of the government. This is commonly known as the principle of checks and balances.

It seems to me that any commission appointed to study any question involving legislative matters of necessity, in order to be practical, must have upon it appointees of the Executive, in order that there may be such co-ordination of thought that the work of that commission will not become useless.

My friend from Monroe has said to this House that the Resolution does not raise the question of whether or not we are wet or dry, whether we are sympathizers with the wet side or the dry side, and that statement is as correct as it can be. This is a precautionary measure. If Congress should amend the Volstead Act or if ultimately the States will repeal the 18th Amendment, and this Commonwealth does not have upon its book legislation which will take care of the Commonwealth and its citizens, we might well then be classed, with the remarks of the gentleman who some time ago in Congress classified certain states as "backward states."

I recommend most highly that this Resolution have the approval of the House this morning.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I realize that this is a government of checks and balances, and I realize that a lot of former members of this House are not back here because they lost their balance. When it comes time to provide legislation on the wet and dry issue I, for one, am not going to trust myself to the drys to draw it. My friend from Monroe County, I don't remember of his ever voting wet. He didn't lose his balance, but many like him did.

I ask this House to go on record as not willing to pass this Resolution and using it as an alibi for defeating in a few days the repealer of the Snyder-Armstrong Act. I ask this House to go on record in accordance with the mandate of the people at the last election. If we are wet we are going to vote wet and provide legislation in accordance with the people's ideas, and I ask you to vote "No" on this Resolution.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia. Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RHODES. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia recall that within the last few weeks the Assembly of the State of New York passed a similar resolution without a dissenting vote and authorized the Governor of that State to appoint the entire commission, providing for the very same things as are set forth in this Resolution?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I would give great weight to that action if I thought that the Republicans of the great State of New York were the followers of Al Smith or I thought that they were controlled by his influence.

Mr. RHODES. Does the gentleman recall that when a similar resolution was before the Assembly of New York that the Republicans voted for it unanimously, whether they were wet or dry?

Mr. SOWERS. In reply to the question of my friend, I think I have been a little practical in my politics. The Governor of New York is wet, the Governor of Pennsylvania, everybody knows that he is dry.

Mr. RHODES. Would the gentleman from Philadelphia be satisfied to have the Governor appoint the whole commission, provided he was wet.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I don't think the Governor will ever get wet.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, that does not answer my question.

Mr. SOWERS. Well, Mr. Speaker, if he were wet I might have some confidence in him.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Rhodes and Mr. Flinchbaugh, and were as follows:

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Resolution of January 11, 1933.

This resolution memorializes the Congress of the United States to refrain from taking immediate action for the purpose of economy or for any other purpose which will further decrease the strength and effectiveness of the armed forces of the United States and the several states thereof.

It is no more appropriate for the Legislature of Pennsylvania to take action upon questions which are distinctively Federal than it would be for the Congress of the United States to attempt to advise the Legislature of Pennsylvania what measures it should pass and what measures it should reject. For this reason the resolution is not approved, and

Whereas, The technical position taken by the Governor is difficult to understand in view of the signing by him, during his prior administration of a number of resolutions memorializing Congress and other Federal agencies to do or refrain from doing things entirely under Federal supervisions and control; and

Whereas, The Senate resolution is of such nature as has been held by the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth and by prior Attorney Generals, not to require executive approval; and

Whereas, The resolution in question was prepared by, and introduced at the request of, the combined legislative committees of the following organizations:

- Grand Army of the Republic,
- Disabled American Veterans of the World War,
- Veterans of Foreign Wars,

American Legion; and

Whereas, It is suggested that the members of such organizations are perhaps best qualified to realize the horrors of war and of the national dangers and suffering attendant upon being, because of unpreparedness, thrust unprepared into war; and

Whereas, The said resolution has not been forwarded as directed, because of the unfavorable action of the Governor, to the Congress of the United States and the members from Pennsylvania therein; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Chief Clerk of the Senate is hereby directed to forward to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania therein, a copy, properly attested by the Chief Clerk of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, and without the message of His Excellency, the Governor withholding his approval thereto, of Senate Resolution Serial No. 104, which reads as follows:

Whereas, The present Congress of the United States is considering under the guise of economy, the radical cutting of appropriations for the support of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps of the United States and of the National Guard of the several States; and

Whereas, The Army is at present pitifully insufficient for the defense of our mainland without regard for our insular possessions; and

Whereas, The Navy is far below the standard decided upon as necessary for the safety of the United States and agreed to by the Powers in a far less unsettled time; and

Whereas, The Marine Corps although small has proven for more than a century the most mobile and effective police force in any National or international emergency this Nation has ever had; and

Whereas, Through Federal aid and supervision the National Guard has risen to a point of efficiency heretofore unknown; and

Whereas, No reasoning person can believe in pacific safety in the face of existing facts. Every peace pact, treaty, or league of Nation action has proven and is at present proving futile and useless to turn any Nation from a policy of aggrandisement; and

Whereas, Events within the last twenty years have grown the futility of preserving the neutrality of the United States in the event of a Major conflict; and

Whereas, The existing National and international debts are the result of past unpreparedness, and the existing brawl over the collection thereof, the result of present unpreparedness; and

Whereas, The voice of the United States in the interests of universal peace is respected only in proportion to its existing and active power; and

Whereas, The effects of the present economic chaos on the governments of the world have conclusively proven that only strong, well sustained governments can survive; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives of the 1933 Session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the present Congress of the United States to refrain from taking any action for the purpose of economy or other purpose that will further decrease the strength and effectiveness of the armed forces of the United States and the several States thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania therein.

The Chaplain Rev. George F. Conner offered the following prayer:

Almighty God our Heavenly Father we thank Thee for this good day and for the right use of mind and body.

We thank Thee for the memory of great men and women, who in times past have wrought mightily in the affairs of our state and nation. We remember at this time the immortal Lincoln, and take courage. Thou did'st sustain him and his coadjutors thru those tragic times when the tides of conflict rolled thru fearful days of devastating death across the hills, valleys and plains of our state, until at Gettysburg he bade the battles cease.

Today millions of our citizens are weary, worn and beaten; They hope and pray with bated breath as this Legislature attacks anew the unprecedented problems of State.

Lift up our hearts; bind up the broken spirits; speed us to worthy goals, and out of these troubled times may there come a wholesome and blessed discipline for our souls. Amen.

APPROVAL OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 9

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 10, 1933.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Resolution No. 9, Printer's No. 15.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Rhodes on account of illness.

RESOLUTION NO. 24

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 24, Printer's No. 57.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1933.

Whereas, The Snyder-Armstrong Prohibition Law accepts the definition of intoxicating liquors contained in the Federal Prohibition (Volstead) Law, and consequently any modification of the Federal Law legalizing certain beverages becomes immediately effective in Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, If Congress should modify the Federal Law or if the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed at a time when the Legislature of Pennsylvania is not in session, the State would be without adequate laws to regulate the manufacture, sale and traffic in alcoholic liquors; and

Whereas, It is necessary that legislation be framed in anticipation of any action which may be taken by the Federal Government and it is important and proper that such legislation be framed in the Legislative Halls for the greatest benefit of the State and not by groups representing particular interests; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a special committee consisting of eleven Members of the House of Representatives, which committee is hereby instructed to draft, with the aid of the Legislative Reference Bureau, a bill to be offered in the House of Representatives for the purpose of enabling the State to regulate the manufacture, sale and traffic in alcoholic liquors in case the Federal Law or the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is modified or repealed, and to enable the State to collect revenue from any business which may be thus established as a result of any change in the Federal Laws;

Resolved, That said committee, upon the completion of said draft, caused said bill to be introduced for the consideration of the House of Representatives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RESOLUTION NO. 16

Mr. JOHN J. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 16, Printer's No. 26.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 30, 1933.

Whereas, More than twelve years of trial have demonstrated the unworkability of National Prohibition thereby confirming the universal experience of mankind that all governmental functions must find their sanction in the popular will and approval and

Whereas, At the November elections the American people by unprecedented pluralities registered an unmistakable protest against the present system of National Prohibition and joined in the demand of the Democratic Party for immediate repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and

Whereas, Further delay in remedial measures can result only in further confusion of political issues hinder economic recovery break down all party responsibility and foster distrust in our representative form of government therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives the Senate concurring that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to heed the clearly expressed mandate of the American people and forthwith to propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States repealing the Eighteenth Amendment thereto the mode of ratification of the same to be by conventions called in the several states and composed of persons elected on no question other than the repeal or retention of the Eighteenth Amendment and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to the President of the Senate of the United States

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Law and Order.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JOHN J. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to refer this resolution to the Committee on Law and Order.

I believe that this is a question that should be decided by the Representatives in open session. I have respect for the members of the Law and Order Committee but I think the motion is going to pass responsibility that rightly belongs to the Representatives in this House. The question of the Eighteenth Amendment is one of the outstanding questions in the country today, and every Representatives I believe is in a position to decide, or should be in position to decide in open session his opinions on this question.

I, therefore, ask that this motion be voted down and action taken on the resolution.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, the resolution before you is Resolution No. 16, Printer's No. 26. Ordinarily I would be one hundred percent for the resolution, but it appears to me that the resolution is really a bill and ought to start by being referred to the Constitutional Amendments Committee. A similar resolution was offered by me and has gone to that Committee. In other words, it is not a resolution that you simply pass on the floor, it is really a bill.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason why this resolution should be referred to any committee. We have repeatedly passed one resolution after the other memorializing the Congress of the United States to do this, that or the other thing. This resolution is exactly in line with many of the other resolutions that we have passed in the present session, and I don't see any reason whatever why this House should not act upon this resolution itself. There exists no good reason whatever why this resolution should be referred to the Law and Order Committee, and I oppose such a motion.

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Lenahan and Mr. John J. Kane, were as follows:

URGING DEPARTMENTS TO "BUY AMERICAN"

Mr. McELWEE offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1933.

Whereas, The people of the United States have become impressed with the thought that the purchase of foreign made wares is not for the best interests of our Country even though they seem to be cheaper than those that are American made, and

Whereas, For the purpose of bringing the importance of this matter to the people generally, there has been started and largely advertised a movement known as the "Buy American" movement, and

Whereas, There are in this Commonwealth numerous departments, bureaus, agencies and institutions which purchase large quantities of manufactured wares, which, if purchased from American manufacturers, would tend to stimulate American business and relieve the existing industrial depression.

Now, Therefore, Be it resolved that it is the opinion of this House of Representatives that all departments, bureaus, agencies and institutions of this Commonwealth or to which money of this Commonwealth is appropriated by the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, should buy only wares and manufactured merchandise that are manufactured by American manufacturers.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS AGAINST REDUCTION OF PENSIONS

Mr. GEORGE E. DOWNEY offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1933.

Whereas, There is a movement among certain organizations, of National membership, to reduce or entirely cut off the pensions of those men who served in the Army, Marine Corps and the Navy during the Spanish-American War, the Philippine Insurrection and the China Relief Expedition; and

Whereas, A joint committee was appointed at the first session of the present Congress to investigate the compensation paid veteran soldiers, their widows and minor orphan children of the veterans of the Spanish-American War, Philippine Insurrection and the China Relief Expedition; and

Whereas, The living veterans of these wars have now attained an average age of more than sixty years; and

Whereas, A large percentage of them would become public charges should their pensions be discontinued; and

Whereas, The compensation received by these veterans averages only forty-one dollars ($41) per month; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize Congress of the United States against any reduction of pensions for the veterans of the Spanish-American War, the Philippine Insurrection of the China Relief Expedition, their widows and minor orphan children;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of the United States.

RESOLUTION No. 19

Mr. ROAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to recall up at this time Resolution No. 19, Printer's No. 35.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1933.

Whereas, Depreciated currencies and low wages in many foreign countries are permitting the flooding of this Commonwealth with foreign goods; and

Whereas, The importation of these goods in excessive quantities is extremely harmful to Pennsylvania industries, and seriously increases the difficulties of our citizens in finding remunerative labor therein; and

Whereas, The American Patriotic League has been organized as a non-sectarian, non-partisan, non-profit-seeking and patriotic corporation under the laws of this Commonwealth for the purpose of encouraging the purchase of goods in our own country, employing the services of citizens of our own country, and for other good and patriotic purposes; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives endorse this corporation, commend its purposes, and recommend the participation of the citizens of this Commonwealth in its activities and membership.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this resolution because it is a thing that should never be adopted and would set a harmful precedent. The Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania can't afford to endorse or ask the people to participate in any organization. We are giving away entirely too much and we are opening the doors too wide in legislation action of this kind. I oppose this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SENATE

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, your committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and escort that body to the Hall of the House, has performed that duty and reports that the Senate is in attendance.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

The President of the Senate is invited to preside over the Joint Session of the General Assembly and the President Pro Tempore is invited to a seat on the rostrum. The members of the Senate will be seated in the chairs provided for them in the front of the House.

JOINT SESSION

Lieutenant-Governor EDWARD C. SHANNON in the Chair.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SHANNON. The General Assembly will be in order.

The exercises will be opened by prayer by the Chaplain of the Senate, Rev. George P. Donehoo.

The Rev. George P. Donehoo, Chaplain of the Senate, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Thou creator of all men, Thou Ruler of all things, we thank Thee tonight for Abraham Lincoln. For his honesty and sincerity of soul; for his self sacrificing life. We thank Thee for his memory, for all that he means to the men and young people of this land. In this hour of darkness help us to remember Him and what He was, and seek to emulate his honesty and uprightness of character.

Bless our nation; bless this Commonwealth; bless us all we ask in Thy name. Amen.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SHANNON. The gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Zimmerman, will read Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new Nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to this unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SHANNON. The Chair recognizes the Senator from Cumberland, Dr. Prince, who will now address the Assembly.

Mr. PRINCE: I have always thought that Macauley, Carlyle and Emerson were right in interpreting history in terms of personality. It is men that make history and not impersonal events and forces. Every institution is the lengthened shadow of a man. You can write six cyphers across a blackboard and the last will represent no higher value than the first, but put the figure one before them and you have a million. That is what the great man does in history, gathers up innumerable nonentities, molds them into form, and swings them into action for the accomplishment of the purposes of genius. Personality is the greatest fact in history. Without it there would be no history, only a dull, colorless succession of one meaningless thing after another.

The Nineteenth Century produced in Europe Napoleon, the younger Pitt, Beaconsfield, Bismarck, Cavour, Gladstone; in the United States, Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Jackson, Grant; but Lincoln overtops them all. When St. Gaudens' statue was placed in Canning Enclosure, Westminster, Lord Bryce said, "He is ours almost as he is America's. We honor him for what he did and for the meaning which his life has had for our country, for our common English speaking people, and for the world."

Like Washington, Lincoln was not a product of the schools. His Alma Mater was the University of Hard Knocks whose colors are black and blue, and whose diploma is after all about the only one that is worth very much. Lincoln was a better read man than Washington, who read little if at all beyond works on agriculture. Herndon, his law partner, said of Lincoln that he read less and thought more than any other man of his day and generation. Lincoln himself said that he borrowed and read every book that he could find for fifty miles around. How fortunate that he was not exposed to modern fiction! His book education was derived from six volumes; the Bible, Pilgrim's Progress, Aesop's Fables, Weems' Life of Washington, a one-volume of the History of the United States, and one law book. To these he later added a knowledge of Shakespeare and Burns. Barring Weems' Life of Washington, which is mainly fiction, he could hardly have made a better selection within that limited compass.

Like Washington, Lincoln was a man of great physical power. He was so strong that he could lift a barrel of whiskey by the chimes and drink out of the bung hole—but he didn't drink.

Like Washington, he was not very much of a ladies' man. His mother exerted a molding influence on his life, but his wife none at all. Nicolay and Hay, his official biographers, do not so much as mention the name of Mary Todd Lincoln. Speaking of Anne Rutledge to William B. Green, his friend, Lincoln said, "my heart is the grave with her."

He was a thoroughly human man. The ingenuous and modest disparagement of his virtues inscribed by his own hand on the fly leaf of a Bible, might be copied today with entire honesty by most of us: "Abraham Lincoln, his book and pen,

He will be good, but God knows when."

One of the blessed endowments of the human mind is that philosophic sense of humor which savors adversity to enduring flavor. Without it a man is apt to take his work and himself too seriously, particularly himself. To the egotist the last is impossible, which is perhaps the reason why the egotist is never a humorist. The best you can do for a man who is devoid of this invaluable quality is to feel sorry for him.

The burdened heart of Lincoln often found relief in comic stories, sometimes told to illustrate a really somber phase of his own serious problems. He told such a story at a Cabinet meeting during the dark days of the war. One of the members frowningly remarked to him, "Mr. President, I don't see how you can tell a story at a time like this." Looking him straight in the face the President replied, "Mr. Secretary, I have no manner of doubt that I carry this thing many times heavier than all of you put together. But for these stories I would die."

A correspondent urged the appointment of a certain candidate to office. The President wrote, "I saw your friend, but as I have not much influence with this administration, I sent him to Chase who told him to go to the Devil, and the fellow came back to me."

As President he was besieged with the usual horde of job hunters. To one of the most unpromising he told this story:

"Once upon a time there was a king who was very fond of hunting, but before going on an expedition he would consult his magician to get a prognostication of the weather. One very fine morning the magician told him it would be a splendid day, and to go ahead. So he started out. On the way through the forest he met a peasant driving a donkey. The peasant said 'Oh, Great King, turn back for a storm is brewing.' The King said 'I guess not. My magician has assured me that we shall have fine weather.' Said the peasant 'When my donkey turns his ears forward it means a storm.' The King went on his way, and after a while was overtaken by a terrific storm. On his return he dismissed the magician and substituted a donkey.” “And,” said the President, “From that day to this every jackass in the country has been seeking office.”

We hear a great deal about Lincoln's honesty, but it was much more than the mere commercial integrity of the man who refrains from cheating his creditors, or the stricter literalness of the man who never tells a lie. Lincoln was intellectually honest. He wanted to know the truth, the highest trait of the human mind. The intellectually dishonest man, the man with a closed mind, says “I know, but whether I know or not I will not be shown.” The intellectually honest man, the man with an open mind says “I think I am right, but I may be mistaken.”

The possession of this quality, together with his magnanimity and his uncommon sense, makes Abraham Lincoln tower head and shoulders above the average of the human race.

After General Grant returned from his tour around the world he was asked if he had met many great men. “Yes” said he, “I met four, Gladstone, Bismarck, Gambetta and Li Hung Chang of China, but Abraham Lincoln was the greatest intellectual force I ever encountered.”

If George Washington is the most illustrious human embodiment of disinterested, unselfish public service, Abraham Lincoln is the supreme example of common sense idealism. Now idealism is of two kinds: visionary and practical. The visionary idealist is wedded to a means; the practical idealist looks to the end. The visionary idealist stresses nonessentials. The practical idealist sees and grasps only essentials.

When the abolitionists demanded the immediate emancipation of the slaves, a preposterous and impossible proposal at that time, Lincoln said, “I would save the Union; I would save it the shortest way under the constitution. If there be those who would not save the Union unless they could at the same time save slavery, I do not agree with them. If there be those who would not save the Union unless they could at the same time destroy slavery, I do not agree with them. My paramount object in this struggle is to save the Union and is not either to save or to destroy slavery. If I could save the Union without freeing any slave I would do it; and if I could save it by freeing all the slaves I would do it, and if I could save it by freeing some and leaving others alone, I would also do that. What I do about slavery and the colored race I do because I believe it helps to save the Union, and what I forbear, I forbear because I do not believe it would help to save the Union. I shall do less whenever I shall believe that what I am doing hurts the cause, and I shall do more whenever I shall believe that doing more will help the cause.”

Lincoln realized that the Union was the keystone of the arch; if that fell master, slave and emancipator alike would be buried in the universal ruin; but with the Union the time must come, sooner or later, when to the freedom of the white man would be added the freedom of the black. The abolitionist saw only one thing, and so missed the essential thing—the Union—they could not see that the Union was indispensable to the liberty of the white race, and was to be the savior of both peoples.

The eminently practical problem of reconstruction was muddled with abstractions and legal and metaphysical subtleties. Lincoln brushed them all aside. He said “The seceding states are out of their proper relations with the Union. The paramount object of statesmanship is to get them back into their proper relations with the Union.” Hence the ten percent governments.

The Civil War is an impressive illustration of the great American folly of unpreparedness. The trouble with us is that we reply too much on a sort of providential favoritism which will enable us when the time comes to create, equip, drill and mobilize an army, and assemble resources between sunrise and dark. The average American has the idea that Uncle Sam can lick the world with one hand tied behind his back, and then not half try. That is what the North thought about the South in 1861, and that is what the South thought about the North. Had we had forces adequate to our needs, the Union might have been vindicated without those four excruciating years of waste and slaughter that wrung the pockets of the poor, and exacted from the splendid heroism of the nation that fearful toll of life that laid the land under the pall of mourning and under the tribute of death.

Unlike Washington, Lincoln was ambitious. Washington did not want to be president. Lincoln was determined to be president. Now, ambition needs no apology.

When Roosevelt—Theodore—after graduating from Harvard College made up his mind to enter politics by running for the Assembly from the silk stocking district in New York. His family were horrified. They said “Oh! Theodore, how can you do such a dreadful thing! Just think of all the horrid people you will have to associate with, ward-healers, saloon-keepers, bartenders! It is terrible. You will disgrace the family,” Theodore said, “If these people are as important as you say they are, they are the ruling class, and I am going to belong to the ruling class.”

Lincoln was an office seeker from the day he turned twenty-one until he was re-elected President of the United States in 1864. But both Lincoln and Roosevelt left the country better than they found it.

St. Paul said “If a man desireth the office of a bishop he desireth a good thing,” but read a little farther and see what qualifications St. Paul says that a man ought to possess who desires to be a bishop. They don't always measure up to qualifications. But that is because of politics, and believe me the ecclesiastical politician can teach the civil politician tricks in his own trade.

But if Lincoln was ambitious, if he wanted to be first in the land, it was because he wanted to be in the position for which his talents fitted him and where he could do the most good.

The acid test of character is power. Most men can stand adversity. It is easy for the meek to be merciful, for the timid to be gentle, but if you want to know what a man really is, give him power. Few individuals and no institution can resist its allurements. It is to the everlasting credit of Abraham Lincoln that having power he used it mercifully, and was not misled or seduced by high station, wide influence, popularity or flattery. He stayed natural; he didn't pose for effect, he did not put on airs, he had no self-consciousness, no vain-glory. He was confronted as is every man in public life, by the necessity of choice, between that spirit of self-exaltation which pursues the prizes of industrial power, of political office, of professional skill, or social station, solely for what he can get out of them, and that spirit of self-subordination, which whether in weakness or in strength, whether in poverty or in wealth, whether in obscurity or prominence, whether in failure or success, seeks first acquaintance with the world's need, so that the world may find him sustaining help and inspiration. Herein lies the greatness of Abraham Lincoln.

Under the theocratic institutions of Ancient Israel, certain days were set apart by divine ordination and dedicated to special services, as a perpetual influence upon national character. The custom rested in the nature of man, and it became universal. So we do well on these natal days of the great to traverse the gallery of our national history and gather up and drink in the inspiration that distills from the contemplation of illustrious examples and the recital of immortal deeds. There is no influence so strong to lift and direct the national ideals as the power of great example. Carthage sought her inspiration in markets, and produced millionaires; Greece, in statues, theaters, and academies, and produced artists, dramatists, philosophers; Rome, in battlefields and codes, and produced lawgivers and soldiers; Prussia drew hers from Frederick the Great and Bismarck and bred a race of militarists. Let America revive and emulate Abraham Lincoln, and America will produce humanitarians, practical idealists, Christian citizens, patriotic statesmen; for as a nation, we shall go withersoever our gaze is fixed.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR SHANNON. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Holmes.

Mr. JOHN L. HOLMES. Mr. President, members of the General Assembly, ladies and gentlemen:

I think it is entirely fitting and proper that we should pause a little while in our deliberations on this one hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the birth of that outstanding American citizen, Abraham Lincoln, and pay due tribute to his memory.

We are familiar with the change of judgments in our own history, go back three-fourths of a century and read the old files of magazines and papers. We find upon the tongues of the people many names which are strange to our ears; political leaders whose political fortunes our fathers followed with enthusiasm scarcely got their names put down in history at all. What does the average school boy know about Marcy, Wise, Cass, Bell, Breckenridge or Seymour? Even Stephen A. Douglass is remembered only because of his great opponent. These men in the days of our fathers held the center of the stage, they were going to be presidents of the United States, and to them men expected their children to build monuments.

Take even the far greater men whose places in posterity seemed certain: Calhoun, Clay and Webster, their glory is but the glory of a departing greatness. Daniel Webster was the greatest orator America ever produced. He was the master builder of this nation, he ruled New England like a god and yet Daniel Webster's place in history has been a lessening place. While he lived, men called him a giant.

In those days there came to the front another statesman. He had no family tree, he did not belong to a score of societies and wear a medal on his breast for each one of them all blazing with purple, gold and scarlet. Like a good many of us who ought to count it not the least of our mercies that we cannot go back much farther than our great grandfathers. Blood will tell but it does not tell all. This new statesman was only a poor mountain white, he was a backwoods lawyer, he had never been heard of in the East until he matched swords with the little giant of democracy. When men voted for him for President, they voted for a hope. When they saw him, they saw no beauty in him that we should desire of him. He came to his inauguration like a thief in the night, his enemies set him down for a demagogue and his friends called him an accident. No man ever knew Abraham Lincoln while he lived but now that he is dead and the passions that obscured him scattered, he looms up by the side of Washington and all the world bearing witness, he is pronounced the greatest man of his century.

It is very common, for the verdict of history reverses the judgment of contemporaries; and the world rarely recognizes its great men while they are alive. What is the principal of time's selection, what is the true test of greatness, what is the secret of renown, why is it that possessing that one quality no poverty can obscure, no obscurity can hide and why is it that without that secret no wealth, no kingship, no fame can keep man's memory alive? Man may guess, man may experiment but as usual someone knows. Does it not appear that at that critical time in the history of this nation God selected a man, not trained in one of the great universities of our land but trained in the university of poverty, obscurity, sorrow, adversity and trial, and sent him forth to be the saviour of the nation.

The story of the life of Abraham Lincoln sounds more like romance than reality. It is more like a fable of ancient days than a story of a plain American of the nineteenth century. The trials in the life of our martyred President surrounds him with an interest which attaches to few men in history. He sprang from that large class which he always alluded to as "plain people," and he never attempted to claim superiority to them. He believed that government was made for the people and not the people for the government. He felt that the government was like a torch in the hands of the people, the more it is shaken in the hands of the people, the brighter it will burn. He might well have said to those who chanced to sneer at his humble origin what a marshall of France, raised from the ranks, said to the haughty nobles of Vienna boasting of their long line of descent when they refused to associate with him: "I am an ancestor, you are only descendants." Lincoln was never guilty of any posing for effect or any dogmatism which Johnson stated should be called "puppyism grown to maturity." He made no pretense to knowledge he did not possess. He felt that show in learning is like hypocrisy in religion. He had nothing in common with men educated beyond their intellects. The simplicity of his public utterances was shown in his first public speech made in New Salem as an independent candidate for the Legislature: "Fellow citizens, I presume you know who I am. I am humble Abraham Lincoln. I have been asked by many of my friends to become a candidate for the Legislature. My policies can be briefly stated. I am in favor of the internal improvement system and of a high protective tariff. These are my sentiments and public principles, and if elected, I shall be thankful, if not, it will be all the same." Then again, you have an example of his simplicity when in November, 1863, when he came to this State with his party to assist at the consecration of the National Cemetery at Gettysburg. He knew that there was a speech to be made on the morrow to thousands who would expect their President to say something worth while, he knew his own limitations, it was he of whom much was expected. He glanced across the car and saw Edward Everett, the main orator of the following day, the finished gentleman, the careful student, the heir of tradition of learning, a real scholar. Mr. Lincoln knew that the people had a right to the best that was in him and he resolved to give them his best. He was determined not to exhaust their patience. His address was to be short and rich in meaning, why not prepare it now on the way? He fumbled in his pockets and finally found a broken pencil, he had no paper, he glanced about for paper, the Secretary of State, Mr. Seward, had just opened a package of books, the wrappings of brown paper lay on the floor. Mr. Lincoln picked up a piece of this brown paper and said: "Mr. Seward, may I have this, I wish to do a little writing?" The Secretary protested, and insisted on finding him better material. He wrote his speech on the brown paper. Each word and sentence had the marks of sincerity and broad vision. He had no thought of rhetoric or oratory. On the next day, he listened to Mr. Everett deliver his wonderful address, holding the audience spell-bound for two hours, and at its close he heard a storm of applause. Silently and slowly Mr. Lincoln stepped forward on the platform showing the tremendous burden that rested upon him. His first few sentences were spoken in a low tone but gradually his tones had gathered volume. He had come to his power and dignity, there was no smile now on the faces of those who listened. People stopped breathing, rather as they feared of missing a word. He delivered his address, thought he had failed, but that address has gone down in history as a literary gem. No pen can do justice to Lincoln for the whole world never knew of his trials. During his administration he never knew a minute free from anxiety, each day he faced new problems and finding no precedent to aid him in its solution, he acted in accordance with his own good common sense, and proved equal to every emergency. He was slow to arrive at conclusions but when deliberations gave birth to convictions, he did not falter, he strove for the right. His oratory commanded instant, respectful attention, appealed to reason and carried conviction to the hearts of his hearers. He valued public opinion for he said: "With public sentiment, nothing can fail. He who molds public sentiment goes deeper than he who makes laws or pronounces decisions." Public criticisms never annoyed him. He was not adverse to taking counsel with the humblest among men. It was love of country, not selfish ambition, that turned his attention to public life and towards the end of his administration he was rewarded by absolute confidence and respect for his honesty and singleness of aim. His administration stands as a guide post for the centuries set by the eternal as a dividing line between surfdum of the past and the freedom of the future. His monument stands as the altar of the nation's fame and his name will live to guide the world to that future of which he caught a glimpse when he said: "Sometimes when I am speaking, I feel that the time will surely come when the sun shall shine and the rain shall fall on no man who shall go forward to unrequited toil. How it will come, when it will come, I cannot tell, but it will surely come."

To Lincoln issues were bigger than personality. Note these lines from the Douglass Debate: "Think nothing of me, take no thought for the political fate of any man whatsoever but come back to the truths that are in the Declaration of Independence. You can do anything you choose with me if you will but heed these sacred principles. I charge you to drop that petty and insignificant thought of any man's success. It is nothing, I am nothing, Judge Douglass is nothing, but do not destroy the immortal emblem of humanity, the Declaration of Independence."

Lincoln was a religious man, a man of great faith, he believed in God, he believed in Christ, he believed in the Bible, he believed in Prayer, he believed in the Christian Sunday, he believed in temperance; he was a regular attendant at divine worship. In one of his addresses he expressed his sympathy with the church in these words: "God bless all the churches, blessed be God who in this great trial giveth us churches."

In closing, let us pay tribute to the spirit of Lincoln in the words of Alexander Dunbar: "May it live forever to fan the fires of patriotism in the America that now is and is to come. May his gentleness teach us that stern measures are the first resort for the weak and the last resort for the strong. May his kindness inspire more of this noble quality in us, may his wisdom season our judgment, may his strength give us courage to see the right done without the recounting of costs and may his goodness be so emulated that this nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom and that the government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SHANNON. The Joint Assembly will now adjourn with this benediction: Abraham Lincoln, his soul goes marching on.

The Senators will please reassemble in the Senate Chamber.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 13, 1933.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly, I should like to address the Members in Joint session tomorrow, Tuesday, February 14, 1933.

I shall be glad to have you fix the hour to suit your convenience.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Governor be invited to address the House tomorrow, Tuesday, February 14, at such time as may be fixed later.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE TO FORMULATE PROGRAM OF LEGISLATION

Mr. MALINA asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1933.

Whereas, This Legislature has been in Session for a period of six weeks and to this time has accomplished nothing; and

Whereas, The sudden drop in temperature throughout the State, the unusual fall of snow, and the prolonged cold spell have added greatly to the suffering and misery of those unfortunates who, through no fault of their own, are without means of support; and

Whereas, Without any outstanding or adequate leadership, the Members find among the countless number of bills presented no semblance of a plan for affording proper relief to the unemployed, and to this time, no plan has been suggested which has any responsible backing or any assurance of enactment; and

Whereas, A conference of Members of the Legislature and the Governor which would be marked by an absence of any idea of political capital for either but with the idea only of promoting the public good, might bring about results which would give us a program and afford those who suffer some ray of hope; and

Whereas, This should be done at once in order to avoid the threatened appearance here of large numbers of organized unemployed to the great danger of the citizens of the Commonwealth and especially those of the City of Harrisburg; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a committee of three, two of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House, and one by the President pro tempore of the Senate, shall concur at once with the Governor for the purpose of discussing the present intolerable condition and endeavoring to agree upon some program of legislation which will guarantee to the people of the Commonwealth adequate relief for the unemployed and afford protection to all its citizens; and be it further

Resolved, That this committee shall report to the Legislature not later than Monday, February 20th, the result of its conference, and accompany its report with such legislations as is proposed for enactment as a result thereof.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHUGARTS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHUGARTS. Mr. Speaker, on February 8, on House Bill No. 374 (Page 527 of the Legislative Journal) I am recorded as not having voted. I was present and distinctly voted "Aye."

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be noted in the record.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 11.00 o'clock.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11.03 P. M.) the House adjourned until tomorrow morning at 11.00 o'clock.

HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1933.

No. 19

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 14, 1933

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the light of another day. Help us to realize that some days must be dark and dreary, and that in facing them we must realize that we are making a mistake in thinking so much about what we have and what we have lost. Help us to think of what we are and what we have. Every day as it comes help us to remember that we have untold riches and face untold blessings, that we have the greatest hopes, when compared to the things which Abraham Lincoln had; that we are all of us millionaires in comparison with him, and that we have the opportunity of having hardship and struggle; and may they develop us as they developed him.

Bless these men, all of them. I pray Thee that I may as the Chaplain of this Senate be a friend of every one of them and help every one of them as men. I ask in Thy name. Amen

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. STAUDENMEIER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGES

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO REPEAL THE 18TH AMENDMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Law and Order:

In the House of Representatives, January 30, 1933.

Whereas, More than twelve years of trial have demonstrated the unworkability of National Prohibition thereby confirming the universal experience of mankind that all governmental functions must find their sanction in the popular will and approval and

Whereas, At the November elections the American people by unprecedented pluralities registered an unmistakable protest against the present system of National Prohibition and joined in the demand of the Democratic Party for immediate repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and

Whereas, Further delay in remedial measures can result only in further confusion of political issues hinder economic recovery break down all party responsibility and foster distrust in our representative form of government therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives the Senate concurring that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to heed the clearly expressed mandate of the American people and forthwith to propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States repealing the Eighteenth Amendment thereto the mode of ratification of the same to be by conventions called in the several states and composed of persons elected on no question other than the repeal or retention of the Eighteenth Amendment and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to the President of the Senate of the United States

HOUSE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence bill of the House of Representatives as follows:

House Bill No. 75 (Senate Bill No. 396), entitled:

An Act abolishing constables' returns to the court of quarters sessions in counties of the fourth class.

Which was committed to the Committee on New Counties and County Seats.

JOINT SESSION

Mr. HOMSHER offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives meet in Joint Session Tuesday, February 14, 1933, at 4.30 P. M. in the Hall of the House for the purpose of hearing an address of His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. WILLIAMSON, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 369, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 37), entitled "An act for the compensation by counties of persons detained as material witnesses in criminal prosecutions"; reducing the compensation of detained witnesses.

Also, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported as committed the following Resolution, entitled:

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO PROTECT OUR NATIONAL DEFENSE

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, February 13, 1933.

Whereas, Senate Resolution Serial No. 104, relative to national defense was adopted by the Senate on January 16, 1933, and concurred in by the House of Representatives on the same date, and

Whereas, His Excellency, the Governor, disapproved said resolution under date of January 24th, 1933, by the following message:

January 24, 1933.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Resolution of January 11, 1933.

This resolution memorializes the Congress of the United States to refrain from taking immediate action for the purpose of economy or for any other purpose which will further decrease the strength and effectiveness of the armed forces of the United States and the several states thereof.

It is no more appropriate for the Legislature of Pennsylvania to take action upon questions which are distinctively Federal than it would be for the Congress of the United States to attempt to advise the Legislature of Pennsylvania what measures it should pass and what measures it should reject.

For this reason the resolution is not approved, and

Whereas, The technical position taken by the Governor is difficult to understand in view of the signing by him, during his prior administration of a number of resolutions memorializing Congress and other Federal agencies to do or refrain from doing things entirely under Federal supervision and control; and

Whereas, The Senate resolution is of such nature as has been held by the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth and by prior Attorney Generals, not to require executive approval; and

Whereas, The resolution in question was prepared by, and introduced at the request of, the combined legislative committees of the following organizations:

Grand Army of the Republic,
United Spanish War Veterans,
Disabled American Veterans of the World War,
Veterans of Foreign Wars,
American Legion;

and

Whereas, The said resolution has not been forwarded as directed, because of the unfavorable action of the Governor, to the Congress of the United States and the members from Pennsylvania therein; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Chief Clerk of the Senate is hereby directed to forward to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania therein, a copy, properly attested by the Chief Clerk of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, and without the message of His Excellency, the Governor withholding his approval thereto, of Senate Resolution Serial No. 104, which reads as follows:

Whereas, The present Congress of the United States is considering under the guise of economy, the radical cutting of appropriations for the support of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps of the United States and of the National Guard of the several States; and

Whereas, The Army is at present pitifully insufficient for the defense of our mainland without regard for our insular possessions; and

Whereas, The Navy is far below the standard decided upon as necessary for the safety of the United States and agreed to by the Powers in a far less unsettled time; and

Whereas, The Marine Corps although small has proven for more than a century the most mobile and effective police force in any National or international emergency this Nation has ever had; and

Whereas, Through Federal aid and supervision the National Guard has risen to a point of efficiency heretofore unknown; and

Whereas, No reasoning person can believe in pacific safety in the face of existing facts. Every peace pact, treaty, or league of Nation action has proven and is at present proving futile and useless to turn any Nation from a policy of aggrandisement; and

Whereas, Events within the last twenty years have proven the futility of preserving the neutrality of the United States in the event of a Major conflict; and

Whereas, The existing National and international debts are the result of past unpreparedness, and the existing brawl over the collection thereof, the result of present unpreparedness; and

Whereas, The voice of the United States in the interests of universal peace is respected only in proportion to its existing and active power; and

Whereas, The effects of the present economic chaos on the governments of the world have conclusively proven that only strong, well sustained governments can survive; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives of the 1933 Session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the present Congress of the United States to refrain from taking any action for the purpose of economy or other purpose that will further decrease the strength and effectiveness of the armed forces of the United States and the several States thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania therein.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 which requires concurrent Resolutions reported from Committee to lie on the table one day be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the Resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection, and the Resolution will lie on the table.

RESOLUTION No. 28

Mr. GEORGE E. DOWNEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 28, Printer's No. 70.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1933.

Whereas, There is a movement among certain organizations, of National membership, to reduce or entirely cut off the pensions of those men who served in the Army, Marine Corps and the Navy during the Spanish-American War, the Philippine Insurrection and the China Relief Expedition; and

Whereas, A joint committee was appointed at the first session of the present Congress to investigate the compensation paid veteran soldiers, their widows and minor orphan children of the veterans of the Spanish-American War, Philippine Insurrection and the China Relief Expedition; and

Whereas, The living veterans of these wars have now attained an average age of more than sixty years; and

Whereas, A large percentage of them would become public charges should their pensions be discontinued; and

Whereas, The compensation received by these veterans averages only forty-one dollars ($41) per month; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize Congress of the United States against any reduction of pensions for the veterans of the Spanish-American War, the Philippine Insurrection of the China Relief Expedition, their widows and minor orphan children;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of the United States.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Downey.

Mr. GEORGE E. DOWNEY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Lancaster if he will agree to have this resolution referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, of which he is a member, and we will discuss it there.

RESOLUTION COMMITTED

Mr. GEORGE E. DOWNEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be committed to the Committee on Military Affairs. The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION No. 29

Mr. MALINA. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to call up Resolution No. 29, Printer's No. 71.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1933.

Whereas, This Legislature has been in Session for a period of six weeks and to this time has accomplished nothing; and

Whereas, The sudden drop in temperature throughout the State, the unusual fall of snow, and the prolonged cold spell have added greatly to the suffering and misery of those unfortunates who, through no fault of their own, are without means of support; and

Whereas, Without any outstanding or adequate leadership, the Members find among the countless number of bills presented no semblance of a plan for affording proper relief to the unemployed, and to this time, no plan has been suggested which has any responsible backing or any assurance of enactment; and

Whereas, A conference of Members of the Legislature and the Governor which would be marked by an absence of any idea of political capital for either but with the idea only of promoting the public good, might bring about results which would give us a program and afford those who suffer some ray of hope; and

Whereas, This should be done at once in order to avoid the threatened appearance here of large numbers of organized unemployed to the great danger of the citizens of the Commonwealth and especially those of the City of Harrisburg; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a committee of three, two of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House, and one by the President pro tempore of the Senate, shall concur at once with the Governor for the purpose of discussing the present intolerable condition and endeavoring to agree upon some program of legislation which will guarantee to the people of the Commonwealth adequate relief for the unemployed and afford protection to all its citizens; and be it further

Resolved, That this committee shall report to the Legislature not later than Monday, February 20th, the result of its conference, and accompany its report with such legislations as is proposed for enactment as a result thereof.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Malina.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALINA. Yes.

Mr. TURNER. I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether he is familiar with the fact that a committee to study unemployment relief in this House was appointed a couple weeks ago?

Mr. MALINA. Yes.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he has been in contact with that committee since its appointment.

Mr. MALINA. Mr. Speaker, I have not.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he has made any study or asked any questions of that committee with reference to its study and its work.

Mr. MALINA. Since there was no definite time for reports of that Committee, I have not gone into it.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has not answered my question. I asked him whether he had made any inquiry of that committee, or any study of the work of that committee.

Mr. MALINA. Mr. Speaker I have not.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know that that committee has had several meetings with reference to unemployment relief since its appointment?

Mr. MALINA. Mr. Speaker, I do not.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I would not devote any time, or ask you to give any time to the consideration of this question, except for two things which appear in this resolution. One of them is an old old story. About this time in every session, between the public press and certain members in this House, there starts a contest as to who can throw the most dirt at the House for its delay and its laxity in its work. I sat through the 1931 Special Session and the 1932 Special Session, and kept very still at times when it was pretty hard to do so. I never belong to anything that I am not proud of. I never belong to anything that I don't try to lift it up, not tear it down. It seems to me when members in this House, without adequate information, without the knowledge of what is going on, go out before the public in the State and try to say that this House is doing nothing, that they are tearing down, and that they are a destructive force, and not a constructive force.

Last week in one or two newspapers, there appeared what I consider one of the most pernicious articles that I can remember in the press of this State that article called the attention of the people of this State to the fact that there had been ten bills passed through this House in six weeks time that we have been in session, and that it cost seventy-nine thousand ($79,000) dollars per bill, figuring ten bills as having cost us something like seven hundred and ninety-nine thousand ($799,000) dollars, the amount which the paper said it cost to operate this House during these six weeks. Those are the two facts that appeared. I don't know the cost of conducting the business of this House, or whether it is a fact it cost seven hundred and ninety-nine thousand ($799,000) dollars. In the second place, if there were ten bills passed, those are two facts that are true, but the result, or the conclusion drawn from that is positively unfair and untrue. At a time like this, with the State of Pennsylvania crying for a reduction in the cost of government, to go out over this State and tell the people, or set up a false picture of that kind is not only destructive to the morale of this House and of the people of the State, but is destructive of government itself, and it is striking at the very foundation of government when it strikes at the integrity of this House. I think almost every reporter on this desk is familiar with the fact that during the weeks which this House has been in session there has been some of the most constructive work done that I have seen at any time since I have been in this Legislature.

Perhaps I should not, because of the close relationship between my colleague, who is now the Speaker, and myself, say this, but I will say it, that I don't believe that this House has ever been as ably organized as far as the machinery of its committees, and the functioning of those committees is concerned, as it is at the present time.

On the very first day of this session I introduced a code, an administrative code, as the foundation stone for an economic program. The studies of the Sterling Committee have been going on, the study of the School Code has been going on by members of this House and the Senate in conjunction with the Department of Public Instruction, and the Attorney General's Department, and studies of the Banking Code have been going forward. Those are only a few of the things that occur to me as I stand here at the moment that are being done in this House. The Sub-Committee on State Government has been meeting not alone during the days that you men are away, but starting at 9.30 on Monday morning, has been staying here until Thursday night, and until Friday night, and this week to complete its work it expects to stay over next Sunday in order that that work may be pushed forward. That work is being done for economy, economy in the State government and in order to conserve your time, but you cannot go forward without the facts. You cannot legislate haphazardly.

Is the Legislature, Mr. Speaker, and the quality of this session, to be determined by the number of bills that are passed. Is the size of the Pamphlet Laws at the close of the session to determine the value of the session to the people of Pennsylvania? I am safe to say that the people of Pennsylvania would consider this a great session if the Pamphlet Laws were extremely small at the end of it.

So I condemn, Mr. Speaker, the action of the members in setting forth what I claim to be a false picture, and I also condemn the Chairman of the Democratic Party in the State for a statement which he issued last week, and which may to some extent be responsible for the resolution which has been introduced.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I think that the discussion undoubtedly is on this resolution, and I feel sure that Mr. Turner has injected into this discussion matters which are foreign to that discussion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, will confine his remarks to the resolution.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, for the information of my good friend from York County, I feel that this is germane to the motion before the House, or is going to be, and that motion will be to refer this resolution to the committee.

The resolution contains a reference to the fact that this Legislature has done nothing, and even if it were not exactly pertinent to the resolution, or to the motion that will be before us, the gentleman from York, being a member of this House, should certainly do everything, and welcome anything that tends to defend, although it needs no defense to clearly set forth that which puts this House right before the people of Pennsylvania. If he objects to my reference to the Chairman of the Democratic Party, I will refer no further to him than to say that I object to his statement that the House is doing nothing, because the leaders of the Democratic Party of this House have been members of the sub-committees that are working on these different problems and programs in this House, and I feel that the Chairman of the Democratic Party, like my friend from Philadelphia, lacks knowledge of what is going on, and he first, before criticizing, should consult the leaders of his party in this House and find out what is being done.

MOTION TO COMMIT

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I believe that in view of the fact that we have an Unemployment Committee, and we have a committee to study unemployment relief, that such a program cannot be put forward without careful study and without facts, and that it cannot be done in a day, that it is going to take time, and that this resolution should be referred to the Committee on Unemployment relief, and I so move.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MALINA. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware County, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MALINA. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Delaware County tell this House as to whether he is a member of this Committee that has been formed for the unemployed?

Mr. TURNER. I am not.

Mr. MALINA. Why not?

Mr. TURNER. That is a question you will have to ask the Speaker.

Mr. MALINA. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry to have slighted you, being a new member in this House, and being unfamiliar with parliamentary procedure, I hope you will excuse me.

Mr. Speaker, the conditions in Philadelphia are such that possibly the gentleman from Delaware County may not be acquainted with them. The Nineteenth Legislative District of Philadelphia consists of the Silk Hosiery District and the Cotton District. In that district the mills have been closed for the past three and a half years. We have a condition in Philadelphia where there are as high as thirteen and fifteen people living in four rooms. That is the condition under the present system, and those people are receiving food orders aggregating seven and a half ($7.50) dollars a week. As I understand it, the duties of the Committee on Relief were to report, and as I understand, that Committee has not reported. I understand—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. EDERER. The gentleman is not discussing the motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr.

Mr. EDERER. The gentleman is not discussing the motion. before the House to refer the resolution to the Committee on Unemployment Relief.

Mr. MALINA. Mr. Speaker, I desire just to say for the members of this House that those are just a few of the conditions arising, and that the present administration is not making any move. With this treacherous weather that is coming down on us, it has been my sole purpose to try to get this Committee and the Administration to get together and do something, so that the members of this House will be proud to go back to their constituents and say that we are getting some active work done in the House of Representatives.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I had no desire to enter this discussion, however, I feel that this resolution contains a clause that is clearly an insult—

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion, and not on the resolution. The motion is to refer the resolution to the Committee on Unemployment Relief.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to second the motion—

The SPEAKER. It does not require a second.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his inquiry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this resolution reflects upon the integrity of the House, and its contents involve the question of privilege on the part of the House, and should be stricken from the record, and I rise to inquire by what process this resolution can be stricken from the record.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the parliamentary inquiry is out of order at this time, and quotes from Jefferson's Manual, under 363: "The Governor and executive officers' official acts may be criticized by members, but personal abuse is not permitted." The Chair is further of the opinion that the resolution in its body of content relates to unemployment relief, regardless of its preamble, and therefore, rules that the motion of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, to refer the resolution to the Committee on Unemployment Relief is in order.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Malina.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Malina, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALINA. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia withdraw the resolution at this time?

Mr. MALINA. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw that resolution.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the motion having been made to submit the resolution to the Committee on Unemployment Relief, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Malina, cannot withdraw the resolution because he has called it up and has now had action upon it.

The SPEAKER. The point of order of the gentleman from Delaware is well taken.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, on the question of committing the resolution to the Committee on Unemployment Relief, I think that motion should be voted down, and that the resolution should be defeated. I don't believe that we should refer this resolution to the Committee on Unemployment Relief, I believe we should vote down that motion and then defeat the resolution.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, would a motion to amend the motion of the gentleman from Delaware be in order to drop the resolution from the calendar.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the resolution is not on the calendar, and the orderly procedure to accomplish what the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle, now desires, would be if the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner saw fit, he could withdraw his motion to refer the resolution to the Unemployment Relief Committee.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Sarig.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Sarig, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, yes.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Berks, if I withdraw the motion to send the resolution to the Unemployment Relief Committee, will the gentleman vote "no" on the resolution, when the original resolution is submitted to the House.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, when the original resolution is submitted to the House, I will vote to strike it off the calendar, if that is possible, and if not, will vote "no" on the resolution.

MOTION TO REFER WITHDRAWN

Mr. TURNER. Thank you, Mr. Sarig.

Mr. SPEAKER. Under that circumstance, I withdraw my motion to commit this resolution to the Committee on Unemployment Relief.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, if this resolution would be dropped from the calendar, can the record of the proceedings be expunged from the record.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to reply that the resolution is not on the calendar.

The Chair desires to further state that he is of the opinion that all of the proceedings relating to Resolution No. 29, can be expunged from the record so far as the House is concerned if that is its will. Does that answer the gentleman's question?

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I now ask the members of this House, to vote down this resolution.

Mr. MALINA. Mr. Speaker, since I don't have the power to withdraw that resolution, I now protest against expunging any record.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was not adopted.

MOTION TO EXPUNGE FROM RECORD

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the resolution and the discussion concerning it be expunged from the record.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that several members in this House are very anxious to expunge all reference to unemployment relief and the discussion on it from the record of this House, and to prevent discussion of that question before the House.

I am frank to say that the wording of this particular resolution is very unfortunate, but I think, however, that the time has come to discuss this question openly and frankly on the floor of this House and when members get up and say that the purpose of this session primarily is to economize, to save taxes, and thereby infer that in the matter of keeping people from starving, freezing and suffering is a secondary matter, I must strenuously object there to, and I think we should discuss this question, and I think that the record should not be expunged, and that we should let it go out before the people and let them know where we stand on this most important question.

The most important duty of this House at this time is to provide ways and means to keep the people of Pennsylvania who are unemployed from starving and suffering. We should discuss this question, and we should not have it expunged from the record, or have a motion made to refer to committees and other methods taken, but when at the proper time the question comes before this House let us discuss it so that our constituents know where we stand on it. Let us come out in the open and then we may still get somewhere. Our State Emergency Relief Board has said it will take $125,000,000 a year to keep the people in this State from starving—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. The gentleman is not discussing the motion before the House.

The SPEAKER. The point of order of the gentleman is well taken. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, will confine his remarks to the motion.

Mr. HOOPES. The gentleman rising to a point of order only gives emphasis to the point that I am trying to make that there are those members in this House who are very anxious to avoid a discussion of this question.

I ask of the motion to expunge that you vote against it, that you have the courage to go before the people of Pennsylvania on what has been said on this floor and stand for it.

MOTION TO EXPUNGE WITHDRAWN

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to withdraw the motion to expunge. I simply made it in order to give the gentleman from Berks an opportunity to get in his speech.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, withdraws his motion to expunge from the record Resolution No. 29 and the proceedings relating thereto.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HOOPES. I want at this time to sincerely thank the gentleman from Cambria for giving me the opportunity to make that speech.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF CHANGE IN MEETING OF COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, last night there was an announcement of a meeting of the Educational Committee immediately after this morning's session in Room 521.

It seems there is a conflict in Committee meetings, and at the request of several members of the House I have made that meeting at 1.30 instead of immediately after the session in order that the meeting of the Committee on Banking will not conflict with ours or ours with theirs. The Committee on Education will meet at 1.30 in Room 521.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR SHANNON. Members of the General Assembly, I have great honor in presenting His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, Honorable Gifford Pinchot, who will now address you.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT

GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT: Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

No session of the General Assembly in the memory of living man has faced a more critical situation or a more vital task than now confronts you. Pennsylvania and the Nation must find the answer to two gigantic problems raised by the depression. The first is to care for the unemployed. The second is to achieve for all workers reasonable security against future unemployment and disaster.

The first of these problems is the more pressing and immediate. It must be answered day by day and every day. The second is the more important, for unless we solve it, we are on the brink of a succession of calamities like the present. And a succession of such calamities could lead only to the breakdown of civilization. Later on I hope to address you upon this vital matter.

The solemn truth is that both of these problems must be answered under penalty of losing what humanity has gained in tens of centuries of progress.

Relief Has Right of Way

Unemployment was in full swing in America long before the crash of October, 1929. At that time it is estimated there were already 3,000,000 unemployed. Thirteen months later the problem had become so pressing that even before I took office I appointed a Pennsylvania Committee on Unemployment Relief, which did highly important work although the situation had not yet reached a critical stage. And since that time unemployment relief has had the right of way over every other subject before this Administration.

The First Extra Session

During the Regular Session of the General Assembly in 1931, and afterwards, the unemployment situation was most carefully watched. By June 1st of that year the Department of Labor and Industry estimated the number of totally unemployed in Pennsylvania at 750,000. By November it had increased to 870,000. A special session of the General Assembly became necessary in order to provide relief. And an appropriation of $10,000,000 was finally made.

No provisions, however, were enacted to raise this money. As a result of that failure and the decision of the Supreme Court, funds given to the unemployed had to be taken from hospitals and other charitable institutions. It was simply robbing Peter to pay Paul.

Moreover, these funds were turned over to the Poor Boards. As I predicted, and as we now know, much of the money intended to relieve distress was wasted or spent for political purposes.

The refusal of relief to the needy by Poor Boards because of personal quarrels; the issuance of orders on grocery stores in which members of the Poor Boards were interested; forcing men to sign away their compensation rights, or give up their insurance policies in order to receive relief; forcing applicants to sign bonds for repayment to the Poor Boards of relief funds granted; and cruelty in various forms have been reported.

Instances have come to light of the purchase of whiskey, flowers, and cigars for members of Poor Boards out of money set aside to relieve human distress.

There are unquestionably some good Poor Boards. But it is probable that no other State has a more expensive, unfair, and ineffective system of poor relief than the Pennsylvania Poor Board System.

The Second Extra Session

The number of totally unemployed had reached a million by the end of the first Extra Session. The misuse and exhaustion of the funds it provided and the increasing number of unemployed made necessary a second Extra Session. In a message to it I estimated that $60,000,000 would be required for relief in the year ahead. We are now spending for food alone at the rate of $10,000,000 more than that.

At the second Extra Session the Talbot Act reductions in grants to hospitals and institutions were restored and $12,000,000 was appropriated for unemployment relief, to be raised by a one per cent. sales tax for six months only. This tax expires by limitation on February 28th. It should not be renewed. A sales tax bears most heavily on the poor, and neither that nor any other new tax is required to raise the $20,000,000 I have recommended as Pennsylvania's share of the cost of unemployment relief.

The Number of Unemployed

Following its high point of over 1,250,000 in July, unemployment declined until in October the estimate of the Department of Labor and Industry was 1,100,000. It has, I regret to say, begun again to rise. The estimate for December of totally unemployed is 1,114,000.

In addition to those who have no work at all, there are probably at least 800,000 who are working half time or less. In addition to this again is the increasing number of wage earners in bituminous coal mines and elsewhere who, although working six or even seven days a week, are paid too little to supply food for their families, and must, therefore, either be given relief or starve.

The total number wholly or partially unemployed in Pennsylvania today is at least 2,000,000.

Few of the States have accurate information as to the number of their unemployed. Pennsylvania, however, has not only the monthly estimates of the Department of Labor and Industry, but also two enumerations, through the 60,000 school teachers of the State, of all parents and relatives of children in school customarily employed but out of work.

The first of these enumerations was as of September 29, 1931. It showed that of the normally employed represented by children in school 26.6 per cent. were unemployed. The second, as of January 15, 1932, showed 30.1 per cent. of unemployed. The results of a third will be available toward the end of the present month.

The general situation was worse than these figures show, for families with children in school naturally have less unemployment than the average. Otherwise I know of no figures assembled in any other State which are as reliable as these.

The State Emergency Relief Board

The last extra session created the State Emergency Relief Board, consisting of the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor, the Auditor General, the State Treasurer, and the Speaker of the House. The Board was given authority to allocate State relief funds within the terms of the Act, and to advise concerning the distribution of Federal aid, the authority and responsibility for which rest directly with the Governor.

I desire to express my high appreciation of the co-operative attitude of members of the State Emergency Relief Board in the vital work of relief. There has not been a single adverse vote recorded at any time against any policy, allotment, appointment, or other action taken or order made by the Board. The administration and distribution of Federal funds, for which the Governor is alone responsible, has been made in every case in accordance with the official and unanimous recommendation of the State Board. Not one cent of Federal money has been spent except upon its advice and with its approval.

As Federal funds are received from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation they are at once deposited with the State Treasurer and are by him redeposited in State depositories, where they draw interest at the same rates as the funds of the Commonwealth.

All accounts are audited by the Auditor General in the same manner as State funds, and by him certified to the State Treasurer and paid by the latter also in the same manner as State funds.

I desire to express my high appreciation for the co-operation of the Auditor General and State Treasurer in thus extending to Federal funds the same safeguards under which the moneys of the Commonwealth are expended.

Principles of Relief

I desire also to express my belief that the State Emergency Relief Board has been handling a tremendous task as capably, economically, and efficiently as could be expected with the resources at its command, and under the immense difficulties of a gigantic task without precedent in the history of the State. Information from other States indicates that Pennsylvania compares favorably with the best.

The State Board by unanimous action selected a County Emergency Relief Board in each county, through which it works and upon whose responsibility all expenditures of State and Federal funds take place. Each County Board has full authority to select all persons to be relieved, whether by food orders, through Community Markets, or by work relief on State highways or other relief projects, and is directly responsible for such selection.

The essential principles laid down by the State Board for the guidance of the County Boards are as follows:

1. All who actually need relief should receive it, and no others.
2. Relief must be given solely on the basis of need, without regard to race, creed, or politics, and to the neediest first.
3. Work relief is better than direct relief.
4. Work relief must be staggered to reach the largest possible number

5. Funds must be so expended as to provide the largest possible amount of relief.

Federal Relief Funds

If the unemployed of Pennsylvania were this winter dependent solely upon State or private funds for relief, by far the greater part of them would starve. Under our Constitution the State cannot incur debt beyond a million dollars, and to borrow is possible only through a Constitutional Amendment. But an amendment, if initiated now, could not be voted upon before 1938. Taxation in most lines has already reached a point where the larger the tax the less the return. New forms of taxation are forbidden by the unanimous judgment of our people.

For these reasons Pennsylvania cannot deal with unemployment as certain other States have done. Therefore, it is the Federal funds which have saved the situation.

For a year before the appropriation by Congress of $300,000,000 for distribution to the States through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, I had been insisting upon the absolute necessity for direct Federal aid. After much opposition within the State, and no little abuse, and after a long hard fight in Congress, Federal aid was finally passed. Before the Act was signed I applied for $45,000,000, the maximum available under the law. The situation today proves that I did not ask too much.

There followed a long drawn struggle to secure from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds for Pennsylvania, where help was most sorely needed. These efforts were successful in securing Federal funds which, up to December 31, 1932, amounted to $12,835,538, and by March 1st next will amount to $26,705,446.

Repayment of Federal Funds

Under the Federal Act loans to States for relief must be repaid either in cash or out of future advances of Federal monies for the construction of roads. As between the two Pennsylvania will unquestionably select the latter, since it involves no additional burden on the taxpayer.

It is therefore eminently proper that the road system of this State should benefit from work relief supplied out of Federal funds. Accordingly such funds when available have been allocated for use on roads in proportion to unfinished mileage and in the same percentages to each county as though they were State funds.

So far this plan has worked admirably, and it would be difficult to overstate the value of the relief supplied. In many counties work relief on State roads has saved the situation, and has met with the strongest approval. If conditions grow worse, it may be necessary to change the distribution of work relief as need and not mileage may require.

Work relief on the 53,000 miles of second class township roads which I recommended should be taken over would also be an important factor in carrying many counties through the depression.

The Duty of the State

By April 1st all relief funds provided by the State will be exhausted. So will all funds so far allocated by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. It is of the most vital importance that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should provide additional funds before that time arrives.

The authorities at Washington have steadily and properly taken the position that to receive Federal funds the State must show that it has done its share. Specific recognition of this principle is contained in the new relief bills.

But beyond and above any such considerations, the Commonwealth has a clear and sacred duty to do what it can and all it can to help its own people. It is equally clear that Pennsylvania cannot provide the full amount. If, however, because the Commonwealth had not done its proper share, Washington should refuse further aid, the blame would fall not upon Washington but upon the General Assembly. And it would be the people of Pennsylvania who would pay the bill, not only in starving mothers and children and in frightful human misery, but also in disorder and destruction which would cost our people many times more than the $20,000,000 of relief money for which I ask.

The honor, the welfare, and the safety of the Nation and the Commonwealth demand the continuance of relief. Emergency relief still means life and death to millions, and will for how long no one knows. Unless both State and Federal funds are forthcoming in amounts adequate to feed the hungry throughout 1933, many will die, and the threat of riot, and bloodshed will overspread the Commonwealth.

Every consideration of charity and justice, every instinct of self-preservation must lead the General Assembly to make provisions for the needs of our people. I weigh my words when I say that without adequate relief chaos lies ahead.

$20,000,000 For Relief

I am confident that provision of $20,000,000 of State funds for relief will be recognized by Washington as reasonable at this time. I recommend that the State Emergency Relief Board be authorized to distribute all State funds among the counties on the basis of proven need, but not in fixed amounts per month. This is important since no man can foresee what the situation will demand even in the nearer future. The State Emergency Relief Board should be given reasonable latitude to meet the unforeseen.

The $20,000,000 which I recommend for unemployment relief can be provided without imposing any new form of taxation whatever upon the people of this Commonwealth, without imposing the cost of relief on localities already in serious financial difficulties, and without taking any part of the funds which this Commonwealth, from the beginning of its road program and without exception to date, has set aside for its roads.

The $20,000,000 cannot be provided out of additional economies taken from the Departments responsible to the Governor. They cost less than $20,500,000 in two years, and they have already been cut to the bone—so much so that for comparable functions they have been reduced to the basis of six years ago.

They have been cut so that they cost the people of Pennsylvania but $10,225,000 a year, or one dollar a year apiece. Any further cuts would be at the cost of necessary service to the people.

The largest reduction made by any State from the present Budget to the new Budget—$34,000,000—has been made in Pennsylvania.

The only people who will suffer if the plan I suggest for providing the $20,000,000 is carried out are certain political appointees who are either not doing the work for which they are paid, or are being overpaid for what they are doing, and the politicians whose henchmen they are.

Finding the Money

The $20,000,000 can be found as follows:

Thirteen millions if the Department of Revenue is authorized to assess and collect the personal property tax, the State to retain one-half of any increase over the last five-year average return, the counties to get the other half. This proposal of course involves writing teeth into the law. It is estimated that the new procedure will provide in two years $13,000,000 additional revenue to counties, which can be applied to the relief of the local real property taxpayers, and $13,000,000 additional revenue to be applied to State relief.

Two million three hundred thousand in additional revenue and reduced costs if the Department of Revenue is authorized to appraise and investigate inheritance taxes.

One million seven hundred thousand in new revenue and reduced costs if the Department of Revenue is authorized to appraise and collect mercantile taxes.

Three million dollars in new revenue if a more accurate method be provided of allocating the proportion of capital stock taxable in Pennsylvania of foreign corporations doing business here.

In this way a total of $20,000,000 can be provided for relief with no new forms of taxation, without crippling the Departments, without increasing the burden of the localities, without breaking the implied contract of the State with the users of the highways, who have paid their license fees and gasoline taxes in the firm faith that they would be used as heretofore upon the Highway System of Pennsylvania, and without interference with the great amount of work relief supplied by the Highway Department.

If we once begin cutting into the motor fund there is no telling where we shall stop.

Whatever alleged reasons may be advanced against the soundness and practicability of this plan of providing funds for relief, it is safe to say that the only real objection comes from certain politicians who dare not admit that their true reason is the fear of losing fees and jobs, and who are therefore obliged to hide behind false arguments.

Play Fair With the Taxpayers

It would be utterly unfair to the taxpayers to appropriate money for relief without at the same time providing the money. Such a proceeding, furthermore, would expose the hospitals and other charitable institutions to the same risk of serious reductions in their appropriations which they ran before. There is but one fair thing to do, and that is to provide the funds for relief at the same time the appropriation for relief is made.

Unless that is done, no locality can feel safe against having the cost of relief thrown back upon it as an extra burden that its taxpayers cannot carry. Unless that is done, the road users cannot be sure that their funds will not be taken from them. Unless that is done, taxpayers generally cannot be sure that still more taxes will not be laid upon them at the last minute and under plea of urgent necessity.

I propose to protect local taxpayers, road users, and general taxpayers against any such imposition to the utmost limit of my power. Consequently, I give notice now that if a relief bill reaches me without provision made for providing the money appropriated for relief, I shall be obliged to veto it, even at the cost of calling an Extra Session.

It is far better that the taxpayers of Pennsylvania should be obliged to pay a quarter or even a half a million dollars for an Extra Session than that local taxpayers, road users, or taxpayers generally should have their burden increased to the tune of $20,000,000.

The only thing that stands in the way of providing $20,000,000 of relief without new forms of taxation, without pillaging the motor fund, and without overburdening local taxpayers, is the hunger of certain politicians for the useless jobs and unnecessary fees for which the taxpayers now foot the bill. If the people of Pennsylvania were not patient beyond all reason, these politicians would not dare even to dream of what they are actually planning to put over. I wonder how long that patience will last.

The Growing Cost of Relief

The State Emergency Relief Board began its work on the theory that it could provide food only and that the cost of distributing it should properly be met by the individual counties. Practice proved that it could not be done. The undeniable facts of the situation forced the Board to provide the cost of administering the relief, and then to provide fuel, and shoes, and clothing in increasing amounts, with the certainty, in my opinion, that medicines, and medical supplies must be added.

Nothing is more certain than that the longer unemployment continues, the more completely family savings are used up, shoes and clothing worn out, and other resources exhausted, the more it will cost per family to give relief. And the longer the depression continues the larger the percentage of the unemployed who must have help.

Even if, as we all hope, the clouds lift before spring, still the relief load next winter will be heavier than it is today. Two million unemployed workers cannot be reabsorbed into industry in a week or a month or a year. So far as relief is concerned, we have a long pull ahead.

In 1932 the high point of relief was 250,000 families. In the very beginning of 1933 already there are 450,000. Unquestionably there will be 500,000, and doubtless many more, before the end of the year. Already 2,000,000 people—one-fifth of our population—are on relief. How many there will be next winter Heaven alone knows. Certainly no less than now.

With the help of Federal Funds, we are now spending for relief in various forms at the rate of more than $80,000,000 a year. On the basis of present methods of relief, at least $100,000,000 will be needed before the year is out for food alone, and at least $25,000,000 more for shoes, clothes, and other bare necessities of life. There is no prospect of securing any such sum as $125,000,000.

Community Markets

It is clear, therefore, that we cannot continue giving relief on the relatively costly food order basis, and that we must as a State go to the Community Market Plan, which is far more economical. This is the unanimous conclusion of the State Emergency Relief Board, reached with full knowledge and after long consideration, and it is the unanimous decision of the Board. The fact of the matter is that there is no other way out.

Every dollar spent for relief must be paid out of taxes, local, State, or Federal. If there were no other reason, consideration for the taxpayer would require that every cent of every dollar be made to go just as far as it possibly could.

The Budget of the Commonwealth calls for appropriations in the general fund of $158,000,000 for two years. Thanks to Federal assistance we are already spending for relief at a higher rate than this with still higher rates to follow. If ever there was need for making every relief dollar do the work of two, that need is here and now. That is the unanswerable argument for the Community Market Plan.

But there is another argument scarcely less weighty. Under the present food order plan our people are not being properly fed. It takes far greater knowledge and skill than is usually available to provide a balanced ration for a family of five on $5.00 a week, or less.

The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, in a formal resolution of its Board of Trustees, directed the attention of the State Emergency Relief Board to this question, and said:

The Board of Trustees of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, realizing the recent increase of malnutrition throughout the State and viewing with much concern the natural increase of contagious and deficiency diseases which are bound to follow in its wake, urges upon your Board the adoption of plans whereby all relief food distribution will be based upon scientifically balanced diets.

It authorizes the President of the Society, Dr. Charles Falkowsky, to appoint two of its members experienced in dietetics to advise in the selection of balanced diets for children, adolescents, and adults, not alone to keep those needing relief alive but to keep them in good physical condition, particularly the growing child—and it pledges similar action by its 60 component county societies when called upon.

Upon the irrefutable and convincing pronouncement by the highest medical authority in the State of Pennsylvania the State Emergency Relief Board takes its stand.

I do not say the Community Market Plan is perfect. There is no perfect plan. But the weight of advantage is emphatically with the Community Markets, both as to economy and as to the abundance and the balance of the diet. Food orders are often so cashed as to provide but a fraction of the food values required to keep a family in health. Well managed Community Markets always supply it in plenty and in proper balance.

I recognize freely and gladly the great service local grocers have rendered in carrying the families of the unemployed. I sympathize with their troubles, but it does not appear how funds appropriated for unemployment relief can properly be diverted to insuring business for retail merchants, whether grocers or any others.

The State provides wholesome, balanced, and health giving diets in its hospitals, homes, and other institutions. It is equally bound to supply the best possible food to the unemployed at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayers.

The effects of unemployment threaten to reach far into the future. No single fact is more disquieting than the effect of the depression on the condition of our children. Because of it malnutrition and undernourishment among school children have increased beyond all previous experience. There is nothing before the Commonwealth more important than to safeguard the children.

To this end steps were taken last year to distribute milk to children who were deprived of it, first from private funds, then from funds contributed by the State employes and still being contributed, and finally from money received from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The distribution now exceeds a million quarts a week.

The State is to be congratulated that the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, in cooperation with the State Emergency Relief Board, has come to the rescue of the children. It has not only pointed out the necessity for a balanced ration but is helping to see that the children get it.

There is no movement on foot in the Commonwealth more important to the future than this, for it works toward a new generation healthier, stronger, and abler than the last.

To Sum Up

It is clear beyond question that the State must give relief and give it in time.

It is clear that the State must provide for relief not less than $20,000,000. It can do so without new forms of taxation, without hamstringing the Departments, without new burdens on local taxpayers, without pillaging the Motor License Fund which we hold in trust for those who have provided it, and without breaking down the most important source of work relief in the Commonwealth. This is the sound and practical method. I urge you to adopt it.

Most important of all, it is clear that there is no place for politics in relief. The problem of relief is too vast, the cost of it is too great, and the consequences of failure are too vital to the whole Commonwealth for any factional or partisan considerations. Relief is high above them all, and it should be dealt with on no lower plane.

You are the guardians of the common good. The people have put their hope, their trust, their safety in your hands. They look to you for leadership—for leadership untainted by politics, uncontrolled by special interests, undaunted by difficulties—for leadership steady, wise, and unafraid.

The people look to you for help. Their hope and expectation is that you will rise to the high level of your great and solemn responsibility.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SHANNON. Thank you, Governor Pinchot.

The business for which the Joint Session of the General Assembly was convened having been transacted the Joint Session is adjourned and the Senate will please reassemble in the Senate Chamber.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 15, 1933.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. James H. Boyd) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee this morning for the thought in our hearts and minds concerning God as a Father. We do not comprehend what the infinite Fatherhood of God means for every one of us and for all of the sorrowing and sick and sad in this world this morning. Bless those who are sick and are in sorrow and are in need, and may they all have in their own souls some of the joy and peace which should be there, because back of the sun and moon and stars and everything there is an Infinite Father who loves and cares for us, not en masse, but as individuals. Help us in all of our trials and in all of our worries to depend upon the Infinite Father above us all. We ask it in His Name and for Christ's sake. Amen.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege in connection with the bill which I have just introduced.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Delaware, Mr. McClure, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, the bill which I have introduced is in the form of amendments to the Public Service Company statute, which was passed in 1913, and embraces practically all the subjects covered by the numerous bills that have been introduced during the present Session. This bill greatly extends the powers of the Public Service Commission over Public Service Companies and their contracts and dealings with so-called Holding Companies, and represents a sincere effort to prevent the continuation of the evils disclosed by the hearings before the Rial Committee. The purpose of this legislation is to give to the people of Pennsylvania, a Public Service Company Law, fair to both the public and corporations involved. The various changes advocated by the Public Service Commission in its recent letter to the Rial Committee have been taken into consideration.

If enacted into law, the bill will not only broaden the present powers of the Commission but will extend them into new fields:

(1) It vests the Public Service Commission with broad power to suspend all increases in rates pending investigation into their reasonableness and propriety, and to prevent those which it disapproves.

(2) It requires all public service companies to carry proper and reasonable depreciation accounts.

(3) It vests the Commission with jurisdiction over the issuance of stock and other securities by public service companies.

(4) It vests the Commission with jurisdiction over transactions between holding companies and public service companies, which the testimony before the Rial Committee showed to be of a character susceptible of harming the latter class of corporations and detrimental to the consuming public. The bill also gives the Commission jurisdiction over financial transactions and management and supervisory contracts of various kinds which public service companies may desire to enter into with holding companies.

(5) It vests the Commission with certain jurisdiction over holders of more than a given amount of voting capital stock of public service companies.

(6) It contains provisions regulatory of the business of manufacture, sale or leasing of appliances and equipment by public service companies.

(7) It creates a People's Counsel Bureau in the Department of Justice to represent communities which desire to complain against the rates imposed by and practices followed by public service companies.

(8) It imposes additional penalties on public service companies and their officers and directors for violation of any of the provisions of the law.

Under the present statute, increases in rates go into effect thirty days after filing with the Public Service Commission, while under the proposed bill the Commission has power to suspend all increases until investigated and approved by that body.

At the present time the Commission has no power to control the issuance of stock and other securities by public service companies. The commission is given this control under this bill, with full power to determine both the purpose for which stocks and other securities shall be issued, and also pass upon the propriety of the application of the proceeds derived from their sale.

The Commission may, if it sees fit, under the present statute, require a public service company to carry a depreciation account, and this bill provides that this become a mandatory duty upon all public service companies to carry proper and reasonable depreciation accounts, and the Commission is vested with ample power to enforce this provision.

The testimony before the Rial Committee disclosed transactions between holding companies and public service companies which were detrimental to the public interest, such as the loaning of money by the Service Company to the holding company, and the payment of exorbitant fees and charges under management and supervisory contracts. This proposed bill gives the Commission power to control, and, where it deems such a course necessary, to prohibit such transactions.

In order to remedy conditions as they exist, the bill which I have introduced requires all public service companies to classify in proper accounts the receipts and expenditures of that branch of their business, and it contains provisions which will prevent any expense thus incurred from being considered by the Commission in determining the rates to be charged by a public service company. The methods of the public service companies, at the present time, in carrying on the business of selling appliances has been the subject of a certain amount of criticism, and I trust that this bill will be enacted so as to do away with this, and other weaknesses which now exist in the Public Service Law.

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING APPOINTMENT OF JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE PRODUCTION, PREPARATION, DISTRIBUTION AND MARKETING OF MILK AND TO DRAFT AND REPORT PROPER LEGISLATION DESIGNED TO AID THE DAIRY FARMER IN SECURING A REASONABLE PRICE FOR MILK

Mr. BUCKMAN offered the following resolution, which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Agriculture:

In the Senate, February 15, 1933.

Whereas, Milk is an essential human food and should be available in ample quantity and at reasonable prices to our people; and

Whereas, There appears to be an unreasonable spread between the price paid by milk distributors to producers and the retail price paid by consumers; and

Whereas, The returns to dairy farmers at the present low wholesale prices is slowly forcing this once prosperous class into the class of dependents; and

Whereas, It is essential that producers of milk receive a just share of the retail price of milk which they produce; and

Whereas, The regulations adopted by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and neighboring states with respect to the production of milk are burdensome and expensive; particularly to the small producer; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the President Pro Tempore shall appoint three Senators, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint three Members of the House, who, together shall constitute a joint legislative committee and whose duty it shall be to study and investigate, (a) the production, preparation, distribution and marketing of milk, (b) the wholesale and retail prices of milk, (c) the milk laws and regulations of this and neighboring states, and (d) whether any discriminations are practiced against milk produced in Pennsylvania, and to take the testimony of such witnesses as may be deemed necessary to ascertain the full facts which will enable the committee to draft and report proper legislation designed to aid the dairy farmer in securing a reasonable price for milk produced;

Resolved, That said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, requiring and commanding any person to appear before it and answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the same force and effect as subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to appear and testify for said committee, or to produce any books, papers, records and documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of this Commonwealth in such cases.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 246, as follows:

An Act defining the powers of the courts of quarter sessions the Municipal Court of Philadelphia and the County Court of Allegheny County with respect to the care, guidance, control, trial, placement and commitment of delinquent, dependent and neglected children under sixteen years of age and of persons over sixteen years of age contributing to or encouraging the delinquency, neglect and dependency of children and amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto.

Whereas The welfare of the Commonwealth demands that children should be guarded from association and contact with crime and criminals and the ordinary process of the criminal law does not provide for such care, guidance and control as are essential to children in the formative period of life and

Whereas Experience has shown that children lacking proper parental care or guardianship are led into courses of life which may render them liable to the penalties of the criminal law and that the real interests of such children require that they be not incarcerated in jails and penitentiaries as members of the criminal class but be subjected to wise care guidance and control so that evil tendencies may be checked and better instincts be strengthened and

Whereas To these ends it is important that the powers of the courts with respect to the care, guidance and control over delinquent, neglected and dependent children should be clearly distinguished from those exercised in the ordinary administration of the criminal law therefore

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1933.

Whereas, The people of the United States have become impressed with the thought that the purchase of foreign made wares is not for the best interests of our Country even though they seem to be cheaper than those that are American made, and

Whereas, For the purpose of bringing the importance of this matter to the people generally, there has been started and largely advertised a movement known as the "Buy American" movement, and

Whereas, There are in this Commonwealth numerous departments, bureaus, agencies and institutions which purchase large quantities of manufactured wares, which, if purchased from American manufacturers, would tend to stimulate American business and relieve the existing industrial depression.

Now, Therefore, Be it resolved that it is the opinion of this House of Representatives that all departments, bureaus, agencies and institutions of this Commonwealth or to which money of this Commonwealth is appropriated by the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, should buy only wares and manufactured merchandise that are manufactured by American manufacturers.

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION

JOINT COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE PRODUCTION AND MARKETING OF MILK

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I realize that we have passed the order for the offering of resolutions, but I have one prepared that bears upon an important subject, the subject of milk, that I would like to ask unanimous consent to offer at this time in order that it may be printed and be ready for consideration next Monday evening.

Mr. HAINES obtained unanimous consent to offer the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1933.

Whereas, Milk is an essential human food and should be available in ample quantity and at reasonable prices to our people; and

Whereas, There appears to be an unreasonable spread between the price paid by milk distributors to producers and the retail price paid by consumers; and

Whereas, The returns to dairy farmers at the present low wholesale prices is slowly forcing this once prosperous class into the class of dependents; and

Whereas, It is essential that producers of milk receive a just share of the retail price of milk which they produce; and

Whereas, The regulations adopted by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and neighboring states with respect to the production of milk are burdensome and expensive, particularly to the small producer; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur). That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint three Senators, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint three Members of the House, who, together shall constitute a joint legislative committee and whose duty it shall be to study and investigate, (a) the production, preparation, distribution and marketing of milk, (b) the wholesale and retail prices of milk, (c) the milk laws and regulations of this and neighboring states, and (d) whether any discriminations are practiced against milk produced in Pennsylvania, and to take the testimony of such witnesses as may be deemed necessary to ascertain the full facts which will enable the committee to draft and report proper legislation designed to aid the dairy farmer in securing a reasonable price for milk produced;

Resolved, That said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, requiring and commanding any person to appear before it and answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the same force and effect as subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to appear and testify for said committee, or to produce any books, papers, records and documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of this Commonwealth in such cases.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the Chair will declare a recess for fifteen minutes for the purpose of referring bills. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and at (10.33 A. M.) declares a recess for fifteen minutes.

AFTER RECESS

The House reconvened at 10.48 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Grover C. Talbot) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donahoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee tonight for the sunshine and the light of this day and for the beauty of this night. May we never lose our love or our enthusiasm for the beauty Thou hast spread about us in this world. Help us in the simplicity of little children to express our love for all the things Thou hast created in this world in which we are living, and help us to realize that we are passing through it but once. May it be with us as it was tonight when the beautiful sunset lighted the sky with the clouds and all the colors that God Himself placed there. So may we seek to make our lives and the sunset of our life beautiful and as Thou didst intend our lives to be. Bless us all tonight, and keep us in Thy fear and in Thy love. We ask in Thy Name. VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 19

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 17, 1933.
To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 19, Printer's No. 6, entitled "An act to amend section sixteen of an act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred sixty-eight) entitled 'An act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner two Deputy State Highway Commissioners chief engineer chief draughtsman superintendents of highways and a staff of assistants and employees defining their duties and the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department and fixing salaries of commissioner and deputies and other appointees providing for taking over from the counties or townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county seats principal cities and towns and extending to the State line describing and defining same by route numbers as the State Highways of the Commonwealth providing for the improvement maintenance and repair of said State Highways solely at the expense of the Commonwealth and relieving the several townships or counties from any further obligation and expense to improve or maintain the same and relieving said townships or counties of authority over same requiring boroughs and incorporated towns to maintain certain State Highways wholly and in part requiring the State Highway Commissioner to make maps to be complete records thereof conferring authority on the State Highway Commissioner providing for the payment of damages in taking of property or otherwise in the improvement thereof providing for purchase or acquiring of turnpikes or toll-roads forming all or part of any State Highway and procedure therein providing for work of improvement of State Highways to be done by contract except where the State Highway Commissioner decides the work be done by the State providing aid by the State to counties and townships desiring the same in the improvement of township or county roads defining highways and state-aid highways providing method of application for State aid in the improvement maintenance and repair of township or county roads and prescribing the contents of township county borough or incorporated town petitions providing for percentage of cost of improvement or repairs to be paid by State county township borough or incorporated town and requiring contracts by counties townships boroughs and incorporated towns with Commonwealth governing same providing for the minimum width of State Highways and State-aid highways and kind of materials to be used in the improvement providing for payment of cost of improvement and repairs providing penalty for injuring or destroying State Highways making appropriations to carry out the provisions of the act and providing for the repeal of certain acts relating to Highway Department and improvement of roads and of all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith and providing that existing contracts are not affected by provisions of this act' as amended by providing for the payment by the State of damages for land taken."

The purpose of this bill is to impose upon the Commonwealth instead of the counties the cost of land damages incurred in the improvements of State highways.

Under existing law the Commonwealth pays for the construction of a relocated or widened road, but the liability for land damages is imposed upon the counties. The Department of Highways is not obliged to consult the counties regarding the relocation or widening of the road or the amount of damages which the county will be compelled to pay.

I vetoed a similar bill in 1931 on the ground that the Commonwealth could not afford the added burden which such a change in the law would impose upon the Motor License Fund. And it is true now as it was then that for every dollar spent by the counties for land condemned for State highways the counties receive approximately three dollars from the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund.

However, I am convinced that the complaint of the counties against the present system is justified, at least in part. The counties have a right to be consulted regarding proposed relocations and widenings, and if the State does not consult them, clearly it should pay the full cost, including land damages.

For these reasons I shall, if afforded the opportunity, approve a proper bill requiring the Department of Highways to obtain the approval of the county commissioners for relocations or widenings of State highways, or, failing that, to pay land damages out of the Motor License Fund.

Unfortunately, the present bill is defective in a number of respects.

The title indicates that the only change made by the bill is to shift the burden of paying damages "for land taken" from the counties to the State. It fails to indicate that the bill also imposes upon the Commonwealth payments of abutting property damaged as well as for land taken; and although the bill makes an appropriation from the Motor License Fund, the title fails to give notice of this important feature.

In addition, the bill does not indicate clearly when the contemplated change would become effective. For want of another effective date, the bill itself would automatically become effective on September 1, 1933; but many complications would arise because of the failure specifically to provide that the bill shall not apply in any respect to cases in which roads have been relocated or widened prior to its effective date.

In many of these cases claims of property owners have not been adjusted, and litigation will be necessary. It would be impossible to determine now to what extent this bill would deplete the Motor License Fund if its provisions were to reach back and control the payment of damages heretofore sustained by property owners whose claims have not yet been adjusted with or without litigation.

I repeat that I shall approve a bill properly drawn, which will impose upon the Commonwealth the payment of land damages unless relocations and widenings have been approved in advance by the county commissioners. But the bill must not be retroactive in effect; it must clearly indicate that it applies only to future cases in which State highways are relocated or widened.

For the reasons I have given, the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Which was laid upon the table.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Appropriations:

TRANSMITTING COPY OF RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY NATIONAL AERONAUTIC ASSOCIATION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 17, 1933.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

At the request of the National Aeronautic Association I transmit herewith a copy of resolutions adopted by that body at its eleventh annual convention.

In view of the action of the special session of the Legislature in 1932 in repealing the appropriation for the work of the State Aeronautics Commission and thus rendering the continuance of the work of that body impossible, our law on the subject of aeronautics has been thrown into a state of uncertainty and confusion which requires remedial action on your part.

In considering this subject the resolutions of the National Aeronautic Association may be helpful.

Sincerely yours,

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT THE ELEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE NATIONAL AERONAUTIC ASSOCIATION CONCERNING STATE, COUNTY AND MUNICIPAL AERONAUTIC LEGISLATION

Limitations of Restrictions on Air Carriers

Whereas, The history of the development of industry and the growth of the great transportation systems of the United States prove that the greatest development for the public good was during the period when the economic law of supply and demand was allowed to operate without paternalistic regulation, and

Whereas, The Air Transportation Industry of the United States has shown an unprecedented development and growth during a period of economic distress with the regulation imposed upon it by the Air Commerce Act of 1926, being solely concerned with safety features, and

Whereas, Any additional regulation or regulatory legislation would of necessity be toward restriction of competition or increase in operating costs to the air carrier, and

Whereas, Any such increased cost would of necessity be passed on to the taxpayers or reduce the present and intended scope of air passenger, mail, and express operations, be it

Resolved, By the National Aeronautic Association, in convention assembled, that it does oppose the enactment of any additional legislation by the United States Government or that of the several States which would tend to restrict, regulate terms of employment or supervise air transportation in any manner other than in promoting the increased safety of this great and growing business which is doing so well in making "America First in the Air."

Federal Licenses—Intrastate Flying

Whereas, The great majority of the states of the Union now require Federal licenses for aircraft and airmen engaged in intrastate flying.

Resolved, That the National Aeronautic Association urges similar action on the part of all other states.

Air Traffic Rules Enforcement

Whereas, Certain states of the Union have already taken action charging state and local officials to co-operate in the enforcement of Federal air traffic rules, thereby contributing materially in bringing about the observance of said traffic rules,

Resolved, That the National Aeronautic Association urgently recommends that such procedure be followed by all the states.

Airport Police Power Legislation

Whereas, The establishment of suitable airports and landing fields throughout the United States is a major factor in the development of aeronautics, and

Whereas, It is important that the states enact legislation enabling municipalities, counties or other political sub-divisions, separately or jointly, to acquire by purchase, lease or otherwise, airport sites, and to develop, operate and police airports, therefore be it

Resolved, That the National Aeronautics Association urgently recommends that each state enact such airport enabling legislation, including (1) authority to acquire by purchase, lease or otherwise, separately or jointly, sites within and/or without the corporate limits, (2) extension of the police powers beyond the corporate limits to regulate and police airports, and (3) authority for acquisition by condemnation proceedings where necessary.

Uniform Airway Control

Whereas, A number of states are contemplating the establishment of State airways, with a view to promoting air navigation, and

Whereas, It is of immense importance that all aids to air navigation should be uniform throughout the United States, and

Whereas, Certain individuals have from time to time established beacons and other private aids to air navigation which are not in accordance with the standards established by the Federal Government,

Resolved, That the National Aeronautic Association recommends that all airports, airways and other aids to air navigation that may be established by the states, political subdivisions thereof, or private agencies conform to the standards established by the Department of Commerce.

Intermediate Landing Fields

Whereas, There exists a need for supplementing existing airports and landing fields and providing local airways to connect with national airways established by the Federal Government,

Resolved, That the National Aeronautic Association urge upon state, county and municipal authorities the importance of establishing such intermediate and auxiliary landing fields in accordance with the standards established by the Department of Commerce.

Uniform Airport Field Rules

Resolved, That the National Aeronautic Association recommend that all civil and commercial airports adopt the Uniform Airport Field Rules recommended by the Department of Commerce for use throughout the United States.

Airmarking Cities, etc.

Whereas, There is still a great need for the air marking of cities, towns, villages and highways throughout the United States,

Resolved, That the National Aeronautic Association urge upon Federal, State and municipal authorities the importance of airmarking public buildings, major highways and at least one structure in every village or hamlet, however small, in conformity with the standards of the Department of Commerce.

Training Pilots—Instrument Flying

Resolved, That the National Aeronautic Association again strongly recommends the universal training of pilots in instrument flying, as is the practice in the Army and Navy and as required by the Department of Commerce for all pilots engaged in scheduled interstate air passenger service.

Airport Zoning Law

Whereas, Safe avenues of approach for aircraft landing or taking off from established terminals or intermediate landing fields are absolutely necessary for the continued usefulness of such important aids to air navigation,

Resolved, That the National Aeronautic Association recommend the passage by states and the political subdivisions thereof of adequate legislation for the exercise of the police power in carrying out properly co-ordinated airport zoning laws and ordinances for the protection of the interests of the public in the use of air transportation.

INFORMATION RELATIVE TO EMERGENCY RELIEF BOARD

He also presented communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 20, 1933.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In compliance with the request in the resolution adopted by the Senate on February 13, 1933, I advise you that the State Emergency Relief Board has adopted as a policy the establishment of commissaries in various localities in the Commonwealth.

I am glad to supply you with the following extracts from the minutes of the Board, relating to the establishment of commissaries:

"After a full discussion it was unanimously

"Resolved, That the Board establish a commissary in Dauphin County as an experiment, and that the Governor be authorized to invite Mr. Leavell to come here and assist in setting the commissary up along proper lines, the State to pay Mr. Leavell's expenses." (Meeting of September 29, 1932)

"Upon motion of Mr. Goodnough, seconded by General Shannon, it was

"Resolved, That all existing commissaries be required, as rapidly as possible, to meet the standard already established by the Williamsport Commissary."

"Upon motion of General Martin, seconded by General Shannon, it was agreed that Mr. Eric Biddle be put in charge of the establishment and conduct of all commissaries." (Meeting of November 23, 1932)

"Upon motion of Mr. Goodnough, seconded by General Shannon, it was

"Resolved, That Mr. Biddle is hereby authorized to establish commissaries, or community stores, as rapidly as he is able to do so, at such points as are deemed wise and proper." (Meeting of November 30, 1932)

"The Governor presented to the Board copies of a proposed statement to be given to the newspapers, stating the position of the Board.

"Upon motion of General Shannon, seconded by General Martin, it was "Resolved, That the following statement of the position of this Board on the question of Community Markets be approved and that it be released to the newspapers:

"Proposed statement by the State Emergency Relief Board

Harrisburg, Pa., January 18, 1933.

"The State Emergency Relief Board must feed the hungry, clothe the naked, and provide for certain other indispensable needs of the unemployed and their families. The present and future safety of the Commonwealth requires it. Already hundreds of thousands of children are suffering severely from underfeeding.

"Relief in food alone for January will require approximately $6,000,000. At this rate $70,000,000 a year will be required just to feed the 2,000,000 persons now on relief.

"In 1932 the high point of relief was 250,000 families. In the very beginning of 1933, 400,000 are already on the lists. We expect 500,000 or more before 1933 is over. On this basis at least $100,000,000 will be needed before the year is out for food alone, and at least $25,000,000 more for shoes, clothes, medicine, and other bare necessities of life.

"No assurance has been given by the Legislature of Pennsylvania, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, or the Congress of the United States that such sums will be made available. The State Emergency Relief Board does not know where or how such sums can be secured.

"On the other hand the State Emergency Relief Board does know that under the Community Market System ample, healthful, and palatable food can be supplied for something like half the cost of the present system of food orders.

"The State Emergency Relief Board has approved the Community Market System solely as a measure made necessary by one of the greatest emergencies the Commonwealth has ever had to face. That emergency requires:

"1. Food relief or work relief for every person entitled to receive it.

"2. Shoes, clothes, and other necessities of life when really required, and

"3. To these ends the expenditure of relief funds so as to provide the utmost possible amount of relief.

"The fullest amount of money for which we can hope will be insufficient to meet the need. Under the present store order the money available to the Board, or likely to be available, cannot possibly be stretched to cover the needs of our people.

"But with the Community Market System carefully administered, there will be something left for fuel, clothing, shoes, and medicine.

"The Board is not unmindful that the Community Markets will not contribute to the relief of local retail stores. It recognizes and appreciates the service these stores have rendered in carrying their customers. But this and all other claims must be weighed against the rapidly increasing numbers which must be cared for, the impossibility of securing adequate funds to meet their increasing needs, and the human cry for relief.

"Pennsylvania has met every previous emergency. It must meet this one. The State Emergency Relief Board sees only on way in which it can be met.

"There are already about 25 commissaries in Pennsylvania. A few of them are already operated on lines approved by the State Emergency Relief Board. Many others are not. The purpose of the Board is to perfect the organization of existing commissaries and on the basis of experience thus acquired to extend the system first to localities which are ready to accept it, and then to others as the lack of funds for the more expensive food orders may require." (Meeting of January 18, 1933)

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. BRANDT, from the Committee on Aeronautics, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 54, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved twenty-fifth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 724), entitled "An act to regulate aeronautics; providing for the licensing, registration, rating, control and regulation of aircraft, airmen, airports, landing fields, intermediate landing fields, and air navigation facilities; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the State Aeronautics Commission in respect thereto; providing for the acquisition, maintenance and operation of intermediate landing fields and air navigation facilities by the Commonwealth; providing for the enforcement of the provisions of this act; and imposing penalties," by removing the requirement of State licensure of airmen and aircraft, and regulation of flying schools; requiring Federal licensure for all airmen or aircraft operators in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, except temporarily; and repealing certain sections of said act.

Mr. BUCKMAN, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported as committed, the following Resolution:

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING APPOINTMENT OF JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE PRODUCTION, PREPARATION, DISTRIBUTION AND MARKETING OF MILK AND TO DRAFT AND REPORT PROPER LEGISLATION DESIGNED TO AID THE DAIRY FARMER IN SECURING A REASONABLE PRICE FOR MILK

Mr. BUCKMAN offered the following resolution, which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

In the Senate, February 15, 1933.

Whereas, Milk is an essential human food and should be available in ample quantity and at reasonable prices to our people; and

Whereas, There appears to be an unreasonable spread between the price paid by milk distributors to producers and the retail price paid by consumers; and

Whereas, The returns to dairy farmers at the present low wholesale prices is slowly forcing this once prosperous class into the class of dependents; and

Whereas, It is essential that producers of milk receive a just share of the retail price of milk which they produce; and

Whereas, The regulations adopted by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and neighboring states with respect to the production of milk are burdensome and expensive; particularly to the small producer; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the President Pro Tempore shall appoint three Senators, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint three Members of the House, who, together shall constitute a joint legislative committee and whose duty it shall be to study and investigate, (a) the production, preparation, distribution and marketing of milk, (b) the wholesale and retail prices of milk, (c) the milk laws and regulations of this and neighboring states, and (d) whether any discriminations are practiced against milk produced in Pennsylvania, and to take the testimony of such witnesses as may be deemed necessary to ascertain the full facts which will enable the committee to draft and report proper legislation designed to aid the dairy farmer in securing a reasonable price for milk produced;

Resolved, That said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, requiring and commanding any person to appear before it and answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the same force and effect as subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to appear and testify for said committee, or to produce any books, papers, records and documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of this Commonwealth in such cases.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to suspend Rule 39, which requires resolutions reported from committee to lie on the table one day and that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just reported, in order that the committee may start to function immediately and be enabled to recommend legislation at the present session of the Legislature.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO PROTECT OUR NATIONAL DEFENSE

Mr. PETHICK. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution relative to memorializing our national defense, reported from committee on February 14th and laid on the table.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, February 13, 1933.

Whereas, Senate Resolution Serial No. 104, relative to national defense was adopted by the Senate on January 16, 1933, and concurred in by the House of Representatives on the same date, and

Whereas, His Excellency, the Governor, disapproved said resolution under date of January 24th, 1933, by the following message:

January 24, 1933.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Resolution of January 11, 1933.

This resolution memorializes the Congress of the United States to refrain from taking immediate action for the purpose of economy or for any other purpose which will further decrease the strength and effectiveness of the armed forces of the United States and the several states thereof.

It is no more appropriate for the Legislature of Pennsylvania to take action upon questions which are distinctively Federal than it would be for the Congress of the United States to attempt to advise the Legislature of Pennsylvania what measures it should pass and what measures it should reject.

For this reason the resolution is not approved, and

Whereas, The technical position taken by the Governor is difficult to understand in view of the signing by him, during his prior administration of a number of resolutions memorializing Congress and other Federal agencies to do or refrain from doing things entirely under Federal supervision and control; and

Whereas, The Senate resolution is of such nature as has been held by the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth and by prior Attorney Generals, not to require executive approval; and

Whereas, The resolution in question was prepared by, and introduced at the request of, the combined legislative committees of the following organizations:

Grand Army of the Republic,
Disabled American Veterans of the World War,
Veterans of Foreign Wars,
American Legion;

and

Whereas, It is suggested that the members of such organizations are perhaps best qualified to realize the horrors of war and of the national dangers and suffering attendant upon being, because of unpreparedness, thrust unprepared into war; and

Whereas, The said resolution has not been forwarded as directed, because of the unfavorable action of the Governor, to the Congress of the United States and the members from Pennsylvania therein; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Chief Clerk of the Senate is hereby directed to forward to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania therein, a copy, properly attested by the Chief Clerk of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, and without the message of His Excellency, the Governor withholding his approval thereto, of Senate Resolution Serial No. 104, which reads as follows:

Whereas, The present Congress of the United States is considering under the guise of economy, the radical cutting of appropriations for the support of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps of the United States and of the National Guard of the several States; and

Whereas, The Army is at present pitifully insufficient for the defense of our mainland without regard for our insular possessions; and

Whereas, The Navy is far below the standard decided upon as necessary for the safety of the United States and agreed to by the Powers in a far less unsettled time; and

Whereas, The Marine Corps although small has proven for more than a century the most mobile and effective police force in any National or international emergency this Nation has ever had; and

Whereas, Through Federal aid and supervision the National Guard has risen to a point of efficiency heretofore unknown; and

Whereas, No reasoning person can believe in pacific safety in the face of existing facts. Every peace pact, treaty, or league of Nation action has proven and is at present proving futile and useless to turn any Nation from a policy of aggrandisement; and

Whereas, Events within the last twenty years have proven the futility of preserving the neutrality of the United States in the event of a Major conflict; and

Whereas, The existing National and international debts are the result of past unpreparedness, and the existing brawl over the collection thereof, the result of present unpreparedness; and

Whereas, The voice of the United States in the interests of universal peace is respected only in proportion to its existing and active power; and

Whereas, The effects of the present economic chaos on the governments of the world have conclusively proven that only strong, well sustained governments can survive; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives of the 1933 Session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the present Congress of the United States to refrain from taking any action for the purpose of economy or other purpose that will further decrease the strength and effectiveness of the armed forces of the United States and the several States thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania therein.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, the resolution now before the Senate is a resolution which was passed before the Senate and House rather hurriedly a few weeks ago. It was later vetoed by the Governor, and the following is part of the Governor's veto message:

"It is no more appropriate for the Legislature of Pennsylvania to take action upon questions which are distinctively Federal than it would be for the Congress of the United States to attempt to advise the Legislature of Pennsylvania what measures it should pass and what measures it should reject."

Mr. President, this resolution provides for the memorializing of the Congress of the United States by this Legislature not to reduce any of the appropriations for the armed forces of the nation; and in opposing the adoption of this resolution I do not want it to be understood that I am in any sense a pacifist, notwithstanding that I do come from Quaker stock and am a direct descendant of the Widow Buckman who came over on the good ship Welcome in 1682 and landed in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. I would rather be termed a fighting Quaker than a pacifist, yet I oppose this resolution because I feel it is none of our business to tell Congress what they should do or what they should not do.

I am reminded of a bill that was before the Legislature about fifteen years ago. This resolution now before us is supposed to have the endorsement, or the tag, of the American Legion on it. Whether it does or not, I do not actually know. I have never heard from anyone connected with the Legion in connection with this bill,—although it may have such a tag. But I want to say this: I believe there is somebody else behind this legislation, then, as I say, I am reminded of a bill which was before this Senate fifteen years ago. It was a bill to compel the reading of the Holy Bible in the public schools of this Commonwealth,—which seemed like a very patriotic sort of thing. Every Senator in this Chamber received thousands of letters advocating the passage of the bill, and I voted for it and every other Senator voted for it. It had the endorsement of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, and every other patriotic order. They were all stirred up over it. Apparently there was a great deal of activity on the part of someone; and certain it was that we all voted for it and it became a law. A few days later, or shortly after that, we were surprised to learn that all this money that was spent in advocating the passage of this bill had been spent by the publishers of Bibles.

Likewise, at the present session of the Legislature we have a bill before us known as the Williamson Bill, providing for the taking of thirty thousand dollars out of the road funds to be distributed among the cities, townships and boroughs and I am told that under the provisions of that bill the townships will be given ten million dollars in cash out of the motor fund.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I should like to call to the attention of the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, that he is out of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I am comparing what is back of the Williamson Bill with what may be back of this bill.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I still rise to my point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will confine his remarks to the legislation under discussion.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I will do so by comparing it with the Williamson Bill, if I may with the President's permission.

I am told that every board of supervisors in this State is being urged by the manufacturers of machinery for road work to vote for the Williamson bill.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I should like to have the Chair rule on my point of order. I insist the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, is out of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, the Senator from Huntingdon, Mr. Williamson, does not know what I am about to say.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I call attention to my point of order on what the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, has already said, and I move that it be expunged from the records.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I am wondering who is back of this legislation. I am wondering, if we remove the veneer of the tag of the American Legion, whether we would not find that back of this legislation, which calls for interference by us with the work of the Congress, are the manufacturers of fire arms and ammunition. I am wondering about that, after having given you the experience that we had several years ago with the "Bible Bill," and with what seems to be going on with regard to the Williamson Bill,—I am not going on any further with that. I am wondering if the same thing is not going on with regard to this bill, and I ask the Senators to stand up and vote like men, notwithstanding that they are told it is backed by the American Legion. I do not believe it makes any difference to the American Legion whether this bill is passed or not; and I believe it is a bad move for this Senate to start tonight by telling Congress what to do. I notice there went over the President's desk memorializing the Congress to do, or not to do, something; and I ask the Senators to stand up and vote "no" to this legislation, as I am going to do even if I am the only one that does it.

Mr. PRINCE. Mr. President, I agree with the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, as a general proposition that it is not any of the Pennsylvania Legislature's business what Congress does; but, for my part, I am so thoroughly in sympathy with the purpose of this legislation I shall vote for it no matter who is back of it. If all the manufacturers of fire arms and ammunition in America are back of it, it will make no difference to me, for it is good legislation, and the fact that it is backed by the American Legion and other organizations of a similar nature is, to me, a sufficient certificate of its good character.

I believe our American people need to be advised of the importance of adequate national defense. With what is going on in the East, and the probabilities of an outbreak all over the world, America needs to be prepared for war. We are not a militaristic nation. We are the last nation on earth against which that charge can be made justly. We have never been adequately prepared to take care of ourselves, and have never gone into a war properly prepared. Pacifists may rave and poets may rhapsodize, but until the precepts of the Prince of Peace became the accepted rule of mankind the unprepared will continue to be the prey of the powerful and rapacious; and the nation, in order to live, must be prepared to defend itself.

I am for that resolution, and I hope the Senate will vote almost unanimously in approval of it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BUCKMAN and Mr. WOODWARD, and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it is only from a strong sense of duty that I rise to speak on this bill, or, indeed on any bill, at all. After the experience I had with an election bill, the Chairman of the Election Committee asked me not to speak on any bill for fear I would kill it. It passed, however, with a vote of forty-five to five, and they congratulated me.

In the first place, I would like everybody to understand that Major Adams of the State Police had nothing to do with this bill. It is entirely my own. I do not want to get the Major in wrong with anybody.
